Public Invited To See New Harding High School

HERE'S AN AERIAL view of the new Harding High School, which is open to the public this week. Open house is being held at the school today through Thursday from 2 to 4 p.m. and 7 to 9 p.m. each day. It will be open again for inspection following a dedication program Friday night. On Wednesday the building will be open from 8:30 to 10:30 in the morning to allow afternoon and night workers a chance to see the structure. A special section devoted to the new Marion Harding High School is in today's Star, Pages 23 - 56.

Government Seeks Reinstatement of 4 Lattimore Charges

Appeal Filed On Perjury Case Ruling

Indictments Had Been Cut From 7 to 4 by U.S. District Judge

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government today asked the U. S. Court of Appeals to reinstate four perjury charges against Owen Lattimore which a lower court judge threw out as violating his constitutional rights.

The appeal papers said U. S. District Judge Luther W. Youngdahl "misconstrued the counts so as to create the new and spurious issues of free speech, conformity of ideas, imposition of orthodox views, et cetera."

Judge Youngdahl, a former Republican governor of Minnesota, last May stripped down the indictment against the controversial Far Eastern specialist from seven to three counts.

Unless the judge is overturned by high courts, the government will have to decide whether to bring Lattimore to trial on the remaining three counts or drop the case.

Lattimore, a onetime State Department consultant, was indicted last December. The charges grew out of 12 days of stormy testimony before the Senate internal security subcommittee nearly a year earlier.

Since his indictment, Lattimore has been on leave of absence from Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore, where he has been director of the Walter Hines Page School of International Relations.

Indicted in December

Lattimore testified during an investigation of the Institute of Pacific Affairs, a private research organization. The subcommittee was looking for evidence that IPR had been infiltrated by Communists trying to determine what influence the group had on U. S. Far Eastern policy.

U. S. Dist. Atty. Leo A. Rover headed a batter of six government lawyers in appealing from Judge Youngdahl's ruling.

They devoted most of their arguments to count No. 1, which alleged Lattimore swore falsely when he said he had never been a sympathizer or promoter of communism or Communist interests.

In throwing out this charge, Judge Youngdahl said the First Amendment "protects an individual in the expression of ideas though they are repugnant to the orthodox . . . We should not attempt to require a conformity in thought and beliefs that has no relevancy to a present danger to our security."

The government appeal argued that the first count "cannot include a First Amendment question because the defendant volunteered his statement," and it added: "Privilege, if any, under the First Amendment was thereby waived."

HOME AT LAST! Warrant Officer Dwight Coxe of Fresno, Calif., hugs his wife, Maybelle, on arrival at San Francisco aboard the transport Gen. Nelson M. Walker. Dwight Jr., one of six children, hangs from his father's arm. Coxe was released by the Communists early in the exchange of POW's.

First Shipload Returns

Prisoners Head Home After Arrival in States

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—More than 300 American fighting men today scattered over the United States, en route home from grim Red prison camps and the emotion-packed arrival of the first shipload of repatriated POWs from Korea.

The Navy transport Gen. Nelson M. Walker—first vessel on the freedom run from Inchon, Korea—glided through the Golden Gate yesterday with 328 former captives as a fog bank broke up overhead and Army and Marine bands broke into "California, Here I Come."

As the ship nosed into her pier at Ft. Mason, just across the stream from Alcatraz, a roar rose from 2,400 Marine, Army and Air Force men also aboard.

Huge Welcome Sign

Fireboats spouted streams of water and a huge sign emblazoned: "Welcome home." On the pier a third band joined the chorus and a pretty soprano sang "My Hero."

But on the promenade deck of the Walker—and on the dock below, among the families of more than 60 of the freed captives—it was much quieter.

There were scattered shouts as men who once wondered if they would ever see their loved ones again spotted a wife or child. But more often there were tightly clenched jaws and tears in the eyes which had stared too long at barbed wire and bleak North Korean stockades.

The green hills across San Francisco bay to the north, the sight of gleaming tall buildings as the fog rolled back and even grey Alcatraz out in the bay — was a sight that seemed to bring lumps to everyone's throat.

Families Stand on Pier

On the pier below, many a wife sighted her husband and many a mother her son and started a happy shout — only to find it came out a sob. Some children, bewildered because they didn't quite understand it all, huddled in their mother's arms, their backs to the fathers they had never seen or could barely remember.

Emotions climbed to a peak in the everlasting minutes required to tie up the ship. They broke, finally, when the gangway was raised and the first of a stream of former prisoners ran down to the dock.

First ashore was Pfc. Roosevelt A. Lunn of Baltimore. Lt. Gen. Joseph M. Swing grabbed him by the hand and shook it. San Francisco Mayor Elmer Robinson did the same as Lunn's mother and most of nine brothers and sisters back in Baltimore watched the scene via a nationwide television hookup.

Steady Stream of Men

On Lunn's heels came a steady stream of men pouring down into the huge pier shed. Families hung over white fence barriers and many of the former captives broke into a run for a reserved area where the relatives waited.

It was bathed white with the glare of television and movie lights. Flash bulbs popped and broadcasters dashed to and fro, dragging tangles of cable.

But neither the repatriates nor their families minded.

A mother stepped back and looked at her boy. "He's too thin, he's too thin," she said. But he scoffed and said he never felt better. He never did.

The men whose families couldn't make it hustled by, anxious for reunions of their own.

Finally, a major stepped to a microphone and gently suggested the men and their loved ones move off the pier so they could be checked out on leave and collect accrued pay and travel allowances.

150 American Prisoners on Returnee List

PANMUNJOM (AP)—The Korean prisoner exchange approached the end of its third week today as 150 Americans, most of them captured late in the war, returned from Red captivity.

The Communists said they would return 136 more tomorrow, which would push the total number of freed Americans over the 2,000 mark. The Reds originally said they held 3,313 Americans.

Several repatriates spoke lightly and jokingly of their shorter experiences as captives in contrast to the grim tales told by other POWs who suffered under Red hands for two and three years.

The Reds also returned 300 South Koreans Monday. The U. N. Command released 2,400 North Korean soldiers and 259 North Korean civilians.

"Operation Big Switch" is almost two thirds complete, providing the current rate of exchange is maintained. Monday was the 20th day of the exchange.

Also promised for release Tuesday are 8 Canadians, 3 Australians, 2 Dutch, 1 Greek and 250 South Koreans. The U. N. Command is expected to give back 2,400 North Koreans.

Although the Communists have stepped up their pace of exchange, they still are lagging in returning Americans. Only about 56 per cent of the listed American captives have been released.

The Reds have returned about 65 per cent—8,270—of the 12,763 Allied POWs they said they held.

The U. N. Command has returned 44,629—about 60 per cent—of the 74,000 Red prisoners it held.

The Reds still hold most of the Allied officers and noncommissioned officers they captured and apparently are keeping them until the last.

Judging Begins Today

2-Day Atendance at Fair Listed at 6,740 Persons

By JOHN ROBSON

The 103rd Marion County Fair is now under way in full force. On opening day, Saturday, 2,740 persons paid their way into the grounds. Sunday, the attendance was counted at 4,000 paid admissions. Officials of the fair board expect the number of persons to increase in size with the beginning of the judging today.

Besides the paid admissions, there were also numerous children under 12 who were admitted free, and exhibitors who had purchased week-long passes.

A combination of all the color which is associated with a county fair, plus the largest number of entries in recent years is providing the drawing power at the fair this year.

Baton Twirling Contest

Highlighting the activities Saturday was the National Regional Baton Twirling Contest which drew entrants from many states and Canada. Altogether, 127 youngsters ranging in age from six-years-old up through 18, came to Marion to take part in the show.

The contest lasted until almost 5 p.m. and was immediately followed by a strutting contest, in which 63 contestants tried for the seven trophies presented to the winners.

Winning trophies about three feet high were three children from grade school, junior high school and senior high school.

Ten-year-old Nancy Woodward, daugter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Woodward of Findlay, was judged the grade school regional champion by the three judges, William Hruby of Cleveland Heights, Victor Faber of Florida, O., and Miss Beverly James of Berea.

The junior high school regional champion was 14-year-old Ann Harden, of near McComb, O. She edged out Elaine Nowicki of Detroit, Mich. and Lucyle Neiswander of Adrian, Mich. The winner is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Harden.

Marie Martini of Carpentersville, Ill. won the senior high school trophy. In the final eliminations, she defeated Dorla Linhart of Findlay and Donna Zierk of Dundee, Ill.

In the strutting contest winners were chosen in age groups ranging from six to 17. In several of the sections, the competition was close enough to necessitate a repeat performance before the judges could decide on the winner.

St. Marys Girl First

The first winner was Johanna Reilly, 8, of St. Marys, O., This was the tenth trophy she was won in competetion. Penny Lehmann of Cleveland was the winner in the nine-year-old class.

Becky Ameling of Woodville won in the division consisting of those ten and 11 years old. She had won six trophies before. Ruth Ann Pollack of Detroit, Mich. was presented the trophy in the 12-to-13-years-old class. She has now won 12 trophies and 42 medals for her exhibitions with the baton and strutting.

Marlen Metro of Cleveland and Gail Ponte of Dearborn, Mich. won prizes in the two events for 15 and 16-year-olds. Both are 15. Gail had won 34 trophies and 80 medals before the competition Saturday.

Shirley Heller of Edon was the winner in the competition for those 16 and over. She is 17 and has won 42 medals and 27 trophies.

Trophies for those in the strutting contest were presented by

Mt. Gilead GI Held Captive by Reds Returned

A Mt. Gilead serviceman was among the group of American prisoners of war returned Sunday morning in the Korean armistices POW exchange at Panmunjom.

The soldier is Cpl. Lloyd Vaughn Jr., 23, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Vaughn Sr. of south of Mt. Gilead. He was a member of Company L. 21st Regiment, 24th Infantry Division when he was captured three years ago on July 11, 1950.

Cpl. Vaughn enlisted in the army on Aug. 12, 1948, and left for duty in Japan late in 1948. His division was one of the first to go into Korea after the outbreak of the war. He had enlisted shortly after his graduation from Galion High School, and took his basic infantry training at Camp Breckenridge, Ky.

The soldier has five brothers, one of whom, William Vaughn, is also in the service. His father is a painter.

More Liberal Trade Policies Urged for U.S.

Eisenhower Adviser Says Import Barriers Threaten World Unity

DENVER (AP)—President Eisenhower today made public an administration adviser's report declaring free world unity "will remain precarious and fragile" unless the United States liberalizes its foreign trade policies.

The report to the President by Lewis W. Douglas, former ambassador to Great Britain, says that for 30 years this country has erected import barriers which have operated against "re-establishment of international economic and financial health and equilibrium."

America long ago became the world's greatest creditor and can "no longer pursue the protectionist policies of a debtor nation and hope to escape . . . discrimination against American products in the international markets," the report adds.

Must Act Promptly

"Time is of the essence" in moving toward freer trade, Douglas says in a review of currency and trade relations between the United States and Britain. He urges the administration to make a prompt announcement it is determined to work toward "a progressive vigorous and consistent relaxation of our restrictive foreign trade legislation."

South Korean Set To Oppose Seat for India

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—South Korea's fiery foreign minister, Y. T. Pyun, was reported ready to make a strong declaration opposing India's participation in the Korean peace conference.

Pyun inscribed his name on the speakers' list for the afternoon session of the General Assembly's 60-national Political Committee as that body resumed debate on the composition of the Korean parley.

The South Koreans have made no secret of their opposition to india as a member of the conference, but had taken no post in the debate here. President Syngman, Rhee has been quoted by some diplomats as having threatened to boycott the conference if India is given a seat.

India, meanwhile, pushed a vigorous behind-the-scene campaign for inclusion. The Indian delegation this morning called the 16-nation Asian - Arab group into a huddle to try to line them up into a solid pro-Indian bloc.

At least three members of the bloc—Thailand, the Philippines and Pakistan — were reported uncertain. Another meeting of the group was scheduled for later in the day.

The United States continued to lead the opposition to India.

Signs Pact With Grotewohl

Soviet Makes Sweeping Concessions to Germany

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union has made sweeping concessions in a new pact with East Germany.

The Kremlin agreed to exchange ambassadors with the Soviet occupation zone, end reparations after Jan. 1, cut occupation costs, provide additional economic aid and release some German war prisoners.

A joint communique announcing the pact was issued yesterday at the end of a four-day conference between top Russian leaders, including Premier Georgi Malenkov, and an East German delegation headed by Premier Otto Grotewohl.

Western observers in Germany viewed the agreement as an effort to prop up the wobbly Grotewohl regime. Its prestige has been at a low ebb since the June 17 hunger riots in the East zone.

Stab at Adenauer

These observers also considered the pact an obvious Russian attempt to undermine the pro-Western government of West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, now locked in a life-and-death election campaign against the Socialists in preparation for the Sept. 6 parliamentary elections.

The announcement of the new pact closley followed a personal attack on Adenauer by Malenkov. The Kremlin chief declared in a radio broadcast the West German Chancellor, who has favored German rearmament and close ties with the West, was leading his country down the road to war.

Malenkov's speech and the communique also renewed Soviet demands for a provisional all-German government to prepare for elections and eventual German unity.

Seven Major Points

The communique, signed by both Malenkov and Grotewohl, disclosed seven major points in the new treaty:

1. Diplomatic representation in East Berlin and Moscow will be raised to embassy level.

2. Soviet-run enterprises in East Germany will be returned to the East Germans.

3. Soviet occupation costs will be reduced to a level of not more than 5 per cent of total East German revenues.

4. Russian authorities will take measures to release German war prisoners. Excluded from the pardon will be those "who committed particularly wicked crimes against humanity."

5. East Germany's debts to Russia since the war will be wiped out.

6. Reparations payments to Russia will end after next Jan. 1. The amount still due was listed at $2,537,000,000.

7. Russia will bolster the East German economy with shipments of food, coal, steel and other metals, cotton and other goods worth 590 million rubles (147½ million dollars at the official soviet exchange rate) and will extend credits of 485 million rubles (121¼ million dollars).

Regional Postoffices Planned, Paper Reports

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Washington Post said today the Postoffice Department plans to get up 13 regional offices, the first to be at Cincinnati.

Each office, wrote Columnist Jerry Kluttz, will be headed by a manager who will be in charge of postal operations in his area.

Removed From Plush Quarters

Mossadegh Put in Jail; Had Been Held in Club

TEHRAN, Iran. (AP) — Official sources announced today police have transferred ex-premier Mohammed Mossadegh from the comfortable quarters of the Tehran Officers' Club to a jail cell.

Mossadegh, clad in pajamas, surrendered last week after a bloody coup by supporters of Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlevi took over the government he had refused to relinquish.

The wily and weepy old nationalist leader was interned in the plush officers club to await trial possibly on charges of treason for refusing to obey the shah's order a week ago to hand the premiership over to Gen. Fazollah Zahedi.

Following Mossadegh's initial success in balking the royal order to get out, the shah and his queen flew to a brief exile.

Returns Wednesday

The Iranian ruler returned after Zahedi last Wednesday led the Mossadegh's downfall. It was not disclosed in what jail Mossadegh is held.

Even with Mossadegh a prisoner, the new Zahedi government's troubles were not over.

Smal, scattered pro-Mossadegh uprisings still were reported in outlying sections of the country. And the shah told newsmen at a palace

Police Probe Double Slaying

Elyria Man, Woman Found Dead in Home

CLEVELAND, (AP)— Police and the coroner today studied the pistol deaths of a 39-year-old divorcee and a married man from Elyria to determined whether they were murder and suicide.

The bodies of Mrs. Melba Mellenbrook and Mike Andrachik, 40, were found Saturday night in the locked bathroom of her west side home. Police said Andrachik apparently shot the woman and then himself.

Andrachik, an oiler for the bedford Excavating Co., was the father of three children, ages 10, 14 and 17. His wife, Margaret, is the cook for the Lorain County jail. She said she had filed for a separation.

The bodies were discovered by Mrs. Mellenbrook's brother, Alfred Rock, 42. He said his sister, divorced six months ago, had been dating Andrachik three months.

17-Year-Old Boy Is First Polio Case Reported in Galion

Special to The Star

GALION—Richard Foos, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Foos of Galion is ill with a mild case of polio. He is a patient at University Hospital, Columbus, where he is expected to remain about 10 days.

Employed in a local food store, Richard worked Thursday morning. He complained of stiff neck and back, and a physician diagnosed the case as polio. It was later confirmed when he was admitted to the Columbus hospital. There are two other boys in the family.

This is the only case of polio reported in Galion this season.

SPALDING HEAD DIES

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (AP) — William T. Brown, 57, of West Suffield, Conn, president of A. G. Spalding and Bros., sporting goods concern, died here yesterday.

Coconut Snowballs, Honey Score as Dessert

You don't need to be a Southerner to enjoy this dessert. Honey on ice cream is an old favorite to everyone who has a touch of the gourmet in him. But this recipe dolls the combination up a bit more and makes it fit for party fare.

Coconut snowballs with honey praline sauce could be the answer to a children's birthday party, solve the problem of the after-the-dance refreshment for your teenager's friends or serve as a refreshing dessert to a heavy meal. And there is no rule that says you have to use vanilla ice cream—any flavor will do. Honey combines well with all of them.

COCONUT SNOWBALLS WITH HONEY PRALINE SAUCE

Ingredients: 1 pint vanilla ice cream, ½ cup shredded coconut, cut, plain or toasted, ¼ cup butter, 3 tablespoons honey, 1-3 cup brown sugar, dash of salt, ¾ cup evaporated milk.

Method: For snowballs, scoop ice cream into balls and roll in coconut. Place in freezing tray of automatic refrigerator for about one hour. Makes 3 or 4 servings.

For sauce, melt butter in saucepan. Add honey, brown sugar and salt. Place over low heat and stir constantly until mixture bubbles virgorously. Add milk gradually and bring to a boil. Boil gently 2 minutes. Remove from heat. Serve warm over the coconut snow balls. Makes 1 cup sauce.

More Than 1,000 Arabs Arrested in French Morocco

RABAT, Morocco, Aug. 24 (AP)—Morocco's outlawed Istiqlal Nationalist movement was on the run today, following French arrest of more than 1,000 Arabs suspected of anti-French activity.

The widespread roundup yesterday by French forces sent Istiqlal members underground or fleeing abroad. Jails were jammed.

Strong French police and army units held the troubled North African protectorate in a tight grip following the exiling last week of pro-nationalist Sultan Sidi Mohammed Ben Youssef and his replacement by his pro-French uncle, Moulay Mohammed Ben Arafa. With the former Sultan in Corsica, the Istiqlal constituted the chief threat to the French.

As the cities and countryside rapidly returned to normal, possibility of a widespread revolt was considered remote. But Frenchmen generally said disorders would continue to threaten for some time.

Vice President Turns Errand Boy for Girl

ST. LOUIS (AP)—"How about delivering this note for me?"

A secretary turned telephone operator here asked this question of the man at the next switchboard. Both were on duty because of the strike of CIO communication workers against the Southwestern Bell Telephone Co.

"Sure," replied the man, who was an assistant vice president although the girl didn't know it.

While he was on the errand someone told the secretary.

"Well," she said, "how was I to know that I drew a VIP?" The note was to her boyfriend on the next floor.

1952 Labeled Worst Polio Epidemic Year

NEW YORK (AP)—The National Foundation of Infantile Paralysis says 1952 was the worst epidemic year for the United States but also was the year of greatest promise in the fight against the disease.

The March of Dimes organization, in its annual report released yesterday, said it spent almost 25 million dollars last year for treatment of some 80,000 persons. Many were old cases; others were from among the 57,628 new cases reported in 1952.

Another $6,736,000 went for research and professional education, the foundation said, and almost three million for administrative and other expenditures.

Man Persuaded Not To Jump From 14th Floor Ledge

NEW YORK (AP)—A Navy veteran who spent 13 hours and 17 minutes threatening to jump from a 14th-floor hospital ledge slept through most of yesterday after he was coaxed back to safety.

The Brooklyn Veterans Administration hospital reported yesterday that Sidney Herman, 23, was resting well and responding to treatment.

Herman, in the hospital for treatment of a stomach ulcer and anxiety neuroses, climbed out on the ledge at 1 p.m. Saturday.

He let firemen lead him back into the building after Dr. Harvey Kay, hospital psychiatrist, told him, "I can help you and you know it."

Earlier he had eluded three attempts to take him off the ledge and ignored pleas by clergymen, doctors and his brother. Thousands watched the tense drama.

CLEVELAND CHURCH BURNS

CLEVELAND (AP)—A fire which started in the organ loft burned the Hough Avenue Baptist Church yesterday. The church's congregation of about 1,000 is one of the Baptists' largest here. Although Fire Chief Elmer Cain set the loss at $250,000, church trustees estimated twice that amount.

Record Gain Listed In Membership of AmericanChurches

NEW YORK (AP)—The National Council of Churches says church membership in the United States is growing at the fastest rate in history and stood at a record 92,277,129 at the end of 1952.

The council adds that the 1952 gain was 3,604,124, a 4.1 per cent increase for the year. The annual gain during the previous 10 years was given as 2 per cent. The council said church membership growth was 2½ times as fast as the nation's over-all population growth in 1952.

The figures, gathered from 251 religious bodies of all faiths, are in the 1953 edition of the Yearbook of American Churches. They were released yesterday.

Reporter Finds FBI Agent Locked in Jail

BOISE, Idaho (AP)—"Anything going on today?" a reporter phoning the Ada County sheriff's office asked yesterday.

"I don't know," a voice answered. "I'm an FBI agent trying to get out of this jail."

The agent explained he was questioning a prisoner in one of the cells and had picked up an extension phone. He asked the reporter to call the number again and tell the sheriff he was still locked up.

General Wainwright Marks 70th Birthday

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Gen. Jonathan M. Wainwright (ret), the gaunt hero of Corregidor, celebrated his 70th birthday yesterday, flat on his back in a hospital bed.

Only a few old friends and his son Capt. Jonathan M. Wainwright V, gathered around his hospital bed. Many remembered with messages and flowers the man who doggedly defended the rock of Corregidor in Manila Bay and finally had to surrender to the Japanese on May 6, 1942.

Wainwright spent four years in Japanese prison camps.

He was hospitalized here last July 6 following a reported stroke. His condition was reported improved yesterday though he remained in serious condition.

Charlie Chaplin's 4th Wife Gives Birth to Son

LAUSANNE, Switzerland, (AP) — Charlie Chaplin's fourth wife gave birth to the comedian's fourth son last night.

Both Mrs. Chaplin, playwright Eugene O'Neill's daughter Oona, and the baby were reported doing well. She and Chaplin already have a son and three daughters. Chaplin is the father of two sons by his second wife, onetime actress Lita Grey.

MAN HELD IN SHOOTING

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP) — Edward Butler, 24, of New Miami, was held today in the fatal shooting Saturday of Nathaniel Bell, 19, also of New Miami. Butler told Hamilton police his gun went off accidentally while he and Bell jokingly fought about who was going to buy a beer.

Calvary Church Class Meets in Parish House

A meeting of the Emma Berger Bible Class of Calvary EUB Church was held Thursday night in the church parish house. Mrs. Ellis Epley, president, presided for the meeting and Mrs. Ed Tittlebaugh conducted devotions on the theme, "Promises of the Bible," and offered prayer.

The program, in charge of Mrs. Maggie Ganoe, included a vocal duet by Donna Ellers and Virginia Jones, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Edna Zachman, and a review of the book of Esther by Mrs. Edna Ruth. Refreshments were served by a committee composed of Mrs. Ganoe Mrs. Helen Corbin, Mrs. Harriett Mills, Mrs. Bert Cline, Mrs. Laura Zachman and Mrs. Ed Boylan. Mrs. Burkhart of St. Petersburgh, Fla., was a guest.

CAMELS MUST GIVE MORE PURE PLEASURE TO BE SO FAR AHEAD!

More smokers choose Camels for mildness—rich flavor, too—than any other cigarette in history!

● All these people who give Camels this tremendous vote of confidence are smokers like yourself. They all want a mild smoke and rich, pleasant flavor—men and women, all ages, all walks of life. And they must find Camels' costly tobaccos provide mildness and rich flavor that other brands do not equal. Don't you, too, rate the best—the most—smoking enjoyment?

I CHANGED TO CAMELS BECAUSE IN EVERY WAY THEY SUIT MY TASTE BETTER THAN OTHER CIGARETTES I'VE TRIED. I SUGGEST YOU TRY CAMELS

DEATHS and FUNERALS

Charles Henry Meseke

Charles Henry Meseke, 78, of 240 S. Prospect St. died at 3:45 a.m. Sunday at home. He was ill three weeks.

Born Aug. 19, 1875, in Germany, he was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Christopher Meseke and came to this country with his family at the age of 8. A resident of Marion 40 years, he came here from Lima. He was a foreman at the old Power Mfg. Co. In Toledo, in 1912, he married Clara Jane Oliver.

Surviving are his widow, and children, Mrs. Marilyn Meseke Hume who was Miss America in 1938, Charles Meseke of Columbus, and Mrs. Wilfred Orton of 200 Patten St., step children, Mrs. Lulu Brown of Canton and Mrs. Nell Meseke of Columbus, grandchildren, including Michael Hume, Mrs. Dorothy Chittenden of Toledo Mrs. Margie Cromer of Marion, Mrs. Marilyn Stephens of Marion, and Mrs. Mignon Chambers of Columbus, and a brother, William Meseke of Chicago, Ill.

Funeral services will be conducted Tuesday at 3 p.m. in the Merle H. Hughes Mortuary on Mt. Vernon Ave. Rev. Howard L. Olewiler of First Presbyterian Church will officiate. Burial will be in Chapel Heights Memory Gardens. Friends may call at the funeral home.

James Bronkar

CRESTLINE — James Bronkar, 88, retired Pennsylvania Railroad car inspector, formerly of Crestline, died in the Crawford County Home at 11 a.m. Sunday, where he had lived the past two weeks. Prior to coming to the home he had lived at the Home for the Aged in Sulphur Springs.

He was born in Crestline, Jan. 21, 1865, a son of Mr. and Mrs. James Bronkar Sr. and was the last member of his immediate family.

Friends may call at the Garverick Funeral Home in Crestline until time of services at the funeral home at 2 p.m. Tuesday. The Rev. W. L. Margard will officiate. Burial will be in Greenlawn Cemetery.

Mrs. William Morten

Mrs. Jessie Dell Morten, 77, of 231 Pearl St. died at 1:47 p.m. Sunday in Samaritan Hospital at Ashland. She was visiting a cousin in Ashland, became ill, and was taken to the hospital 12 hours preceding her death.

Born Sept. 22, 1875, in Marion County, she was a daughter of Andrew and Mary Baker Mayfield, natives of Pennsylvania. At Norton, in 1898, she married William H. Morten who died Nov. 28, 1929, in Marion. She was a member of University Methodist Church in Columbus.

Surviving are children, Mrs. Floyd Seaton of the Pearl St. address, and Mrs. Charlotte Williams of Canal Winchester, seven grandchildren, 17 great grandchildren, and a brother, Frank Mayfield of 575 Blake Ave. Two daughters preceded her in death.

Funeral services will be conducted Wednesday at 1:30 p.m. in the Merle H. Hughes Mortuary on Mt. Vernon Ave. Rev. Robert Scully of Columbus will officiate. Burial will be at Waldo. Friends may call at the funeral home after 7:30 tonight.

Mrs. Joseph Leppert

CRESTLINE — Mrs. Catherine Leppert, 73, of Crestline died at 8:30 p.m. Sunday in a hospital at Tiffin. She was ill six months.

Born March 27, 1880, in Crestline, she was a daughter of Peter and Mary Hammer Frye. Oct. 18, 1905, she married Joseph Leppert. She was a member of St. Joseph's Catholic Church in Crestline, of the Catholic Ladies' Benefit Association, of Catholic Ladies' of Columbia, and of the Altar and Rosary Society.

Surviving are her husband, and children, Mrs. Mary Wehinger of Mansfield, Albert Leppert at home, and Bernard Leppert of Crestline, five grandchildren, and a brother, Peter C. Frye of Crestline.

Friends may call at the Garverick Funeral Home in Crestline.

Mrs. Ernest Ashley

CARDINGTON — Mrs. Laura D. Ashley, 78, of South Woodbury, near Cardington, died at 2:40 a.m. Sunday at home. She was ill three years.

Born Sept. 27, 1874, in Licking County, she was a daughter of Isaac and Emma Mason Bailey. Nov. 26, 1890, in Morrow County, she married John Gregory who died in 1908. Sept. 10, 1928, she married Ernest Ashley who died some time ago. She lived most of her life in Morrow County.

Surviving are children, Mrs. Goldie Smith of Mt. Gilead and Clyde Gregory of South Woodbury, five grandchildren, and 10 great-grandchildren. She was last of 11 brothers and sisters, and a son preceded her in death.

Funeral services will be conducted Tuesday at 2 p.m. in the Jacobs Funeral Home at Marengo. Burial will be at South Woodbury.

MONKEYSHINES. Tico, who escaped from his monkey cage in a Louisville, Ky., pet shop, looks over a bowl of fish and baby chicks in display window. Tico ran wild before store owner E. A. Sanders was able to get a porter to the shop, which was closed for the night. A crowd outside watched as Tico made like a bull in a china shop.

Wallpaper Joins List Of 'Do It Yourselfs'

BUFFALO, N. Y. (UP) — The "do it yourself" crowd will be pleased to know that wallpaper has joined the list.

The new "quick wall covering" is an electronically trimmed paper developed for strength. It is coated with a non-staining adhesive. Its face is washable and the manufacturer says no tools except scissors and a paper waterbox are needed to put it up.

A strip is dipped into the waterbox, which is provided, and then smoothed on the wall with a wet sponge or cloth. Trim at the bottom and you've got your new wall covering started.

The manufacturer, the Birge Co. Inc., oldest wallpaper maker in the nation, said supplies will be available in September.

Woman Fire-Watcher Has Lofty Position

GRAFTON CENTER, N. Y. (UP)—Mrs. Helen Ellet holds one of the "loftiest" positions in state service, or almost anywhere else for that matter.

Beginning April 1 and continuing into late fall, Mrs. Ellet staffs a 68-foot-high conservation department fire tower perched on the top of the Grafton Mountains, some 1,850 feet above sea level.

Her responsibilities include sighting and reporting all fires in her area. Asked how her huband felt about her job, she said:

"He's used to it by now, I've been doing it for 11 years."

Bones, 10,000 Years Old, Must Have 'Alovar'

MOGADORE, O. (UP)—For 10,000 years bones of a mastodon lay preserved in a layer of peat near here before they were discovered and removed for modern man's instruction.

Then William Scheele, director of the Cleveland Museum of Natural History, had a problem.

When the near-perfect, prehistoric, elephant-like animal was found everyone was very happy. However, it's necessary to preserve the bones somehow; else they disintegrate.

Scheele wasn't certain where to locate the compound used to encase the bones. Its called "alovar." Scheele said, "and we've had an awful time trying to get the stuff."

Deodorized Pole-Cat Found Only 'Half-Safe'

WICHITA, Kan. (UP) — Even when deodorized, skunks are only "half safe," Mrs. Miriam Fulzenloger knows now.

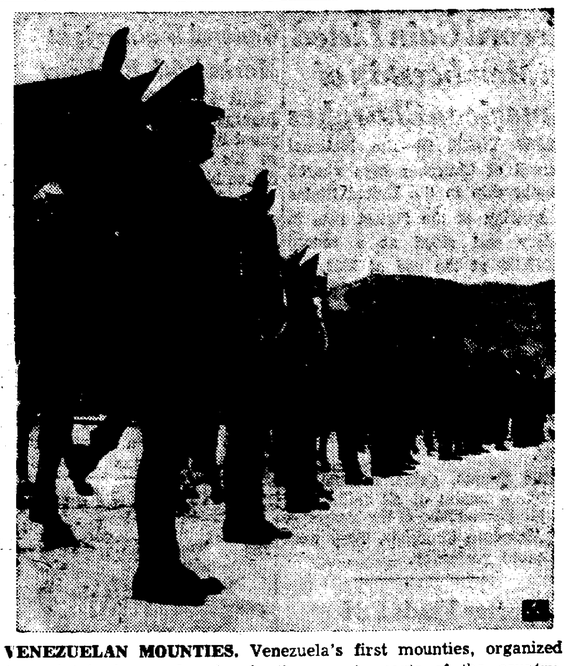
Returning home, she went to the dog kennel to get her pet. Mrs. Fulzenloger opened Pretty's cage and reached out to pet the animal. Pretty responded by biting her left hand. The skunk's mistress required hospital treatment.

Mrs. Fulzenloger said the pet probably was upset at having to live with dogs for nine days.



VENEZUELAN MOUNTIES. Venezuela's first mounties, organized to maintain law and order in the remote parts of the country, line up for general inspection at Caracas base.

Faster Autos Means More Efficient Designs

DETROIT (UP) — Automobiles are being designed for higher and higher speeds these days but the real aim of such design is to provide more efficient performance at moderate speeds says Jack Wolfram, general manager of the Oldsmobile division of General Motors Corp.

Wolfram says motorists are demanding smoother, more economical engine performance in the 30 to 60 mile-an-hour range. To achieve this performance, he says, automobiles must be capable of much greater speeds.

INSECT COLLECTOR RETIRES

ITHACA, N. Y. (UP)—The man instrumental in building up and caring for Cornell's insect collection—the largest university-owned collection in the country—has retired. Prof. William T. M. Forbes, a native of Westborough, Mass., has been on the entomology staff at Cornell for 38 years.

PITCHER STARS

BUFFALO, N. Y. (UP) — It's quite a feat for a pitcher to hurl a four-hit ball game and win it by blasting a 300-foot homer with two men on base. It was even a greater triumph for Tom Finbar of the Cazenovia Twilight League here. He has only one arm.

New York Called Safe City for Vacation Bound

PORTLAND, Me. (UP)—A physician who has made an extensive study of accidents advised members of the Maine Medical Association, "If you want the safest possible vacation take it in August in New York City."

Dr. John H. Powers of Cooperstown, N. Y., explained that New York City has 53 per cent of the Empire State's population but only 40 per cent of the fatal accidents.

Dr. Powers said towns and villages with less than 24 per cent of the New York State population also have 40 per cent of the fatal accidents. Maine's rural fatality rate is similarly high, he said.

The physician said he suggests August for vacationing in New York City because that's the month when rural accidents are most numerous.

Spray Painting Method Uses Water Pressure

CLEVELAND, O. (UP)—A new way of spray-painting has come out of the experiments of a Cleveland firm painting without air.

Billed as a method of spray-painting to eliminate paint waste and health hazard, the new system heats the paint to lower its viscosity, then forces it out through the nozzle with hydraulic pressure.

Developers of the process claim it cuts time and labor involved, cuts paint loss and protects the operator from vapor

LIVE BAIT

SEBAGO, Me. (UP) — Mattie Johnson doesn't see the reason for the fuss over fancy fishing lures. She stuck a toe in Sebago Lake and a bass bit it. She did not land the fish.

WORLD'S ONLY VERTICAL VALVE V8

You can tell in an instant it's a Very great 8

AT idling speed, the engine of this 1953 Buick is deceptively docile.

All you hear is a silken whisper, a kitten purr, a smooth flow of air channeling quietly through metal passageways.

Then—you want to go. You nudge the pedal. You go.

That's when you discover that you're sitting behind an engine of electrifying response.

That's when you begin to know how the power of the first Fireball V8 can handle getaway, cruising, hill-climbing.

That's when you learn what Buick's highest-compression engine in fifty great years can mean in spirited and soul-satisfying road command.

It's an experience too wonderful to miss—the bossing of this brilliant new V8 Engine that powers every 1953 Buick SUPER and ROADMASTER.

So we cordially invite you to come in and try it.

We cordially invite you to hold rein on this truly advanced V8—the world's first V8 with vertical valves, with "T" type intake manifold, with zero-power-loss muffler—and the first standard-production American passenger-car engine to reach 8.5 to 1 compression ratio.

Why not come in for a sampling?

That way you can also try the other Buick gems—like Twin-Turbine Dynaflow*—and the Million Dollar Ride—and the room and visibility and handling ease of the greatest Buicks yet. Can you make it this week?

Everybody's Farm Problem

Farmers know and will admit without argument that it's bad for the farming business when consumers are short of income.

They want to be sure everybody knows about farm income.

During the worst years of the depression, cash receipts from farming in the United States dropped below 5 billion dollars. In 1952, the corresponding figure was nearly 33½ billion. Yet, in 1952 the economists began to view farm income with alarm because it was failing to keep pace with national income.

One year ago, farm receipts began to fall behind in another respect. While they have been going down 12 per cent since last August, farm costs have gone down a little more than 3 per cent.

One of the oddities of this disproportion is the fact that food prices continue to be high, though receipts from the sale of farm commodities keeps falling — another 5 per cent the first six months of this year compared with the first six months of 1952. Thus, a farm family which is selling its commodities for as much as 10 per cent less than it received a year ago may be buying them back in the form of food for a few percentage points more than their cost a year ago.

From 1942 through 1947, farmers retained as net income about 50 per cent of their annual gross income. Last year, they retained about 38 per cent, the smallest percentage ever recorded, exception in the depression years of 1921 and again in 1931, 1932 and 1933.

The farm problem does not belong to farmers but to everybody. It is the problem of distributing income and costs equitably enough to maintain the buying power of the farm families of the United States. If anything happens to their buying power, the producers of industrial goods are in trouble.

Cold Trails

It has been two years since the batch of Communists convicted this week of conspiring to teach and advocate overthrow of the government by force were rounded up by the FBI and brought to justice. Years of preparation preceded their arrest.

Their conviction brings to 46 the total of Communist party leaders disposed of under the Smith Act. The only federal law which can be applied. Though law was passed in 1940, its constitutionality never was affirmed clearly until 1951 — 11 years later.

Even with this legal bulwark established, the only possible way any person charged with violation of the Smith Act can be convicted is after a long trial. Characterized by a tremendous amount of evidence to sustain the ticklish charge of conspiracy to teach and advocate the overthrow of the government.

An American citizen of unimpeachable loyalty can be convicted of first - degree murder with a fraction of the legalism required to put a Communist conspirator behind bars for a few years.

This fulfills the requirements for even-handed American justice. But it does not fulfill any of the requirements for U.S. security.

The fact is that by the time a suspected conspirator finally can be taken out of circulation for a few years, provided he has not jumped his bail and left the country to continue his work elsewhere, he is of no further use to the conspiracy anyway.

He has been discounted by the Kremlin and presumably replaced with another agent. The replacements, if all goes well, should be showing up in the courts about 1965 and, counting time out on bail pending trial and appeals, should end up for a few years behind bars no sooner than 1970.

Provided, that is, that the United States does not find a more logical way to prevent political conspirators from having a free hand inside the country.

Military Opinions

One statement in Gen. Omar N. Bradley's blast against cutbacks in military spending in the current Saturday Evening Post is hard to put out of mind.

The retiring chairman of Joint Chiefs of Staff, highest military planning agency of the United States, says he feels free to say what's on his mind because he no longer is in uniform. That implies he did not feel free while he was wearing a uniform

As Gen. Bradley, himself, points out, his chairmanship of Joint Chiefs of Staff occurred at a time of experiment. Here is a new concept of military planning in the United States, being tried out in a period of stress.

Sharp differences of opinion have occurred, as could have been expected. And Gen. Bradley leaves no room for doubt about the future; sharp differences of opinion will continue to occur. It is of special interest, therefore, that his successor, Admiral Arthur W. Radford, was one of the "Fancy Dan" admirals who incurred Bradley's wrath four years ago for speaking up boldly in the tiff between the Navy and Air Force.

Admiral Radford now presides over the momentous decisions of the top military commanders. It would be a comfort to taxpayers if they could be certain he would be just as outspoken in the next few years as he was when Gen. Bradley castigated him.

The 'Wetback' Problem

By James Marlow

Way Sought To Stop Illegal Entry

WASHINGTON (AP)—By the end of this year about 200,000 Mexicans will have crossed the border legally to work on American farms for six weeks to six months. But probably twice that number or more will have slipped in illegally.

Atty. Gen. Brownell says that in the past year U. S. immigration inspectors nabbed about 389,000 illegal entrants and missed perhaps another 100,000.

He's searching for a way to stop this flow of "wetbacks" which former President Truman's Commission on Migratory Labor said in 1951 was an "invasion."

"Wetback" once meant a Mexican who came in illegally by swimming the Rio Grande. The meaning has been widened now to include any Mexican who enters illegally by swimming, walking across the border, or being carried over by boat or truck.

There are about 750 guards along the 1,600-mile border. Brownell is studying the question of the government's hiring more guards or perhaps suggesting the use of American armed forces as border guards.

After a tour of the border area a week ago he said that among other proposals he heard mentioned was this: passage by Congress of a law to penalize American farmers who hire wetbacks.

An official in the Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Security, said there is a penalty for transporting wetbacks but there have been few prosecutions.

In the same agency it was said that if American farm owners "went legal"—that is, hired no Mexican workers except those brought in with U. S. government approval—the need for "legal" Mexican workers would jump 25 to 50 per cent above the present figure of around 200,000.

The President's commission two years ago recommended that employment of wetbacks be made unlawful. This commission was caustic about the abuse it said some of the wetbacks have to endure:

"Those who capitalize on the legal disability of the wetbacks are numerous and their devices are many and numerous. . . If the wetback makes a deal to be guided or escorted across the Rio Grande or some section of the land border, everything he is able to pay is usually extracted in return for the service which may be no more than being guided around the fence or being given a boat ride across the Rio Grande."

The commission said a wetback who doesn't have the money to pay the smuggler for bringing him in is frequently sold from one "exploiter" to another.

It said the wetback, since he comes in illegally, can't very well complain to American officials about the treatment he gets here, including the pay on a farm, since that would disclose his illegal entry and he'd be shipped back.

Said the commission: "When the work is done, neither the farmer nor the community wants the wetback around. The number of apprehensions and deportations tends to rise very rapidly at the close of the seasonal work period.

"This can be interpreted not alone to mean that the immigration officer suddenly goes about his work with renewed zeal and vigor but rather that at this time of year 'cooperation' in law enforcement by farm employers and townspeople rapidly undergoes considerable improvement."

Under law passed by Congress, this country has an agreement with the Mexican government to bring in workers legally for a period ranging from a minimum of six weeks to a maximum of six months.

A subdivision of the labor security bureau has recruiting stations in Mexico where those looking for the temporary American farm jobs are checked for physical condition, criminal record, if any, and subversive activities.

Farmers who want them have to pay the government $11 per man for their transportation. At the border they are checked again and permitted to come in by the U. S. Immigration Service.

The farmer must guarantee them a minimum wage — the rate prevailing in the area — plus lodging. Under this arrangement, provided for by law, the American government has some control of the number of Mexicans coming in for farm work and where they go. It has no such control over the wetbacks who, given no wage guarantee, can depress wages in any area where they go by working for what they can get.

Giving Thanks

By TRUMAN TWILL

Come what may, I shall remain eternally grateful for such small favors as:

Cold beer on hot days;

The invigorating jolt delivered by speakers and writers who put into words what you have been trying to say without success;

Automobile tires that run for tens of thousands of miles without coming apart the way they used to in the dawn of the auto age;

Motion pictures and plays that hold up mirrors to life and let the living see themselves as they never saw themselves before;

Handling processes and refrigerating devices that make sour milk almost unknown;

A men's clothing industry which provides good-looking suits in all price ranges—an almost fool-proof arrangement for all kinds of men;

A women's hair - dressing industry which provides good-looking coiffures for women at all price ranges;

The refusal of Americans to take anything for granted until they have looked for the hidden gimmick;

The automatic tendency of groups appointed to make reports on matters of widespread importance to reach split decision, thereby proving the members are thinking for themselves;

Distribution of frozen foods, thereby making it possible at any time of the year to have a change from what used to be the unappetizing drabness of winter menus;

Development of ventilating systems and air-conditioning systems to provide reasonable substitutes for the fresh air man was intended to breathe before he huddled in stuffy caves and boxes;

Enlightened selfishness which stimulates 159,999 other Americans to try to give me what I want at a price I can afford to pay and vice versa;

Television entertainment that fills in the interstices of boredom between the evening reading and time to retire;

Roses that are so incredibly beautiful with dew on them in the early morning that they set a daily standard of perfection;

Progressive breaking down of artificial barriers that used to keep people of different nationalities from understanding one another but which now survive only in the squibbles and squabbles of politicians, who will have to go to work if people refuse to fight;

Powdered coffee that makes it feasible to have a quick one and a spare in less time after rising than once was required to find the coffee pot;

An occasional incident of decency far beyond the line of duty which confirms an unquenchable suspicion that human beings are capable of being better than they usually try to be;

Daylight saving which gives millions of workers a chance to enjoy themselves after their daily chores, before darkness settles down.

GOP Fight in Prospect in California

By Raymond Moley

SANTA BARBARA

California's great growth in population and wealth is a twice-told tale. Its growing importance in the national political arena also is becoming known.

It must be added that there is growing maturity and conservatism which will be news to those who remember the vagaries of the past.

The "production for use" and "ham and eggs" movements are only lurid memories. The Townsend movement, I understand, is now located in Cleveland, Ohio.

Despite an overwhelming Democratic registration the state has been going Republican since 1948. While Gov. Warren's Republicism is the subject of much Republican criticism he has won repeated victories.

In 1950, Nixon won the senatorship by a large majority and Knowland won renomination and election in 1952 by the most tremendous majority ever cast for a candidate in the state. Eisenhower carried the state by a substantial 800,000.

The representation of the state in the House of Representatives—now tied at thirty for second place with Pennsylvania — is mostly Republican.

The figures are eighteen Republicans and eleven Democrats with one Republican vacancy.

In the light of the rapid growth of the state it is interesting to note the relative youth of these California members of the House. Half of them are under 45 years.

Most of the younger ones are like Vice-President Nixon, veterans of the second World World War. Eleven are serving their first term.

The importance of the state in Washington is underlined by Nixon's vice - presidency and Knowland's position as majority leader in the Senate.

Despite this pleasant picture Republicanism in the state faces a very serious crisis.

The governorship, the senatorial seat held by Thomas H. Kuchel, Warren's appointee to the Nixon seat, and all the congressional seats must be contested next year. Kuchel is not well known and against a strong Democrat would have a hard fight to win.

Several of the Republican House members were elected by slim margins and without Eisenhower on the ticket will have hard going.

The key to the situation is the future of Gov. Waren. It is not known at the moment whether he will seek a fourth term. But whether he does or not it is the intention of Lt. Gov. Goodwin Knight to seek the governorship in the primary.

Knight's record as a vote-getter is amazing. He is a tireless campaigner and is in deadly earnest in is ambition to be governor.

He also will have the support of powerful Republicans who are convinced that Warren is too far to the left.

How a contest in the primaries between the two would result is not the question that concerns people interested in the success of the Republican party in November. The point is that a Warren-Knight fight would endanger the Kuchel cause and those of all the Republican House members who hold office by slim majorities.

Hence, there is ardent hoping that some way will be found to get Warren out of the race for governor.

The most convenient means would be to have the President give him a federal position suitable to his eminence and his undoubted popularity.

Most frequently mentioned is a seat on the United States Supreme Court. But there is no vacancy and all members seem to be in excellent health.

One Republican, who above all cherishes peace in the party, after glancing over the list of the black robed members of the Court remarked, "I wish that someone would resign or something."

Champion of Sea Serpents

By MARK DANA

As ours is a fascinatingly speculative era, we might drop over and have a chat with Dr. Anton Bruun, secretary-general of the International Congress of Zoology, 500 of whose members have just had an idea-swapping meeting in Copenhagen.

Dr. Bruun is a famous Danish oceanographer, and seriously insists that monster sea serpents and goodness knows what other mammoth creatures live miles down in the oceans. As soon as he gets enough time and money, he is going to troll for them from a steamship using a baited hook. He reminds that a Danish deep sea expedition in 1928-30 caught a six-foot creature which was the larval form of an eel, and if this little fellow had grown it would be bigger than anything described in children's science comic books.

Dr. Claude E. Zo Bell of the Scripps Institution of Oceanography, reporting in November 1952 on his voyage with another Danish deep-sea search, told of wierd creatures pulled from a depth of six and a half miles in the Mindanao Trench near the Philippines, where there is perpetual darkness, freezing temperature, and pressure of 15,000 pounds per square inch. He too believed that common whales and several-ton sharks are but minnows compared to what may be cavorting near the sea bottoms.

Scientists like Dr. Bruun aren't interested in stocking a zoo or providing live sea monsters to validate Scottish loch legends. Basically, they try to add links to the chain of human heredity, tracing men through his environments and associates and natural foes. This sort of searching goes on constantly, including on land.

In 1948, the University of California announced finding bones of a nine-foot giant, the Swartkrans Man, and in 1946 the America Museum of Natural History conjured from a few bones a huge Meganthropus, a man whose species lived 500,000 years ago. If there have been giant men, why not giant eels, fishes, serpents, etc., the savants argue—and occasionally find enough evidence to tease them and keep them digging, seining and believing.

Daily Bible Thought

"Be ye holy for I am holy."—I Pe 1:16. Christ taught his disciples to aim at perfection. Some fell far short, but Peter after touching the depth did really become a saint. We will not hit a mark higher than our aim, so we should aim at perfection.

Marion County is bounded on the north by Wyandot and Crawford Counties, on the east by Morrow County, on the south by Delaware and Union Counties and on the west by Union and Hardin Counties. The northern portion of the county was originally a part of the Sandusky Plains while the remaining portion was heavily wooded in an early day. The city of Marion is located on the edge of the Plains.

Hot Atom Detectives

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP)—The University of Maryland extension service says U. S. Department of Agriculture scientists are "tagging" insects with radioactive materials to chart their life history and travels. The "hot" bugs can be detected with Geiger counters, even when out of sight—for example, under the bark of a tree. Charting insect travels help entomologists in control work, the extension service says.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

It's in the News

Well, "Oklahoma" is at last to be filmed . . . We look for it to appear fairly unrecognizable, featuring the song hits as "The Stupendous Surrey With the Million-dollar Fringe on Top" and "Oh, What a Colossal Morning."

Mike Todd, one of America's most colorful showmen, will cash in again in a big way, as Rodgers & Hammerstein have chosen his Todd-AO three-dimension system.

They tried all the others and announced that in the Todd system they have found a Three-D big enough to create a picture without a frame for outdoors and elastic enough to show a love scene in an intimate and warm way.

Backers of other Three-D systems thrown back of the goal posts by the decision, which uses a single camera and requires no glasses.

Fred Zinneman, who directed "High Noon" and "From Here to Eternity" will direct it and we look for terrific suspense quality even in "People Will Say We're in Love."

Harry Stradlin will be the cinematographer, and where could there be a more appropriate name for a fellow involved in a western

It seems that Hammerstein will not attempt the Hollywood version and that outside writers will make it into movie shape. All we hope is that the Hollywood hand does not rest too heavily on this great musical, but we have our fears . . . We can almost see the advertising . . . "FIFTY SURREYS!" . . . "TWO SCORE WONDERFUL MORNINGS." "HEAR THE CHORUS OF 1,000 INDIANS AND COWBOYS SING 'I CAN'T SAY NO'" . . .

It seems but yesterday that we saw "Oklahoma" having its opening in the Shubert theater in New Haven . . . It was then called "Away We Go," lasted until almost sunrise and bored us stiff . . . Couldn't recognize it as the same show when we saw it in Gotham.

A big New York bank, the Manufacturers' Trust, is to build an all-glass building at Fifth Avenue and Forty-third Street. What a change! For centuries it was believed a bank has to be a somber structure, resembling a combination bastille, fortress, cold - storage plant and museum.

The windows, if any, were few and barred You could see nothing from the outside. And little when you got inside. You could be a depositor all your life and never get a close-up view of a banker. The atmosphere was dreary and forbidding.

A banker took on a pasty mummified look. He always seemed to be imitating the life and habits of a mole.

Money was regarded as something linked with secrecy, dark ceremonials, unsmiling officials and the first severe frost. But for some time past the banks have been having their moods lifted. They are brighter and gayer.

Now comes the fishbowl motif, showing the architectural influence of the A & P store, the Automat lunch and Lever Brothers. Soon you can bank "in Macy's window," as the saying goes. Bank presidents, directors, cashiers, tellers will work in a glamorous showcase. (We think the loan officers will be hidden as a matter of mere prudence.)

The whole operation of a bank will be a production number. We think the banking public will love being conspicuous. There was a time when it wanted a little privacy in banking but today all life has taken on an exhibitionist trend.

We are sure the modern man and woman will like to be seen banking, and perhaps even numbered to indicate whether putting or taking.

Outside the street interviewer with the walkie-talkie may even wait to snare a bank visitor and ask, "Will you tell the people how much you deposited or withdrew and what your emotions were"

There are many banks in the country which have put in music and food. We are holding out for the one that will give us a floor show, dancing and a good dinner.

Public Health Service officers and members of the Bell County Health Unit staff are testing school children in the Fort Hood area for presence of the diseases. The State Health department and Bell County Tuberculosis Association are cooperating. "Three fungae (causing the disease) are soil-born organisms, "Dr Harry Frey explained, "and the huge dust clouds caused by tank maneuvers can reasonably be expected to drift over the area, bearing the diseases."

Mexican oropendulas, members of the blackbird family, select for a nesting place a tree with a wasp nest built around its trunk. With wasps around, marauding monkeys, raccoons and opossums stay clear.

Va., where they attended the second biennial conference of the East Central Region of the B. and P. W. Club.

The conference, attended by approximately 500 members, 147 of whom were from Ohio, was held at The Greenbrier, Aug. 14, 15 and 16. The East Central Region is composed of Indiana, Kentucky, Michigan, Ohio and West Virginia.

Accompanying Miss Luke and Miss Williams were their mother, Mrs. R. D. Luke and Mrs. R. F. Williams.

The next conference will be held at French Lick Springs, Ind.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Kellogg of 598 S. Prospect St. are announcing the marriage of their daughter, Peggy Joan, to Robert Eugene Millington of Richwood, which took place Sunday, Aug. 9. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Millington of Richwood.

Relatives and close friends were present for the ceremony read at 6:45 o'clock in the evening at the home of the bride's parents, with Rev. Earl L. Holliday, pastor of Maranatha Bible Church, officiating.

Miss Loretta Millington, sister of the bridegroom was the bride's attendant and the best man was Arthur Fields of Richwood.

The bride is a cashier at the Self-Serve Market in Richwood and the bridegroom is employed at the Welsh Turkey Farms. They will make their home at 30½ N. Franklin St. in Richwood.

Guests were from Marion, Richwood, Prospect, Port Clinton and Cleveland.

Monna L. Bracey Becomes Bride in Cleveland Church

A gown of ivory Chantilly lace and tulle was worn by Miss Monna Louise Bracy of Cleveland when she became the bride of Frank H. Wilbur of Binghamton, N. Y., Saturday, Aug. 15, in Cleveland.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold E. Bracy of 575 Girard Ave. and Mr. Wilbur's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Conrad C. Wilbur of Mechanicsburg, Pa.

The afternoon ceremony was read at 2:30 p'clock in Christ Chapel, Church of the Covenant, Cleveland, by A. G. Glascoe, minister. White pompons and lighted white tapers were the decorations in the church and the organist was Lawrence E. Stevens, cousin of the bride.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. A scalloped yoke on ivory nylon tulle accented the lace bodice and her waltz-length bouffant skirt of tulle was worn over faille. Her headdress was a coronet of pink pinochio rosebuds and tulle and she carried matching rosebuds and stephanotis in her wedding bouquet. Her jewelry was pearl earrings and a matching pin and she carried a handkerchief belonging to her grandmother, the late Mrs. Harry D. Bracy.

Miss Dorothy Kline of Cleveland, the bride's roommate at Miami University, was bridesmaid. Her gown of aqua silk shantung was fashioned with an off-the-shouler collar and the bouffant skirt was paneled in front. Her bouquet held yellow daises and pom-mums and she wore a headdress of the same flowers.

George M. Randell of Evanston, Ill., brother-in-law of the bridegroom was his best man and guests were seated by Henry J. Schroeder of Cleveland.

The reception was in the music room of the Alcazar Hotel where the table was centered with a four-tiered wedding cake. Assisting were Mrs. Fred Connine of Buffalo, N. Y., a former college roommate of the bride, Mrs. Edward Leech, of Cleveland and the bridegroom's sister, Mrs. George M. Randell of Evanston, Ill.

When the couple left on a wedding trip to Nantucket, the bride was wearing a brown and black cotton tweed suit with a brown blouse matching the lining of her jacket, black accessories and a green cymbidium corsage. They will make their home at 10 Duffy Court, Apt. 62, Binghampton, N. Y.

The bride was graduated from Harding High School in 1945 and Miami University in 1949. She has been employed with the Leech Advertising Co. in Cleveland. The bridegroom is a graduate of the University of Maryland, and is employed with the McIntosh Laboratory, Inc. in Binghamton.

Guests were from Buffalo, N.Y., Evantston, Chicago, Ill., Mechanicsburg, Pa., New York City, Columbus, Norwalk, Ashland, Willoughby, Rocky River and Marion.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth C. Bracy, uncle and aunt of Miss Bracy, were hosts at a cocktail party and buffet supper for 30 guests at their home in Rocky River on Aug. 14. At this time gifts were presented to the wedding attendants.

Personal Mention

Mr. and Mrs. Ira Applegett and Bryan Johnson of 386 Evans Rd. have returned from a two weeks' vacation at Black Lake, Mich. This marks the 25th year the trio has spent their vacation fishing at the Michigan resort. They report catching some very nice pike.

Mr. and Mrs. Newton Favorite of Prospect recently returned from a three weeks vacation through the south and west. During their travels, they visited Mr. aond Mrs. Clarence Bushong in Harlingen, Texas, former residents of Prospect, and Mr. and Mrs. Owen Ingle in Pyatt, Ark., also formerly of Prospect. While in New Orleans, La., they took an all-day sight seeing tour.

Visiting Educators Tour New School

CECIL GABLER, principal of Harding High School shows some of the visiting educators from other parts of the state the modern equipment in use in the kitchen of the new school. A total of 110 officials of other school districts were invited to a luncheon and tour of the building Saturday. In the front row with Gabler are H. C. Kuehne, deputy clerk and treasurer of the state department of education, Fred C. Slager, head of the curriculum and in-service department of the state education department, and D. C. Hatton, superintendent of the Akron school system.

Marriage Unites Miss Nora Boone, Eugene Bowman

A wedding ceremony Aug. 1 at Prospect united in marriage Miss Nora Boone, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert L. Boone of 283 Davids St. in Marion and Eugene Bowman, son of Mrs. Miriam Bowman of near Prospect. Rev. L. L. Young of the Prospect Methodist Church read the ceremony at his parsonage home at 2 p.m. Attending the couple were Miss Virginia Daniels and James Ralston, both of Marion.

For her wedding, the bride chose a tailored white linen suit, and she wore a white linen hat and corsage of yellow roses. Miss Daniels wore a navy blue linen suit with white hat and pink carnations.

Graduated from Harding High School in 1952, the bride was employed until her marriage at Brooks Clothing Store in Marion. The bridegroom attended Pleasant High School and is employed at the Universal Cooler Corp. in Marion. They are making their home at 620 Herman St.

Their gifts to their attendants were a gold plated compact to Miss Daniels and billfold to Mr. Ralston.

On July 29, for the pleasure of the bride-elect, a miscellaneous shower was given at the Bowman home near Prospect with Mrs. Bowman as hostess and friends and relatives of the couple as guests.

MRS. EUGENE BOWMAN

Thurber Seeks Aid in Finding His Eye Doctor

NEW YORK (AP)—Author-cartoonist James Thurber, who is nearly blind, made an urgent appeal today for help in finding his eye doctor—to treat his wife.

She, too, has developed a serious, and sudden, eye ailment.

Thurber said his eye specialist, Dr. Gordon Bruce, is somewhere in Colorado, visiting some small ranches which have no telephones, and intensive efforts to reach him have been in vain.

He expressed hope that news services or radio might be able to get word to the doctor, so he could fly here to treat "my seeing-eye wife who has led me around for years."

Almost completely blind himself since 1941, Thurber, said his wife had become afflicted with a partially detached retina on the left eye and that the trouble had spread to the other eye.

He said he understood Dr. Bruce today was to be at Buckhorn Ranch, near Parshall, a town of about 75 population in Douglas County near Denver, and was to go to Lost Valley Ranch in Sedalia, Colo, tomorrow.

Columbus Returnee Telephones Girl First

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—One of the first things Sgt. James R. Tracy of Columbus, Ohio, did on his return from 23 months in Red captivity was telephone his girl friend. But, with a bashful grin, he refused to tell her name.

"Oh, everybody knows since you've been gone that it's Christina Dimitriatis" of Columbus, spoke up his happy mother, Mrs. Berdice Tracy. She had come from Ohio to meet her son's ship yesterday, the Gen. Nelson M. Walker, which brought 328 former POWs.

The Red Cross said 212 of them telephoned loved ones all over the United States within two hours at Red Cross expense.

AUTO REPORTED STOLEN

Francis M. Peters of near Marion notified the Marion County sheriff's office this morning that his automobile was stolen from in front of his home on N. Main St. sometime between midnight Sunday and 7 a.m. today. Peters described his automobile as a 1950 model.

Former Prisoners Are Paid $728,679

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — After a total of thousands of months behind Communist barbed wire, 328 repatriated POWs lined up at the Army paymaster's window here yesterday and drew $728,679 back pay.

The first shipload of former Korean prisoners had their choice of being paid by government checks or in cash.

They set off for home with $565,000 in checks, $163,679 cash.

RETURNS HOME

Mrs. Lewis Winslow of near LaRue returned Wednesday from San Antonio, Tex., where she visited her daughter, Mrs. Leslie Askey, and new grandson. The baby, named Gregory Robert, was born at the Santa Rosa Hospital in San Antonio July 30, the day Mrs. Winslow started on her trip from the Marion Aiport. Her journey was made with her son, Don Winslow, and his family from Hollydale, Calif., in their private plane.

TO BE AT STATE FAIR

BUCYRUS — Crawford County's Junior Fair queen, Barbara Reinhart, and her two attendants will participate in the Youth Day parade to be held at the Ohio State Fair in Columbus next Friday.

The London Zoological Society's Fish House, opened 100 years ago this year, was the first attempt to keep breathing animals on public exhibition. Although improperly built for its purpose, it sparked wide interest in aquariums. The original Fish House was replaced in 1924.

Union Dispute Holds Up Work At Auto Plant

DETROIT (AP) —A jurisdictional dispute today halted the transfer of equipment from the General Motors burned-out Livonia transmission plant to Kaiser Motors' Willow Run factory.

Two thousand CIO United Automobile Workers placed picket lines around the main gate at the Willow Run plant, halting trucks bringing equipment from nearby Livonia.

Picket line spokesmen said GM was employing members of the AFL Teamsters Union to transfer the equipment. The UAW said this was work which idle Kaiser and GM employes could do under their contracts.

GM has leased a million and a half square feet of Willow Run floor space to resume production of its automatic transmission. The recent 50 million dollar Livonia plant fire put a stop to such work. GM made the transmission for its own as well as rival manufacturers' cars.

AIR HOSE STOLEN

A seven-foot strip of air hose was cut and stolen from the Smith Pure Oil Co. station on W. Fairground St. near Lee St., it was reported to the Marion County sheriff's office. Clarence Smith Jr. told sheriff's deputies the hose was stolen some time between 7 p.m. Saturday and 8 a.m. today.

Returnee Saw Reds Execute American

INCHON, Korea (AP) — An Ohio soldier released from a Communist prison camp said today he saw a Chinese Red firing squad execute an American behind the frontlines.

Pfc. David A. Dawson, 25, of Cleveland, said the execution was in the spring of 1951, shortly after he was captured.

The Communists said the man they executed had taken a weapon away from a Chinese guard and killed him, Dawson related. He said there was no proof of the charge.

2 Men and Woman Arrested at Hotel

A 23-year-old Marion woman and a 31-year old Barberton man were arrested early Sunday morning by Marion police and charged with false registration at the Milner Hotel. A second man, Charles W. Bowman, 31, also of near Barberton was arrested at the same time and charged with disorderly conduct. The trio was to appear in Municipal Court today for hearings on the charges.

Not Possible Now

Atomic Controls Would Require Russian Change

WASHINGTON (AP) — Revolutionary changes in the whole system of Soviet rule would be necessary before the Russian government could join with the United States in any atomic control program acceptable to Washington.

Diplomatic officials agreed today that Russian participation would be impossible without such revolutionary changes.

They also agreed that this is the fundamental reason why prospects for international atomic controls are extremely dim.

Russia's disclosure last week that it had succeeded in setting off a hydrogen explosion—Moscow said a type of H-bomb had been detonated — has brought a new round of demands and proposals for international action to lift the shadow of atomic war from the world's future.

Especially True in U.N.

This has been especially true at the United Nations, where all efforts at arms reduction and atomic controls have been paralyzed for years by East-West disagreement.

On Saturday Chairman Wiley (R-Wis) of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee released a letter from Under Secretary of State Walter Bedell Smith replying to Wiley's inquiry about atomic prospects. Smith said frankly they were dim. He blamed Soviet "intransigeance"—refusal to compromise.

Officials said privately that the reasons for the "intransigeance" Smith cited are to be found in the nature of the Soviet system and the minimum terms upon which the United States and presumably other Western powers would be willing to set up a disarmament and atomic control plan with the Soviet Union.

The essence of the problem, these informants said, is that the rule of the men in the Kremlin is based upon maximum isolation of the Soviet people from the outside world and rigid restriction of the movements of any foreigners permitted in Russia. The idea, as seen here, is to prevent the intrusion of any facts or thoughts contary to the government line.

Closed Corporation

In other words, Russia is a closed corporation behind an Iron Curtain, ruled over by a small group of men for whom secrecy is a shield of power.

On Aug. 18, two days before disclosure of the Soviet hydrogen explosion, the United States circulated to all the nations with which it has diplomatic relations a Senate resolution calling for disarmament and atomic controls. This resolution set forth in summary the program of the Eisenhower administration for cutting back the armaments burden and getting rid of atomic weapons.

Under this program, armies would be limited in such a way that the Soviet Union would not maintain overwhelming manpower under arms as compared with the West. Even more important, however, Russia—along with other participating nations—would have to agree to international control of atomic energy and to the enforcement of all arms limitations and atomic weapons bans by "adequate safeguards, including a practical system of inspection under the United Nations."

$300,000 Willed City of Springfield

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP) — The City of Springfield will get about $300,000 from the estate of a former resident who died in Miami, Fla., it was reported today.

Louis E. Reid, a Springfield native who died Aug. 6, has left an estate estimated at $350,000 to $400,000. All but $60,000, which will go to individuals, is bequeathed to the Springfield City Commission.

Springfield commissioners said they had plenty of suggestions for spending the money but couldn't say just yet what they would do with it.

Fears Some Still in Government

Senate Group Asks Aid In Tracking Down Reds

By EDWIN B. HAAKINSON

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate subcommittee has appealed to present and former government employes for help in learning "the identity of the Communists who are presumably still in government."

The appeal came from the Senate judiciary subcommittee on internal security, which during the past year has been hunting for Communist infiltration of government agencies extending back 20 years. Sen. Jenner (R-Ind) heads the group.

In a 50-page report summarizing what it called "interlocking subversion in government departments," the subcommittee declared last night:

"The Soviet international organization has carried on a successful and important penetration of the United States government, and this penetration has not been fully exposed."

The report said four or more Soviet espionage rings among government employes have been described by ex-Reds and "that only two of these have been exposed."

"There is a mass of evidence and information on the hidden Communist conspiracy in government which is still inaccessible to the Federal Bureau of Investigation and to this subcommittee because persons who know the facts of this conspiracy are not cooperating with the security authorities of the country . . .

"Many government workers who have been loyal to the United States government did learn by their contact with conspirators some details of subversion.

"If these people will come forward, either to the Federal Bureau of Investigation or to the congressional committees, great strides will be made in protecting the security of this country."

The report, signed by all eight members of the subcommittee, said most of the evidence of Communist espionage in the government has come from such persons as Whittaker Chambers, Elizabeth Bentley, Louis Budenz and Nathaniel Weyl. All describe themselves as former Reds who broke with the party.

Scores of those who have been described as Reds have refused to answer questions before congressional investigators by invoking the constitutional privilege against self-incriminating testimony.

It is known, the report said, that many of the latter falsified anti-Communist oaths required of government workers, but most cannot be prosecuted because of a three - year time limit on such prosecutions. The subcommittee recommended removal of this time limit.

It urged that congressional committees be given the right to grant immunity from prosecution to reluctant witnesses who have defied past Communist investigations. Such witnesses then could be forced to testify or prosecuted for contempt.

Students Checked For Typhoid on Return From Tour

NEW YORK (AP)—A touring group of 41 students and others from Miami University, of Oxford, Ohio, arrived from Europe today, and were examined for possible typhoid fever symptoms before debarking. All were cleared.

"I'm satisfied none of the group has typhoid or will get it," said Dr. Henry Friedman, senior surgeon and medical officer of the U. S. Public Health Service here.

"But as a greater precautionary measure, we will notify the health departments of the cities from which they came to watch for possible cases."

The examinations were ordered on the arrival of the liner Italia, after the ship doctor reported one girl in the university group had been hospitalized in England with an illness diagnosed as typhoid. Name of the girl could not be learned.

Friedman said after questioning the 41, he learned all but 12 had previously been inoculated against typhoid, and none of them showed any signs of the disease.

He said the girl apparently contracted the disease in Germany, and that the incubation period, during which any of the others could have caught it from her, had elapsed.

Students From 350 Colleges Open Congress

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Hundreds of college students from 350 colleges and universities throughout the nation were arriving here today for the Sixth National Student Congress of the United States National Student Assn.

The group is an organization of college student bodies, represented through their student governments. Its principal aim is to promote students' interests and welfare.

The delegates, expected to number more than 700, will be on the campus of Ohio State University for a 10-day period, ending Sept. 2. They'll divide their activities into four general programs, student affairs, student government, educational affairs and international affairs.

Running concurently with the congress will be a collegiate editors' conference being staged by the Associated Collegiate Press.

First Book on State's Government Published

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—The University of Dayton has announced publication of the "first full-length book description of government in Ohio."

Short Circuit Said Cause of $150 Fire

A short circuit in the wiring at the residence of William Smith of 232 S. Vine St. was blamed for a fire early today which caused an estimated damage of $150.

Fire Chief Owen A. Sifritt said the blaze evidently broke out in electric wires in a downstairs closet at the rear of the house then spread to the rear porch. The fire was put out by firemen from the Central Station at 12:30 a.m. today.

Only other week-end fire run was to the residence of Mrs. Myrtle Trafzer at 670 E. Mark St. at 8:29 a.m. Sunday morning. Firemen reported the electric motor on a refrigerator burned causing about $25 damage. Firemen from the Central and Mark St. stations answered the call.

Announce New Way To Shrink Painful Piles

Find Healing Substance That Does Both—Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids

New York, N. Y. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to stop bleeding—without surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®)—the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

Now this new healing substance is offered in ointment form for hemorrhoids under the name Preparation H.® The price is only 98¢ a tube including an applicator. The name to ask for is Preparation H—at all drug stores. And remember—if not entirely satisfied—your money will be refunded promptly. *Trade Mark

Woman's Body Found in Creek

Suffered Stroke, Says Coroner; Man Held

STEUBENVILLE, Ohio (AP)—The body of a woman was found face down in Cross Creek yesterday, close to an overturned pickup truck. Coroner John P. Smarella said today an autopsy showed she died of a paralytic stroke.

The victim was tentatively identified as Betty Bush, 42, of Steubenville.

Steubenville police held Floyd Francis, 39, of Rt. 1, Richmond, for questioning by the State Highway Patrol, which was investigating the death.

Man Confesses Slaying, Repudiates Statement

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — New Orleans police hope to decide today whether James Roy Johnson of Floyd County, Ky., killed his wife.

Johnson admitted the Aug. 8, 1950, slaying of his 25-year-old blonde dancer wife to Columbus, Ohio police. Mrs. Bessie Nina Johnson was found strangled in her apartment.

After he was extradited to New Orleans, he said, "I don't believe I'm guilty," and repudiated his statement.

Deputy Sheriff Hurt Slightly In Auto Crash

Robert Lautenslager Treated for Shoulder And Chest Injuries

A Marion County deputy sheriff was taken to City Hospital from a two-car crash in the city Sunday night and five other persons were slightly injured in accidents in the vicinity over the week end.

Robert E. Lautenslager, 30, deputy sheriff of Marion County was injured as his cruiser struck the rear end of a car driven by Carl Weddington, 26, who gave his address as 810 Gebhardt St. The accident happened Sunday evening at 8:18 in front of the Patio Drive-In on E. Center St.

The sheriff's car was damaged in the front end and was towed to the sheriff's office. Lautenslager was taken to City Hospital with injuries to his chest and left shoulder. He was treated and released.

The rear end of Weddington's car was damaged, but he was able to drive it from the scene of the accident.

Lautenslager was on his way to investigate an accident outside the city limits when the mishap happened. Wedington was given a ticket for failing to yield the right of way to an emergency vehicle.

Also injured Sunday was Mrs. Margaret Patton of Galion. She was a passenger in the car driven by her husband, George. The car was struck in the rear by a truck driven by Roy Lee Sauls, 18, of Winfield, Tenn. at the corner of N. Main and Hazen St. at 10:44 a.m.

Patton told police he was stopped when the truck hit their car. Mrs. Patton suffered a bump on the left leg but did not require treatment. The front end of the truck and the rear end of the car were damaged.

The truck is owned by the King Lumber Co. of Marion.

An accident involving a car and a bicycle happened Saturday at 5:48 p.m. at the corner of Silver and Oak St. Harold B. Justice, 19, of 194 E. Mark St. was the rider of the bicycle.

Driver of the car was Donald E. Castrop, 29, of 354 Oak St. The right front fender of his car was damaged in the mishap. The fenders and seat of the bicycle were damaged when the two vehicles collided.

An accident involving a boat trailer and a truck happened Saturday at 7:43 a.m. at the corner of Mt. Vernon Ave. and Bradford St. David C. Winton Jr., 46, of Cleveland was driving a car with the boat trailer attached to it and struck the front fender of a truck driven by Frank J. Bruno, 20, of 538 Vernon Heights Blvd.

According to the police report, Winton pulled in too quickly after passing Bruno's truck and creased the fender of the truck. No damage was reported to the trailer or car.

The car owened by William F. Saunders, 29, who lives at the rear of 541 N. Milburn Ave., was damaged when Saunders ran over a hole in the street in front of 218 Senate St. Saturday at 11:33 p.m.

The front spring of the car was apparently broken by the jolt. Saunders was travelling north when he hit the hole.

A parked car belonging to Leoto Painter of 558 N. State St. was damaged Saturday at 8:09 a.m. by a hit-skip driver. The left rear fender of the car was dented while the car was parked in front of Painter's home.

In the other accident over the weekend, a car driven by William D. Sifritt, 39, of near Marion was damaged when Sifritt tried to make a left turn from Wilson Ave. onto Franconia Ave. Sunday afternoon at 5:48. He hit a telephone pole on the corner and damaged the left side of his car. No damage was reported to the pole.

Injured were: Mrs. Evelyn Falzone, 40, cut over the right eye; Paul Falzone, 5 her son, cuts on the lips and tongue; and John Hollington 44, of Findlay, in the other car, cuts on the head and face. None of the injured were treated at the time.

The two autos were driven by Peter Falzone, 41, of Cleveland, husband of Mrs. Falzone, and Mary Hollington, 42, of Findlay. The Falzone car, headed west on Route 30, was hit broadside by the Hollington car, going south on Route 37. Mrs. Hollington was arrested for failure to yield the right of way and was cited to appear in Municipal Court on Aug. 26.

Two minor one-car accidents were also investigated by the patrol. On State Route 4, one and six-tenths miles south of Bucyrus at 11 p.m., Saturday, a car driven by Richard Fox, 17, of 443 N. Main St., went off the road on the left side and hit a culvert. Fox told the patrol an approaching truck had forced himm off the road. There was considerable damage to the car.

At 1 a.m. Sunday, just north of Route 203 on Route 30-S, a car driven by Thomas Kilgore, 29, of near Marion, swerved off the left side of the roadway and hit a utility pole. Kilgore was not injured. The front of his car was damaged considerably.

Fair

Col. John F. Phelan of the Marion Engineer Depot. The final trophy which the colonel handed out was to Charlene Van Duesen who won a special event for those who had traveled over 200 miles to take part in the contest.

Harness Racing at Night

Saturday evening, the crowd was treated to some exciting harness racing. About 1,000 persons in the grandstand watched the horses run, while many more watched the proceedings from the ground level. It was a prorgram filled with close finishes and all the trimmings which are associated with harness races.

Sunday was a comparatively quiet day on the midway, with the attractions of the day centered around the shows presented by Kleins Attractions. This show featured high wire artists, trapeze stars, jugglers, and other performers who entertained the crowd in the aftenoon and evening.

Rev. Paul Goebel, pastor of the First Evangelical and Reformed Church of Marion led worshippers in a special church service in front of the grandstand in the morning. All activity on the midway ceased during the services.

Today, judging of the livestock entries began at 8:30 and is expected to last well into the afternoon. Clifford Campbell, secretary of the fair board announced yesterday that the largest number of entries in recent years had made it necessary to erect extra tents to handle the animals.

There are 68 beef cattle, 198 dairy cattle, 176 swine, 179 sheep, 210 chickens, 36 ducks, 17 geese, and 19 rabbits entered in this fair. The sheep, swine, and poultry in the senior division will be judged today. Also being judged are the sheep and swine in the junior division.

Cattle Judging Tomorrow

Tomorrow will see the judging of the cattle, and the choosing of the grand champion steer.

Harness racing is scheduled for both tonight and Tuesday night. Starting time for the races is 8:15.

A Sesquicentennial talent show will be presented this afternoon starting at 1:30. Because of the large number of entrants in this event, the choosing of the grand prize winner will not be done until Wednesday. Semi-final competition for the winners of today's contest will be held Tuesday afternoon after the style revue. The finals in the talent show will be on Wednesday afternoon after the Sesquicentennial parade.

Almost 100 persons have entered the competition in this event. Because of the time element, it was necessary to reschedule the program. The original plans had called for all action in the talent show to be conducted today.

Clifford Campbell said today he expects the largest crowd of the fair to be at the grounds on Wednesday when the Sesquicentennial events and junior fair day are held. Final day of the fair is Thursday.

Woman, Son Hurt

A Cleveland woman passenger and her five-year-old son and a passenger in the other car were slightly injured in a two-car crash investigated by state patrolmen from Marion's post over the week end.

Steering Wheel Breaks

One accident was investigated by the Marion County sheriff's office Sunday evening.

Jack Murray, 17, of 639 N. Main St., told sheriff's deputies that the steering wheel of his automobile failed to operate as he was driving south on N. Madison Ave., near the Ohio Sprinkler Co. about 10 p.m. Sunday.

The car went off the road and knocked down a telephone pole. Receiving an injured right knee we Betty Beckel, 18, of 315 Leader St., a passenger in the car.

Act To Relieve Tension Follows Stalin's Death

Romania Initiates Communist Economic Programs

By RICHARD O'REGAN

BUCHAREST, Aug. 22 (AP)—Red Romania now appears to have followed Moscow's lead and initiated a new economic policy to relieve the restless tension of 16 million people kept in near-slavery and hunger for six years.

As in the Soviet Union, Stalin's death seems to have brought the realization that it is impossible to econonic pressures without runcontinue hardships and ruthless ning the risk of a Berlin-like explosion.

Diplomats here say the Romanian people were desperately hungry up to a few weeks ago. They were sullen, despairing and even a little unruly. Consumer goods were few and high priced.

The Communist-sponsored "Fourth World Festival of Youth" this month saw the beginning of an apparent change. The Red government dipped into its reserves (in the apparent hope of a good 1953 harvest) and some food other than the bare rations appeared in the markets.

Recently there has been white bread, more meat, sugar and vegetables, and many, but not all, the lines before stores have disappeared. Shops have more clothes, shoes and consumer items—shoddy, but nevertheless there.

It isn't a situation, however, where the average Romanian worker can buy much more food or clothes. They ar epriced way over his head. He spent all his savings in a currency reform scare, apparently inspired by the government, a few weeks before the goods appeared.

Diplomats here say the appearance of more food and goods has served two Communist propaganda purposes: It may have deceived thousands of Western visitors and it may have given the Romanian a little more to hope for.

The diplomats predict that, to some degree or another, this new policy must continue after all the Westerners have cleared out of Bucharest and it reverts to normal life.

Assistant Foreign Minister Grigore Preoteasa tacitly admitted that work is stymied on several grandiose five-year plan projects. These include a proposed 45-mile canal linking the Danube River and the Black Sea and plans for a Bucharest subway system.

"The material and moral forces of the people should be concentrated on those works which will most rapidly raise their living standards," he said in an interview with Western correspondents.

Western diplomats say the government's overambitious five-year plan for industrialization of a primarily agricultural land played havoc with the food supply, the welfare of the peasants and the living standards of the average industrial worker.

Collectivization of farms has been pressed so ruthlessly that 2,316,000 hectares of a total arable land of 9½ million hectares has been socialized in one form or another.

So much pressure has bee nput on the remaining independent farmers by high taxes and unreasonable production quotas that they often are left without enough food to feed their own families.

The state makes an immense profit on what the farmers do deliver. An old farmer in the village of Dobresti, for instance, revealed the state makes a 600 per cent profit on the milk it buys from him and sells to city consumers.

That is probably one reason why the state keeps armed militia on country roads. Some diplomats go as far as to say that the peasant today is more wretched than ever before in Romanian history.

The diplomats estimate that collectivization has brought such chaos that cereal output of all types in 1953 will be less than seven million tons compared to nine million in 1938.

During this time, Romania's population has increased by more than one million people. This, plus a tragic harvest last year and shipments of unknown quantities to Russia, is why food is so short.

The population growth and the movement of dispossessed peasants to the cities also account for miserable conditions in which thousands of workers live. There has been little housing construction and new apartments are reserved for favored Communist activists.

Until recently, the regime had concentrated all its exports on projects like the Black Sea Canal, a new Bucharest opera, a giant stadium, a huge Communist publishing house, and on plans to increase steel production to 1,252,000 tons by 1955.

Slave labor, made up of political prisoners and members of the former upper and middle classes, was used on many of these projects. More than 10,000 prisoners allegedly died in the work that was completed on the Black Sea canal until it was recently discontinued or slowed up.

Such projects now appear to have been abandoned in favor of alleviating the general misery—at least for a while.

Bizarre Story Told of Horse Betting in Mental Institution

CHICAGO (AP)—The bizarre story of a horse-race betting handbook operated in a mental institution by a physician, an inmate of several years, and the inmate's woman friend was told today by Chief Patrick C. Tuohy of the sheriff's police and Dr. Otto Bettag, state welfare director.

Dr. Bettag said the suicide of a nurse in the Chicago State Hospital Aug. 7 after she had lost heavily on bets placed with the bookie gave authorities their first tangible lead, although he said betting operations were believed to have extended over several years.

Tuohy said Mrs. Dorothy Hughes, 31, told of picking up bets of $30 a day when she called daily on Martin Wanzig, 42, who was last committed to the hospital in September 1952. Tuohy quoted her that she telephoned the bets to an outside bookie and carried winnings back to Wanzig.

When arrested, she had $65 in her possession.

Authorities said Mrs. Hughes told them the betting operations were started by a staff physician, who later enlisted Wanzig because, he said, "The operation is too big for me to handle alone." Mrs. Hughes said she drew a commission on the bets she relayed.

Dr. Bettag announced the physician and three other hospital employes have been dismissed. He declined to identify them.

The investigation began after Mrs. Fredonia Jones, 47, was found hanged in her room in the hospital nurses home. State investigators said she mailed a letter earlier that day to her husband, a laundry operator, indicating she was taking her own life becuse she had lost several thousand dollars betting.

Tuohy said no charge has been filed against Mrs. Hughes, who he said agreed to cooperate in the investigation.

Religious Broadcasts Start at Fairgrounds

Religious radio broadcasts set for 3 p.m. daily from the Marion County fairgrounds were begun today by the Maranatha Bible Church under direction of the pastor, Rev. Earl L. Holliday. The programs are heard over Station WMRN from the tent broadcasting headquarters. Rev. Mark Mitchell, Youngstown evangelist, is the speaker, and selections are given by both local and guest musicians.

Taking part each day are Rev. George Zinn of Monico, Wis., tenor, Miss Joan Eimerman of Milwaukee, soloist of the Moody Bible Institute Chorale of Chicago, Ill., Robert Stanger, Moody accordionist, Miss Patty Holliday of Marion, pianist, and Miss Barbara Newsome of Marion who gives the theme song. Also scheduled as features of the broadcasts are trumpet and trombone, and two trumpet duets.

The Maranatha Church is conducting tent services each night at Garfield Park with Rev. Mitchell as the preacher. He replaces Rev. Charles Gray of Denison, O., who has left for an engagement in Pennsylvania. Attendance of 400 at the Sunday night tent service was reported. Rev. and Mrs. Gray have been invited to return next year for the Maranatha Church's summer activities, Rev. Holilday said.

the line of personnel desks, where all the necessary papers were issued, signed, stamped and checked.

By noon most of the men with families were finished. The Army offered a special luncheon to the repatriates and their relatives at the fort officer club—steak, salad, potatoes, vegetables, tea, fruit, pie, ice cream — double helpings if desired, but only about half accepted the invitation. The rest already had gone.

By nightfall all but a handful had been assigned travel accommodations by routes and means of their own choosing to Army personnel centers nearest their homes. At the centers, all they need do is check in, present their orders and they begin 30-day furloughs.

Trade

In a letter dated July 21, Eisenhower termed the report—submitted to him July 14—"a most valuable contributic: toward illuminating the still dark corners of this highly significant matter."

Without committing himself, Eisenhower turned the report over to the new government study commission on U. S. foreign economic policy, a group headed by Clarence E. Randall of Chicago, board chairman of the Inland Steel Corp. The group soon will begin a survey to determine whether this country's trade policies should be revised.

In his report, Douglas dealt with the progress Britain has made toward resolving "many of the causes of the unbalance between the dollar and sterling."

Defines Issues

And he defined the issues "which we, on our side, must face if we are to enjoy the fruits of an enlarged volume of trade, more stable currencies, and an expanded area of economic freedom."

It was on that score that Douglas said the United States for 30 years has been erecting barriers operating against re-establishment of international economic health. He also said:

"It is doubtful whether the world can recover a high degree of economic freedom or whether American's exports — so important to large segments of our country—can enter foreign markets without benefit of continued American subventions and subsidies, unless sterling makes further progress toward its own emancipation.

"If further progress is not made toward removal of restrictions on trade and a more unfettered exchange of currencies, it is quite likely that, despite international political institutions, that have been erected or may be erected in the future, the unity of the free world will remain precarious and fragile!

"On these points American national interests are vitally concerned."

Driver Eludes Patrol, Arrested After Crash

The car of 23-year-old Bucyrus driver was demolished Saturday when it went out of control and overturned in a field a half hour after he had eluded state highway patrolmen on a traffic violation.

Harold Ball escaped from the wreckage uninjured and was arrested by patrolmen on two charges, unsafe operation and passing without assured clear distance. In addition to being "car-less," Ball was fined $5 and costs on the unsafe operation and another $5 and costs on the second charge, by Mayor Ivan Bogan at North Robinson.

Patrolmen first noticed Ball on U. S. Route 30-N, east of Bucyrus, about 1:15 p.m. Saturday and would have arrested him on the passing without assured clear distance charge had he not eluded them by driving through the village streets at North Robinson and cutting across lawns and gardens.

About a half-hour later, patrolmen were summoned to the Boundary Road, located five miles south of North Robinson in Marion County. Ball's car had gone out of control, crashed off the left side of the road and ripped down 40 feet of farm fence. The car overturned in the field and was demolished. Ball was uninjured and patrolmen arrested him.

And at the South Korean port of Inchon, more Americans began boarding the transport Gen. John Pope, which is scheduled to sail Wednesday on the two-week trip to the United States with about 400 former POWs aboard.

One young Iowa soldier returned with a story of comparatively mild treatment at the hands of the Chinese.

Cpl. Carl F. Trumbo of Woodburn, Iowa, said the Chinese who overran the 555th Field Artillery Battalion near Kumhwa last month gave the Americans cigarettes and candy and shook hands all around.

"They treated us like we wasn't even prisonrs," Trumbo said. "I'd say we were treated a thousand times better than the old-timers.

"While we were marching up there, if a fellow dropped out, the guards grabbed hold of him and helped him up. When we had breaks in the march the guards would get out their cigarettes and light them for us."

Spanish War Vets Start 55th Parley

CLEVELAND (AP)—Talk of war, war in a century which never knew the atom bomb or the threat of the hydrogen bomb, was heard in Cleveland today as 4,000 veterans of the Spanish War opened their 55th national encampment.

Meeting with the United Spanish War Veterans is its women's auxiliary, the sons and daughters of U. S. V. W., and other affiliated organizations.

New officers will be elected and installed Thursday as the encampment closes.

Iran

garden party yesterday his nation's treasury "is very empty."

The United States regards Zahedi's administration as an oportunity for a new deal in Iran. It ousted Mossadegh, a man who was considered fanatically opposed to making any settlement with the British on the long oil dispute and who was risking Communist increase in power to consolidate his own hold on his country.

Zahedi is regarded as an ardent nationalist but also as a reasonable man. U. S. officials hope he will be able to stabilize his country and that eventually he will undertake some kind of reasonable settlement with the British.

Can't Move Fast on Oil

They say he cannot move fast on the oil question, however, because popular passions are too high.

Iran has been without any revenue from its billion-dollar oil industry since the industry was nationalized two years ago. The government formerly got, directly and indirectly, more than 100 million dollars a year from oil, according to experts here.

The United States presently has a 23 million dollar economic and technical assistance (Point Four) program for Iran. It also has a relatively small military aid operation, probably running at about 20 millions a year. In addition, there are around 500 American officials in the country who spend salary and expense money there. One informant estimated Iran's total current "take" from the United States at the rate of 50 million dollars a year.

These Days

By George Sokolsky

In terms of manpower, Communist China has produced a fighting army of 4,000,000 men, a part of which, at least, is modern.

SOKOLSKY

This army has managed to defeat 17 nations, including the United States and Great Britain, in the Korean War.

While it is true that such experts as Generals Douglas MacArthur, Matthew Ridgway, James Van Fleet and Mark Clark have stated publicly that they could have defeated this army but for political intervention, the fact is that they did not defeat it. Mao Tze-tung, in the eyes of the Asiatics, can claim the credit that he is the first Oriental since 1905, when Japan defeated Russia, who held a coalition of Westerners at bay.

THIS SINGLE historic assertion makes Soviet China the leading power in the Asiatic world, particularly as it happens to be true.

Politically, Soviet China has made tremendous strides. It has, with the assistance of Soviet Russia, managed to separate Great Britain from the United States on a basic issue, namely, the Asiatic program.

More significantly, for the first time in the history of the United States, Canada, under the leadership of Lester B. Person, who in his younger years was influenced by the Institute of Pacific Relations, is not standing with the United States.

Furthermore, Mao Tze-tung has so scared Nehru of India that he has practicaly reduced him to an agent of Chinese policy in the Western world.

Nehru cannot altogether be blamed for being frightened. He sees no force that is free to save Burma, Indochina and Thailand from conquest by Soviet China.

INDIA COULD be conquered from these areas and from Tibet, Assam, Nepal and Bhutan unless the United States, assisted by Great Britain, were to occupy India and use it as a base against Soviet China. That alternative, from Nehru's standpoint, would be just as bad.

While these are hypothetical questions to us, to Nehru and India they are important realities.

Since the beginning of the Korean War, Nehru has lived in terror that Soviet China would defeat the so-called United Nations forces.

With that twist which is so characteristic of Orientals, instead of supporting the United States, Nehru first adopted the position of a neutral, then became a broker for Stalin, and finally passed into an active protagonist of the Communist Chinese. It is a response to desperation.

HISTORY IS made of such shifts in the relations among nations. From the beginning of the Korean War, this column has been calling attention, sometimes boringly so, to the dangers of permitting Soviet China to win this war and to become a world power.

While some of our statesmen—most of them—were bogged down in European politics, Russia with historic prescience devoted itself to Asia.

Russia's reasoning was that no matter what happened in Europe, geography, manpower and natural resources made the East of Asia the center of the earth in the second half of the 20th century.

It accepted as inevitable that China would ultimately explode into motion.

RUSSIA'S objective was to keep China moving southward; otherwise such a force as has been let loose there would encroach upon Russian territories. Every aid was given to Mao Tze-tung to achieve this objective.

This movement began in 1919. I witnessed its early stages from 1919 to 1931 intimately. I was associated with the Student Movement in China in 1919 which was its first shock effort, I knew personally and closely most of the Chinese and many of the Russians involved in the earliest stages of this revolution.

Since 1919, I have written probably millions of words about it but the West rejected an accurate picture because it preferred a romantic one.

THE EXPLOSIVE force of Chinese imperialism is now in full motion. For the first time since the Emperor Chien Lung (1736-95), China is now expanding to every part of Asia into which the Chinese cultural influence has ever spread, but this will never satisfy Mao Tze-tung who will seek to incorporate into the Chinese orbit all the lands of East Asia, including India. India must be regarded as already within the Chinese orbit. Nothing can save the Hindu and Buddhist world except the strongest action to save that area from the frightened Nehru.

It is a question not of the independence of India, but whether that country is part of the Communist Chinese world or the democratic Christian West.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

There's a sizable circle of labor officials in this land who apparently don't mind bulges in their well-tailored $250 custom sewn suits — just so long as the man they're about to blackmail knows that the bulge snugly covers a gun holster. That's good business—and can bring as much as a quarter of a million dollars with each "conference."

RIESEL

And it will do little good for the decent and crusading labor leaders to say bitterly that the honest men inside labor are being pilloried and injustly criticized and associated with the goons. The responsibility now rests on these honest men, just as the responsibility for exposing the rackets rests on those who write or broadcast the news.

Recently, for example, there was filed in the Eastern District of Missouri, a grand jury report which, among other things, said:

"Much of the evidence before this grand jury disclosed that labor racketeers carried revolvers with impunity, and on many occasions arranged it so that intended extortion victims, and workers who might complain, were able to see such weapons."

FOR ME, THIS grand jury report marked a turn into a road from which no honest labor leader can retreat. There has been so much bugling about the New York waterfront that the country has been swindled into believing that when they lay old King Ryan to rest, all labor crime will have been hit by some political penicillin.

Well, the grand jury report points out that there is widespread violation of the Federal Anti-Racketeering Act by "self-seeking and irresponsible labor leaders, especially the local business agents . . . not only in the Eastern District of Missouri but in the entire state, and in other sections of the U.S., particularly Kansas City, the state of Illinois, and the state of New Jersey." We can add to that roster of localities.

But let's take that as a start. From some 150 witnesses and masses of documents we find shakedown rackets which amaze even veteran trail sniffers on this beat. Shakedowns brought as much as $250,000 from each of several construction projects in a few months alone. That's a big take.

AND THE HONEST labor leaders, the men who will meet right in St. Louis next month for the unusually brief one-week AFL convention, must now know that they cannot talk about "progressive political action," or the need for more hospitals, buildings or lower rents, when in these states their own local union officials have prevented, delayed or sharply increased the cost of construction of such facilities for the people.

The honest labor leaders gathered in that convention will not be able to talk of civil rights unless they clean up those who are daily terrorizing hundreds of thousands of working men—and AFL members at that.

"Since I suspect no one will distribute copies of the grand jury report to all AFL delegates let me quote from it on this point:

"Our investigation of infringements on the rights of our citizens, particularly on the rights of union members, by labor racketeers disclosed that large sums of money have been extorted from various contractors by self-seeking and irresponsible labor leaders—who have stopped at nothing to obtain their own material ends.

"Before continuing, this grand jury (and this columnist, as well—V.R.) goes on record that in conducting its investigation of labor racketeering conditions it was its purpose to assist the working man and his community in eliminating a most sinister situation. It has never been the purpose of the grand jury to condemn labor and labor unions generally or to in any way hinder the American labor movement.

"(But) The public or community as a whole has suffered irreparable damage and loss resulting in:

"Much higher construction costs which have been passed on to the consumer.

"Delay in completion of many projects which has hindered production or commodities for military purposes.

"Delay i ncompletion of many projects vital to the citizenry generally. People have had to do without adequate housing, hospital and other facilities."

THEN THE grand jury emphasized that "the monies extorted by the labor racketeers went into their own pockets and not into the treasuries of the unions. In some instances sums of money were extorted from the worker himself by the business agent of the labor union just for the privilege of working."

The methods of these shakedowns I'll report soon epough. But for now, all this is to ask the AFL's top leaders to join with their national chief, George Meany, and crusade inside their own organizations, so that their high-sounding campaigns outside labor will take on real meaning. Until then, the public can hardly be blamed for its cynicism.

Five-Hanky Epic

By Inez Robb

You got troubles? I got troubles? Honey, we never had it so good!

You want proof? Just glance through the daily newspaper and tote up the people with real troubles. You want to hear about a man behind a king-size eight-ball? Get set: This is a five-handkerchief epic.

INEZ ROBB

The Marquis George de Cuevas, I read in the papers, is "literally pulling his hair and wringing his hands in despair, for he's in mortal fear that the general strike that has totally paralyzed France will not be settled by Sept. 1."

-:-

SO THE MARQUIS is in despair because the general strike may push shaky France over the political cliff into civil war, anarchy and or Communism?

Don't be sill, Bill. The marquis has more than France to worry about. He's got global worries. The marquis has invited 2,000 guests "from four continents" to a sumptuous ball on his estate near Biarritz on Sept. 1 and if the French general strike continues "Cuevas sadly realizes that a majority of his guests will not be able to attend his 'fete champetre' which has already cost him so much money.

"But money will be no obstacle to Cuevas who has even built artificial lakes to add to the decor."

DON'T LAUGH, boys! The poor devil is probably dying this very minute if the strike isn't settled as this goes to press. Just think: all those hors d' oeuvres and no guests.

One tray of left-over hors d'oeuvres is enough to make any host take the pledge. But left-over hors d'oeuvres for 2,000! It staggers the imagination.

This party was no simple passing flight of hospitality. Invitations to it were dispatched to four continents in February, so that guests could have ample time to plan appropriate 18th century costumes, for the host "hopes to equal the pomp of Kings Louis XIV, XV and XVI," according to my paper.

No one can say the man ain't got ambition, as well as trouble. I only regret he didn't add Louis VIII and Louis XVII and make it a real royal flush.

NOW THE WHOLE thing may have to be called on account of a strike. "Apres moi le deluge," said Louis XIV. But who ever dreamed the water would be hot?

The fete, my paper continues, has been planned by Cuevas to out-do a $50,000 wing-ding given by a Mexican senor named Beistegui in Venice two years ago to which "2,000 persons from four continents" were also invited.

This brings up an interesting question. Which continent is socially unacceptable? Which continent was snubed in both instances? Is some continent missing from the social register and the Almanac de Gotha these days?

Perhaps this is a matter for the United Nations. Let the snubbed continent come forward and state its case. Man does not live by bread alone when there is champagne for the asking.

Also, do Cuevas and Beistegui invite the same 2,000 persons? Is that the size to which the 400 has grown?

IT IS IMPORTANT to us American taxpayers that we know for sure, since Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt Jr., has applied for relief in New York.

Cuevas, who married a granddaughter of the original John D. Rockefeller, has been suffering no pain since, until the French strike imperiled his resurrection of Louis XIV, XV, and XVI.

But the marquis has not spent old John D's money in vain, even should the strike continue past Sept. 1. He can always go out and jump in one of those artificial lakes especially built for his party.

Parade Float Prepared by Labor Unions

One of the colorful floats entered in the Marion County Sesquicentennial Parade Wednesday afternoon at the Marion County Fair is sponsored by the united labor groups of the city.

Representing the various groups as a committee are: Carroll W. Davidson, Marion Central Labor Union, AFL; Ellis Ioler, Marion Industrial Council, CIO; Paul Castanean, Building Construction Trades, AFL; Charles Curren, International Association of Machinists, No. 1281, AFL; Guy Bigelow Trainmen's Local No. 35; Don Hawk, Erie Railroad Clerks, No. 509; Carl Bryant, International Molders No. 386; AFL; Lyle Prouty, Tecumseh Products, CIO; Bernard Schlecht Marion Power Shovel Co. CIO; Arthur McCreary, Pollak Steel Co., CIO; Charles Iams, Ohio Edison Electricians No. 638; AFL; D C. Flanigan, Erie Railroad Electricians, No. 874, AFL; Joe White, C & O Maintenance of Way, No. 88; Art Balis, Erie Maintenance of Way No. 1900; Richard Long, Erie Machinists No. 1059, AFL.

The sign is the work of Joe Merchant of Tecumseh Products. The early type corn planter featured on the float is furnished by C. L. Almendinger and the new type one is from the Campbell Farm Supply Co. The truck is provided by Loren Hord. William Decker, Marion Industrial Council Legislative Committeeman will be in charge of a booth on the midway where educational literature will be distributed.

Herman Rech of the Tecumseh Products is general chairman and Earl J. Camp is secretary of the committee. The latter is substituting for Ray Beverly who is recovering from injuries sustained in an automobile accident several weeks ago.

Exchange Club Hears Speakers On Home Rule

J. E. Oliphant and L. B. Conkle were guest speakers when the exchange Club met Friday at Hotel Harding. Their topic was "Non - Partisan Home Rule for Marion."

Oliphant traced the various forms of village and city governments through the past 175 years, likening the city-manager type of government to a large corporation or a public school system with school board control but one man at the helm.

Conkle explained the different types of charter governments and stressed the fact that the Home Rule campaign is not aimed at any personality in the present city government. He showed a copy of the charter that will go into effect at Delaware on Jan. 1, 1954, and brought out the fact that 43 cities comparable to the size of Marion had shifted to the city-manager type of government in the last three years.

Conkle said the three advantages of this type of government are simplicity and concentration of responsibility; a city-manager can be disposed of at will, without waiting for his term of office to run out; and greater tenure of office, the average, according to statistics, being 8.6 years.

The balance of the meeting was spent in discussion of the topic.

Edward McAndrew was in charge of the meeting.

Virginia House, a gabled Tudor-style manision owned by the Virginia Historical Society in Richmond, is largely made o ma terials taken from Warwick Priory, built in England in the 12th century and remodeled about 1568.

HOOSIER. Mother of a 3-year-old son and former member of the 1948 Olympic swimming team, Mrs. Jeanne W. Vaughn of Lafayette, Indiana will represent the Hoosier State in the "Mrs. America" contest at Asbury Park, N. J. She is the wife of a fur merchant.

Local Firms Sending Men to ONU Institute

Ten Marion concerns are participating in a special program of Ohio Northern University at Ada, a course being offered in "Basic Management" through the Management Institute of the university.

Through the program, the firms send employes to the campus for one week of daytime group discussions. The course was planned to broaden the understanding of the economics of industry, the recognition of the human factor in production, and focus on the skills of leadership.

Marion concerns sending employes include the Fulfillment Corporation of America, General Excavator Company, Osgood Company, Commercial Steel Casting Co., Fairfield Engineering Co., Huber Mfg. Co., Marion Power Shovel Co., Alloy Cast Steel Co., Pollak Steel Co. and B. F. Goodrich Co.

Secretary Is Author

OTTAWA (AP) — A pretty Ottawa secretary took five years to write a book, but it has netted her $15,000 and she considers her efforts well worth while. Suzanne Butler's book "My Pride, My Folly" is set in 19th-century Canada. For two years while she was writing her book, Miss Butler worked as a teacher at a girls' school in Montreal; for three, she was secretary of the Association of Canadian Clubs in Ottawa. She did her research at night in McGill University.

Ten Appointed To OWU Staff

DELAWARE — Ten appointments to the faculty and staff of Ohio Wesleyan University have been announced by Dr. Clarence E. Ficken, interim president of the college.

The list includes two associate professors, Dr. Robert E. Lorish in political science and Dr. Garo S. Azarian in French. Assistant Professors are Jack E. Prince in economics, Richard F. Bauerle in English, Willis R. Olson in music and Eleanor C. Johnston in home economics.

New instructors are Virgie L. Gabbard and Jane A. Stephens, in home economics; and Dr. Robert Filler, in chemistry. Jean Lois Wilson has been appointed assistant dean of women and has been assigned to the women's residence, Monnett Hall.

Two former members of the Ohio Wesleyan faculty are returning to the college. They are Paul Matthews, assistant professor of physics, and Mrs. Elizabeth Willis White, instructor in home economics.

Crawford Approves Two Teacher Scholarships

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS —Crawford County School Supt. S. K. Sellars said here today that two applicants for two-year teacher-training college scholarships have been approved by the county's screening committee.

Identities of the applicants will be disclosed after their applications have been approved formally by the state department of education.

The county has been awarded five scholarships, good for $500 each for two years with the recipients teaching one year in an Ohio elementary school for each year of scholarship granted.

The screening committee includes E. R. Pickering, Galion High School principal, Merle Hutson, Crestline teacher, and Mrs. George Atkinson, Bucyrus elementary school principal.

OSU Swimmers Give Show at Dedication of Pool

Country Club Audience Thrilled by Champion Divers, Dash Men

By EVELYN KRISTOFF

Approximately 500 members and their guests turned out Sunday afternoon for the dedication of the Marion Country Club's new swimming pool. They were treated to a swimming and diving exhibition by members of the Ohio State University swimming team under the direction of Coach Mike Peppe.

After the dedication, Jack Kinter, club president, introduced "the man most responsible for the pool, Jack Weis."

Weis, former president of the club and chairman of the swimming pool committee, presented the history behind the building of the pool. He said desire for a pool motivated every action of the committee, so that "today the pool lies ahead of you in reality."

He praised the assistance given him and his committee in the construction of the pool and said it had taken a lot of time and work, but he felt it was "worth the effort."

As he finished his talk, the fully clothed Ukis become the first person to use the pool after dedication, when he was tossed into it.

Five contestants competed in a bathing beauty contest to determine the oldest costumes modeled. Entered in the contest were Mrs. William Eikenbary, Miss Judy Hamilton, Miss Josie Huber, Miss Mary Ellen Krigbaum and Miss Sally Waddell.

First prize winner was judged to be Miss Krigbaum and second prize went to Miss Hamilton. Judges were Harold Grigsby, Carl Danner and Mrs. W. A. Dennis.

Following the contest, Paul Kohler introduced Peppe, Ohio State's swimming coach since 1931 and diving coach of the United States teams during the past two Olympic games.

Peppe told the crowd he has managed a Country Club swimming pool for 14 years and said "the people responsible for the construction of this fine pool should be congratulated many times over."

First of Peppe's protoges to appear on the program was Eddie Hawachia, 220 - yard champion from Hilo, Hawaii, who demonstrated the American crawl stroke. Also demonstrating variations of the crawl stroke was Fletcher Gilders of Columbus.

Peppe then introduced "the fastest man on his back in the world," Yoshi Oyakawa of Honolulu, Olympic diving champion, who demonstrated a backstroke kick, termed by Peppe as "practically a motorboat."

For the benefit of the younger set, Peppe introduced his 10-year-old nephew from Columbus, Michael Peppe. The swimming coach told the group that young Michael had beat him in a race the other day, and this was his prize. The youngster demonstrated the crawl stroke and the butterfly variation.

Peppe, in his running comment, kept the audience informed on the action of his swimmers and commented about his team members, as Eddie and Yoshi demonstrated the importance of agile turns in racing competitions.

Three members of the Ohio State University Swan Club presented a water ballet sequence called "Blue Violins." Water ballerinas were Jane Cannon, Nancy Riggle, and Rose McKnight, all of Columbus.

Demonstrating diving techniques, from the very simple ones to the most complex, were Frank Fraunfelter, sophomore from Canton, and Fletcher Gilders, Columbus sophomore.

Peppe then called on eight volunteers from the club members for a handicap relay race. Taking part were Henry Krigbaum, Stan Franks, Dave DeWolfe, John Dean, Lucille Krigbaum, Angel McNamara, Billie Nigro and Joan Merchant.

A second water ballet number presented by the girls was set to the theme of "Hot Canary."

Serving on the swimming pool committee with Weis were Robert Owens, F. T. Merchant, Ernest Davis, Floyd Browne, Dave Pollak and Jack Kinter.

In charge of arrangements for Sunday's program were Mr. and Mrs. Jack Danner and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Kohler.

CHAMPION-STYLE SWIMMING by members of the world-famous Ohio State University swimming team, under the direction of Coach Mike Peppe, marked the dedication of the new Marion Country Club swimming pool Sunday afternoon.

UPPER: Surrounding Peppe and his 10-year-old nephew, Michael Peppe, in front of the bath-house following the program, participating swimmers are Jane Cannon, Rose McKnight and Nancy Riggle, all of Columbus; Frank Fraunfelter of Canton; Fletcher Gilders of Columbus; Eddie Kawachia of Hilo, Hawaii; and Yoshi Oyakawa of Honolulu.

LOWER: Fletcher Fraunfelter shows the crowd at the Country Club the style which has won several diving championships for the Ohio State swimming team in recent years. He is shown doing a back dive into the new pool.

Habit, Temptation Prove Undoing for Policemen

BENTON HARBOR, Mich. (UP) — Two city policemen, Harold Stowell, 29, and Urban Craft, 27, were fired for going too far with the policeman's age-old habit of helping themself at the fruit vendor's stand.

Chief Vern Story said the two admitted taking two cases of strawberries, worth $9, from a Benton Harbor fruit market.

"BEST FRIEND" INNOCENT

BOONVILLE, Ind. (UP)—Jail is no place for a dog — in spite of what his master does — Deputy Sheriff Gabe Feltner decided.

When State Trooper Keith Shelton brought in a motorist for drunken driving Feltner locked up the man, but refused to punish the pet which was riding in the car with him. Shelton took the dog to his home in Evansville, 17 miles away.

REAL DEMONSTRATION

WEST HAVEN, Conn. (UP) — While Charles Matakeatio, 22, was showing his wife the mechanism of a 12-gauge shotgun, it accidentally discharged blowing off his left shoe.

Police Arrest Man Wanted in Mansfield

Kenneth E. Utz, 28, of Montezuma, O., was arrested on the Marion County Fairgrounds Saturday by Marion police for investigation of the theft of some tools from Mansfield a few days ago.

Request for Utz' arrest came from the Richland County sheriff's office. Police reported that Utz had a stolen hydraulic jack and ratchet wrench in his possession when arrested. He was released to a Richland County deputy and returned to Mansfield.

They Can't Keep a Good Dog Down in Indiana

FORT WAYNE, Ind. (UP) — George, cocker spaniel of the William Streators, has had one funeral and lived to bark about it. His masters thought they had buried him once.

That was after George disappeared and neighbors found a similar dead cocker in a ditch. But George came scampering home, much alive, and the Streators were left with a $50 funeral bill.

School Kids To Get Free Tickets to State Fair

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (UP)—School children from grammar to high school age will be admitted free to the New York State Fair, Sept. 5-12. Tickets will be distributed during mid-August.

Departments of the exposition include cattle, draft horses, horse shows, sheep, farm product, domestic arts, Indian village, dairy goats, poultry, swine, foods, dairy products, fruit and flowers.

The small landlocked salmon in Maine's lakes are very poor eating. But they are visious fighters when taken on a fly rod.

Heroism of Japanese-American Described

Writer Cites Cost to U.S. of Concept of Minorities

By ELMAN MORIN
(For Hal Boyle)

NEW YORK (AP)—There was a story in the papers the other day that set me thinking about that painfully familiar word, "minorities."

An American sergeant, freed in Korea, was awarded the Congressional Medal of Honor. This is America's highest military decoration, and as you might expect, the citation reads: "His indomitable heroism and consummate devotion to duty reflect the utmost glory on himself and uphold the highest traditions of the military service."

The sergeant's name is Hiroshi Miyamura.

Nobody will ever know how many guys named Smith, Jones, Brown, McLeod and O'Rourke are alive today because he stayed behind, alone, blasting with a machinegun.

Nor can we ever estimate how much this country owes the 442nd Regimental Combat Team—although the Army tried by hanging more combat medals, per man, on that outfit than any other in the last war. It was composed exclusively of American-born Japanese.

That's the good side of the picture. But there is another.

How many potential Medal of Honor winners, how many artists and scientists, how many plain good citizens, have been lost to America because the concept of minorities still persists? What does it cost us, every day, to set people apart by reason of race or color?

Here is one case:

During the last war, this writer was a prisoner of the Japanese for about a year. There was an investigation on charges of espionage.

The interpreter was a bright young fellow who spoke perfect English. One day, he took a ferocious risk. He told me he was an American, born in California. Two of his brothers were then serving in the American Army. He had been impressed into the Japanese Army.

"If you ever get home," he said, "I wish you'd deliver a message to my family. Tell them I'd like to be with my brothers—in the Army."

And how did he happen to be in the wrong uniform?

"You come from California," he said. "You remember how it was."

I knew what he meant. There were the days of the "yellow peril," the Japanese "picture brides," and all the wierd nonsense about how "the Japs" were all spies and planning to take over the Los Angeles City Hall any minute now.

What was worse, they used to work in their truck gardens on Saturdays and Sundays. How can you compete with a sinister oriental who works on Sunday? It was strictly unfair, dirty pool.

The fact that the Japanese were practically model citizens mattered not at all. A Japanese name seldom, if ever, appeared in the crime news, during the depression, none was on relief rolls. They always were among the first to meet their quotas in the Community Chest and Red Cross drives. Their homes and stores, and the very streets in "Little Tokyo," were spotlessly clean.

That didn't help much in those days. You see, the configuration of their eyes was different from ours.

"Finally, I couldn't take it any more," he said. "Especially in high school, I felt as though I didn't belong. I thought, 'Okay, if I'm not an American, there's no use trying to be one.' "

So he left this country, went to Japan, got a job. When the war came, the Japanese Army grabbed him. He was especially useful because of his language—and there was nothing he could do about it.

"I'm sorry now," he said. "I guess I was pretty dumb."

Who knows? He might have been another Sgt. Miyamura. He might have been one of those in the 442nd RCT. He might have contributed any number of invaluable services to the country that bore him.

How many like him have we lost? How many people are Communists, spies, traitors, festering enemies because "I felt as though I didn't belong?"

COLORADO ENTRY. Brown-eyed Mary Ann Donelan of Keenesburg is Colorado's entry in the "Miss America" beauty pageant at Atlantic City, N. J. A 19-year-old sophomore at Colorado State, she is 5-5, weighs 116, likes to cook.

Many Starving Despite World Food Abundance

NEW YORK (AP) — Almost two thirds of the world's peoples are starving despite sufficient food production to feed everyone, says the American Geographical Society.

The society reported yesterday the findings from a study by its medical geographical department.

Police Have Few Clues in Slaying of Newspaper Owner

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—Investigators today continued to probe into the brutal slaying of Mrs. Walter E. Clark, principal owner of the Charleston Daily Mail, who was beaten to death in her fashionable home Friday night.

Except for a fragment of varnished oak wood found in a pool of blood beside the body, police admitted they were "up against a blank wall."

Police Chief Dewey Williams said the wood may have splintered off a weapon used to beat the socially prominent 59-year-old widow to death. Detectives said no motive had been established for the killing.

A stranger was seen taking pictures of the Clark home about a week ago, but a phone call to police from an Ohio man yesterday doused speculation that the stranger might provide a clue to the slaying.

The man, unidentified by police, said he made photographs for an architectural firm studying different types of homes.

OHIO WOMAN POISONED

PORTSMOUTH, Ohio (AP) — Mrs. Orville Lintz, 36, mother of two, died yesterday after being stricken with food poisoning Wednesday night.

Big Bombers Making Nonstop Flight to Japan

WASHINGTON (AP)—Several B36s, the giants of the Air Force, are making a nonstop flight across the Pacific to the Far East on a training mission.

Announcing this late yesterday, the Air Force did not give the point of departure. It said arrival of the planes will be announced in Tokyo.

Columbus Woman Says Baby Stolen From Yard

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Franklin and Muskingum county law officers today continued their search for the curly-haired, 3-year-old son of Mrs. Fay Scanlan of Columbus. Mrs. Scanlan told sheriff's deputies last night a man jumped from his car outside her house and seized the baby while he was playing. Authorities said they believe a family quarrel might have caused the child's disappearance. They are checking relatives in Zanesville and the boy's father in Nashport, Muskingum County.

Baby Takes 12-Mile Ride On Truck Running Boar

SNOWFLAKE, Ariz. (AP)—Elwood Peterson said a guardian angel must have been along on the 12-mile ride after he found his 17-month-old son clinging to the door handle of his pickup truck as he drove through here.

How Bobby Lynn Peterson managed to ride the running board for that distance and how he got on the car in the first place was still a mystery to Peterson.

Local Baking Insures Fresh Duncan Hines Bread Daily

Duncan Hines

Because so many people want "the old-style, firm, full-flavored loaf of bread," says Duncan Hines, "I have agreed to let my name and my recipe be used by a few of the leading bakers in the country on such a loaf."

As Duncan Hines explains it, carefully selected bakers use his recipe, follow the quality standards and the specified baking procedure for Duncan Hines Home Style Enriched Bread.

This has meant that Marion can now have this distinctive bread baked locally. It means that this bread is delivered fresh daily to grocers all over town. Duncan Hines insists that his bread be fresh.

Mounties Go Modern

WINNIPEG (AP)—The Royal Canadian Mounted Police has gone modern with a vengeance. Horses, which now appear only on ceremonial occasions, have been replaced by speeding patrol cars equipped with two-way radio. The sled dogs have given way to a monster on skiis called a bombardier snowmobile which costs less to run than the huskies. Trim cabin cruisers patrol the larger lakes and all branches are linked by radio to speed the work.

Rosen Grabs Lead in Drive for AL's Triple Crown

Cleveland Hatchet Man Boosts Chances as MVP

By JOE REICHLER
AP Sports Writer

Cleveland's vanishing Indians rate as the biggest flop in the American League but Al Rosen, their chief hatchet man, is heading for the triple crown as well as the circuit's Most Valuable Player award.

The slashing third baseman, who gave evidence of future stardom when he led the league in home runs in his rookie year in 1950, is the No. 1 guy today in batting, runs batted in and homers.

Only three players in each league in the long history of the game have been able to win the triple crown. They were the American League's Ted Williams (1942 and 1947), Lou Gehrig (1934) and Jimmy Foxx (1933); and the National League's Rogers Hornsby (1922 and 1925), Chuck Klein (1933) and Joe Medwick (1937).

Rosen boosted his batting average to .326 yesterday, getting three hits in six times at bat as the Indians clubbed the St. Louis Browns 2-1 and 9-0. Rosen hammered his 33rd homer in support of Art Houtteman's shutout pitching in the nightcap and batted in four runs to increase his total to 116, tops in both leagues.

Despite the double victory, the third-place Indians still remained 13 games behind the league-leading New York Yankees, who blanked the Philadelphia Athletics 4-0 behind the six-hit pitching of Vic Raschi. The runner-up Chicago White Sox struggled to within 8½ games of the Yankees, sweeping a twin bill from the Detroit Tigers, 2-1 and 11-6. Boston's Red Sox vanquished Washington 5-4 on Ted Williams' fifth home run in 25 official times at bat since his return from Korea.

Brooklyn's National League pacemakers increased their margin over Milwaukee to nine games, drubbing the hapless Pittsburgh Pirates twice while the Chicago Cubs were holding the Braves to a split in their two games. The Dodgers clubbed nine pitchers into submission, winning 10-4 and 9-4.

Johnny Klippstein snapped the Braves' eight-game winning streak, pitching the cubs to a 7-2 triumph after Warren Spahn had hurled his 16th victory in Milwaukee's 10-2 opening success.

Earl Torgeson drove in three runs with a home run and single to give the Philadelphia Phillies a 6-3 triumph and a sweep of the four-game series with New York.

Southpaw Kenny Raffensberger pitched and batted the Cincinnati Redlegs to a 5-3 victory over St. Louis to drop the Cardinals into fourth place, half a game behind the Phillies. Raffensberger helped win his seventh game with a two-run double in the ninth.

Hank Bauer's ninth home run, in the fifth inning, was all New York needed to whip the Athletics' Harry Byrd.

Rookie first baseman Bob Boyd, subbing for the injured Ferris Fain cracked key blows in both Chicago victories over the Tigers. He tripled in the ninth and scored the winning run on Sam Mele's single as Sandy Consuegra bested Steve Gromek in the first game pitching duel. Boyd drove in a run with a double and laced two singles in the big six-run Sox eighth inning of the nightcap.

Karl Olson's ninth inning double scored Jim Piersall to enable the Red Sox to snap a 4-4 tie made possible by Williams' seventh inning homer. In six starting games and eight pinch-hit appearances Ted boasts a .480 batting average on 12 hits in 25 times at bat.

Duke Snider batted in seven runs with his 30th and 31st homers, a pair of doubles and a single as the Dodgers made it 16 victories in their last 17 games. Gil Hodges also homered and drove in four runs as Russ Meyer won his 13th with a seven-hitter over the pirates in the opener.

Randy Jackson rapped a double and three singles in three official times at bat, driving in two runs and scoring twice to back up Klippstein's six-hit pitching for Chicago against Milwaukee in the second game of their double-header.

Klippstein not only snapped the Braves' eight-game winning streak but halted Milwaukee outfielder Andy Pafko's torrid hitting. Until blanked in the nightcap, Pafko had hit safely in 20 straight games. He had three for three in the opener.

MID-AIR DRAMA. When Sgt. Richard N. Cleaver, Niagara Falls, N. Y., felt "a wad of silk" in his face during jump at Ft. Campell, Ky. he grabbed it and held. It was the collapsed 'chute of fellow jumper Pfc. Harold D. Lovell, Oklahoma City. The photo shows Cleaver dropping safely with Lovell dangling below. Both were unhurt.

Scribe Defends Football Plan At Massillon

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP)—There has come to this desk a rather remarkable documentary on the American way of life, the annual brochure of the Massillon (Ohio) High School football team.

Massillon is a city of some 29,000 population whose name has become known to virtually every football fan in the country through its association with the early professional game and, within the past 20 years, for the amazing exploits of its high school Tigers. The capacity of its high school stadium is 22,000.

Paul Brown, the famous coach of the Cleveland Browns, gained national prominence there in the nine years up to 1941 while his teams were running up an 80-8-2 record. The present Massillon coach, Charles Mather, has a record of 47 victories and 3 defeats in the past five season.

The current brochure lists 84 players expected to report to Mather and his five assistant coaches next month when the Tigers start looking for their sixth straight state title. Their 10 opponents will include every other team which has won the state crown since 1934.

Mather is known as the "mechanical coach," and with some reason. For instance, he employs an electric tabulator the better to catalogue the good, bad and indifferent qualities of his players. Before him on the bench during a game he has a television screen in which he can see what is going on from a vantage point high above the field. This does away with the time-honored telephone line and "spotter." A set is being installed for the visiting coach this year too.

Almost as famous as the team itself, comments our brochure, is the Tiger swing band of 90 members and 16 alternates which has played and gyrated before as many as 400,000 spectators in a year—not all at home, of course. The unit, we gather, puts on a spectacle to stagger the imagination and bring it invitations from all over.

Then there is the Tiger Booster Club of 2,000 members which meets each Monday night during the season. These are happy and festive occasions as a rule, Massillon's winning average over the past 32 years having been .814.

As a result of all these activities, we learn, Massillon has become known far and wide as the "city of Champions." The success of the Tigers has stimulated those citizens who cannot wear football uniforms to excell in other forms of endeavor, including fire prevention, drum corpsing and barber shop quartetting.

When the city completed a vast viaduct and river - straightening program, the then mayor, S. Robert Weirich, himself an ex-football player, said it was an "example of the old Massillon community spirit that will stand for nothing but the best."

The Tigers play annually before crowds totaling roughly 160,000. The receipts support all other forms of athletics and numerous other activities. In the last year for which figures are given, 1951, the Tigers earned over $87,000 and gave over $40,000 to their dependents.

There are many educators who do not believe in taking football as seriously as Massillon does, especially at the high school level.

There is no intention here of trying to sell them anything. Our only thought is that it doesn't appear to have done the little Ohio city any lasting harm.

Yankee Star Returns, Eager For Baseball

SAN MATEO, Calif. (AP)—"Fit as a fiddle and eager to get back to the Yankees," Marine Capt. Gery Coleman is home after 63 Korean air combat missions.

"I feel that if the opportunity presents itself, in a week or 10 days maybe I could pinch run or something," he grinned.

"I'm in awfully good shape, but of course I won't know for sure about that myself until I get back in there and try."

The Yankees' brass quickly scheduled a Gerry Coleman day in Yankee Stadium Sept. 12. They added they expect Gery to rejoin the team this week.

Green Bay Nips Giants Despite Use of Swing T

NEW YORK (AP)—Now that the National Football Leagues teams are getting down to the serious business of preparing for the official opening just a month away, it's beginning to look like the rich are getting richer and the poor poorer.

Last year, the mighty Cleveland Browns, who have been in the playoffs the past three seasons, were worried about the New York Giants—and with good cause. The Giants threatened their position until the waning weeks of the season.

Today, Brownie Coach Paul Brown must be breathing easier. The Giants, swing T and all, were clubbed by the Green Bay Packers 31-7 in an exhibition game Saturday night, while the Browns polished off the San Francisco 49ers 20-7 yesterday. Four other clubs played exhibitions Saturday night, the World Champion Detroit Lions whipping the Pittsburgh Steelers 16-13 and the Philadelphia Eagles trouncing the Chicago Bears 24-10.

Brown was pleased with the showing of his club against the 49ers.

"This was the first time we had even lined up for a kickoff," he said. "And I thought the team looked very good. Otto Graham was a little slow to get started, but he looked sharp in the second half. Some of the younger players showed good potential and I was especially pleased with the running of Ken Konz."

Buck Shaw of the 49ers was inclined to shrug off the defeat. His quarterback, Y. A. Tittle, suffered a bruised knee in the second quarter.

"The two Cleveland touchdowns in the third period were scored over the heads of inexperienced players," he said.

Stout Steve Owen of the Giants was not discouraged by the loss to Green Bay.

"Our backs lost some scoring chances because they didn't have midseason form," he observed. "We moved with the swing T in the second half and will use it more."

Gene Ronzani of the Packers was impressed with his team's long punt runbacks and passing marksmanship. The Packers completed 16 of 23 tosses.

Armory Twin-Bill Books Girls' Bout

A girls tag team match will headline a double main go on the regular Thursday night wrestling card this week at the Marion Armory, Promoter Les Fishbaugh said today.

Virginia Gale and Margo will team up against Juanita Coffman and Suzie Starr in the 60-minute, two out of three falls tag match. Gale and Coffman paired off last week and Coffman was disqualified. Margo is from Richmond, Ind. at 145 pounds and Starr is from Dayton at 140 pounds.

In the other main event, Irish Mike McGee will meet Dick Torio in a return bout, also a 60-minute, two out of three falls match. McGee and Torio grappled last week and the match was given to Torio when McGee failed to break an illegal hold.

Joe Cassius of A & M College will meet Ralph Alexander of Dayton in the preliminary one fall opener beginning at 8:30 p.m.

24 Horses in 8 Races Tonight

Three Marion Trotters Win Harness Races at Fair

Marion-owned horses trotted off with three of four trophies and a major share of the purses at the Saturday night harness races at the Marion County Fair.

Best time for the mile recorded in any of the eight races was in the third, the 2:20 trot, with a time of 2:10-4/5 marked up by Zorbo Ansac, owned by Dr. C. G. Smith of Marion and driven by Robert Seabrook of Urbana.

The fast time was marked up in a close fought race between Zorbo Ansac and Tullys Filly, owned by C. D. England of Marion. In the third race Zorbo Ansac came in first, Tullys Filly, second, and Clayland, owned and driven by L. M. Wickersham of Marion came in third.

In the seventh race, Tullys Filly ran first, Zorbo Ansac, second, and Ruth Brainard, owned by Dave L. Brown of Chattanooga, Tenn, third.

Trophy for two-heat event went to Zorbo Ansac on the shorter time run in the third event.

Another horse owned by Dr. Smith and driven by Seabrook, Brendawin, also copped the trophy in the fifth race with a time of 2:14-4/5. Brendawin nosed out Professor Pick, owned by Roy Near of Marysville and Empress Nite, owned by Fred Johnson of Port Clinton.

Winner of the first race, the Two-Year-Old Pace, was Empress Mite, driven by Ted Aldrich with a time of 2:12. Brendawin came in second and Professor Pick, third, in this race.

Jugurtha, owned by Frank Bruno of Marion, and also driven by Seabrook won both the second and sixth races of the Two-Year-Old Trot with time of 2:19-3/5 and 2:21, respectively, to win the trophy.

Eton Dean, owned by D. Edwards of Galena came in second and Little Dick Spinner, owned by Cassins and Robert Ewers of Fredericktown, came in third in the second race. In the sixth race, Little Dick Spinner was second and Eton Dean, third.

The 2:20 Pace event, the fouth and fifth races, was won by Galvin McPherson, owned by Fred Johnson of Port Clinton and driven by Ted Aldrich with times of 2:14-3/5 for each race. In the fourth, Ebon Spencer owned by Seabrook came in second and Dillard Morris owned by Cassins and Robert Ewers ran third. In the eighth, Dillard Morris ran second and Ebon Spencer third.

Highest price paid in any of the eight races was $9.40 on a $2 ticket for the winning horse in the fifth race. Winner of this race was Brendawin.

The daily double, on the winner of the first race, Empress Mite, and the second race, Jugurtha, was priced at $8.80 on a $2 ticket.

The third race in the 2:20 Trot was possibly the closest fought of all with the judges calling for a photo finish to determine the winners. This was the race in which Zorbo Ansac, Tullys Filly, and Clayland ran almost neck and neck across the finish line. It was also the one in which the shortest time for the mile was marked up at 2:10-4/5 by Zorbo Ansac.

A total of 24 horses are entered in four events of two heats each for tonight's races on Fairgrounds oval. The races begin at 8 p.m.

Tonight's entries follow:

First and Fifth Races—Three-year-old trot, $500, trophy. Miss Betty Scott (D. Irvine); Saraband (George H. Alber); Damatos (Seabrook); Floria McElyn (Ridgway); Joan Crause (Wickersham); Jasedale Airliner (Earl).

Second and Sixth Races — 17 pace, $500, trophy. Mighty Gale (Aldrich); Star Volo (Davis); J. W. Stone (Seabrook); Nodaway (Near); Cindy Jane (B. Cheney); Baurbon Castle (Bingett); Vennis DiMilo (B. Brown).

Third and Seventh Races — Three-year-old pace, $500, trophy. Jerry's Son (Fred VanMatre); Diana Kay (R. Taylor); Wilma Chance (Don Irvine); Hal Counter Part (Bingett); Witching Widow (Seabrook); Greenville (V. Davis).

Redlegs Meet Pirates After Nipping Cards

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The ailing and aching Cincinnati Redlegs are here for a twi-night doubleheader tomorrow with the cellar-dwelling Pirates.

The Redlegs used good pitching and hard hitting to down the St. Louis Cardinals 5-3 yesterday at St. Louis. The win remedied a five-game losing illness.

Ken Raffensberger prescribed effective hurling and two RBIs, and Andy Seminick, who knocked in a two-run homer for his battery partner.

In the fifth inning Jim Greengrass singled to center and Seminick whacked his 15th homer of the season.

Singles by Bobby Adams and Roy McMillan and a walk to Gus Bell filled the bases in the sixth. Adams scored as Grady Hatton forced an out at second.

The Cards managed to score one in the seventh and Cincinnati solidified the lead in the ninth. Greengrass hit his second single of the day and Seminick followed with his third safety. Raffy doubled to score the two.

The Cards batted in a duo in their half of the last inning, Ray Jablonski opening with a homer. Solly Hemus smashed the ball between Raffy's legs to drive in the second.

Sox Hike AA Lead With Double Win

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Toledo Sox ballooned their American Association lead to a comfortable 3½ games Sunday with a doubleheader victory over St. Paul 2-0 and 7-2 as Gene Conley and Virgil Jester contributed excellent pitching.

Other first-division teams did not fare so well. Second-place Louisville dropped a 4-3 decision to Charleston, third-place Indianapolis lost to Minneapolis 12-5 and Kansas City, in fourth place, got beat by Columbus 7-3.

Conley won his 21st game by pitching a one-hitter. He faced only 29 men, struck out five and gave only one walk.

Aussie Net Stars Win Doubles Crown

BROOKLINE, Mass. (AP) — Australia's second-line pair of lefty Mervyn Rose and Rex Hartwig wore the men's national doubles tennis crowns today while perplexed U. S. Davis Cup officials pondered the thorny task of finding an American squad capable of testing the Aussies.

As expected, the 23-year-olders from Down Under swept through veterans Gardnar Mulloy of Miami and Billy Talbert of New York yesterday to win the title at Longwood 6-4, 4-6, 6-2, 6-4.

American Davis Cup committeemen probably were resigned to that defeat after watching the Aussie second-stringers whip the top U. S. combine of Philadelphian Vic Seixas and Tony Trabert of Cincinnati in a semifinal.

But what has the U. S. Lawn Tennis Assn. bigwigs worried is the poor showing made by Trabert in that semifinal loss.

The ex-sailor from Cincinnati is the big questionark in U. S., hopes for a successful challenge in December aganst Australia in the cember against Australia in the Davis Cup tests.

Seixas, the 1953 Wimbledon titlist and 1952 national doubles winner with Rose, performed well despite a knee injury that greatly restricted his sidewise motion. But his partner was very slow getting up to the net. Trabert just didn't maneuver fast enough to cope with the sharp-hitting Aussies.

Elevator Team Passes Test in Tourney Action

Green Camp Elevator, Forest and Belle Center racked up wins Sunday in the opening session of the Mid - Ohio League baseball tournament at Lincoln Park.

Green Camp Elevator wound up the opening day action with an arc light win over Marseilles when Don Johnson hurled the Marion County crew to a 7-4 verdict.

Johnson, former member of the Brooklyn farm system has already been offered a contract with the St. Louis Cardinals and last night was being scouted by the Cincinnati Redlegs. He gave the scouts an impressive performance by holding the Marseilles crew to four hits, all singles, and striking out 20 batters. Jack Daum, with a triple and single, and Bob Weston with two singles, topped the Green Camp attack. Howard Morse was the losing hurler.

In the first afternoon contest, Forest edged by Nevada 4-3, in a 10-inning tilt. Ohlen Hemmerly, who also has been signed by the Redlegs, was the winner. He allowed six hits and whiffed 12. Don Reid was charged with the loss. Floyd Naus with three hits and Glen March with two were the hitting stars.

Belle Center nipped Alger 5-2 behind the two-hit hurling of Don Patterson, who struck out 11. Allen was the loser. He fanned 15. Dodds with a triple and Murphy with a double were the big guns for the winners.

Next Sunday, LaRue will meet Belle Center at 1 p.m. at LaRue. In games at Lincoln Park, Marseilles meets Nevada in the opener at 1 with Green Camp taking on Forest in the nightcap at 3:30. Johnson and Hemmerly will probably oppose each other on the mound.

Curtis Selections Pose Big Problem

PROVIDENCE, R. I. (AP) — The 1954 United States Curtis Cup golf team will be chosen largely on the basis of performances in the 1953 Women's Amateur Championship, which starts today. And there are indications that it may be an almost entirely new team.

All seven members of the 1952 cup team, the first ever to lose to Britain in the international competition, are in this tournament. And they received the benefit of preferential placings in the draw, along with the four former champions and a few others. But they're just a few among 20 or more girls rated good enough to win the title.

Gridder Sidelined

CLEVELAND (AP) — Western Reserve University's star fullback, Harold (Candy) Carroll of Alliance, probably won't get to play any football this season. He is seriously ill with a chest disease that Coach Eddie Finnigan said would require rest and X-ray treatments for the next three months.

Carroll was a Mid-American Conference all-star last season.

Pittman Wins Caddie

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Jerry Pittman, 16-year-old Tulsa, Okla., youth, received a $1,500 college scholarship for winning the National Caddie Golf Tournament here Saturday.

Frank Malara, 17, of White Plains, N. Y., who lost to Pittman, 3 and 2, in the finals, won a $1,000 scholarship.

Tribe Whips Browns, Move Up on Chisox

CLEVELAND (AP) — A sweep of five games from the last-place St. Louis Browns on fine pitching and the long ball has put the Cleveland Indians a game and a half closer to second-place Chicago and added 1½ games to their lead over fourth-place Boston.

The Tribe extended its winning string to six by beating the Browns 3-1 and 9-0 yesterday. But the New York Yankees are 13 games ahead.

Early Wynn won his 14th against 10 losses in the opener, allowing seven hits and a first-inning unearned run. Art Houtteman, beating the Browns for the first time since 1950 and ending his five-game losing string, hurled a four-hit shutout in the nightcap.

Jim Hegan homered in the second inning of the opener off Duane Pillette to break a 1-1 deadlock. The Cleveland catcher sent home another run in the sixth when Satch Paige walked him on four pitches with the bases loaded.

In the nightcap a three-run homer by Al Rosen in the first inning—his 33rd of the season—made rookie Bob Turley's first start since his return from military service a defeat. Owen Friend hit a two-run homer off Mike Blyzka in the eighth.

The only St. Louis run of the day was scored by Dick Kokos who led off the opener with a walk. He escaped getting doubled off first on Billy Hunter's liner because first baseman Bill Glynn dropped centerfielder Larry Doby's throw. Kokos scored when shortstop George Strickland threw past second base on Hank Edwards' grounder.

Yesterday's STARS

By The Associated Press

Al Rosen, Indians—Clouted his 33rd home run, drove in 4 runs and rapped 2 singles to take over the batting lead and strengthen his top home run and RBI totals as the Indians captured both ends of a doubleheader from St. Louis 3-1 and 9-0.

Pitching—Vic Raschi, Yankees—Hurled a 6-hit shutout for his 26th victory in 31 outings against the Athletics as the Yankees won 4-0.

Grice Wins 200-Lap Feature Before Oval's Largest Crowd

Dude Grice took honors Sunday at the Marion Speedway, coming in first in the 200-lap championship race.

For the first 75 laps, Paul Hooper of Marion led the rest of the cars but he was forced out of the race when his vehicle developed motor trouble.

Grice also won the second event. Red Rambo of New Bloomington copped second position and Bill Collier of Marion came in next.

The Speedway's largest crowd watched the Sunday races and presentation of the trophy to Grice by Mayor Harold Robinson.

Kenney Fork of Kenton won the first race on the Sunday program with Harold England of Old Fort second. Floyd McKnight of Marion finished third in the race, which had to be restarted three times due to crack-ups on the first and second turns. Dick Brookensocks of Tiffin went over on the first turn.

Glen McKnight took the figure eight race with Bob Harris of Bucyrus coming in second and Carl Hepelfinger of Upper Sandusky third.

In the suicide race, Glen McKnight won on the north track and Bill Collier was first on the south track.

Speedway officials called it one of the biggest days ever seen at the track and said the drivers drove hard all afternoon. There were several accidents but only one driver, Glen McKnight, was shaken up. He went over the bank on the first turn in the feature race.

It has been announced by Speedway officials that there will be no races next Sunday at the local track.

Graham, Groza Pave Way

Grid Brownies Still Tough, Dump San Francisco 20-7

from the west on the 1953 Cleveland Browns: Otto Graham can still throw 'em, Lou (The Toe) Groza can still kick 'em, and the new defensive lineup looks good.

Automatic Otto passed 28 yards to Pete Brewster and the same distance to Dante Lavelli for third-period touchdowns, and Groza booted 47 and 46 yards field goals in the second period in yesterday's 20-7 victory over the San Francisco 49ers.

It was the Browns' first exhibition of the season. They play in Los Angeles Friday against the Rams and have four more practice games before their National Football League opener in Milwaukee Sept. 27 against the Green Bay Packers.

A crowd of 36,273 in Kezar Stadium watched the Browns take the lead on Groza's first field goal then fall behind when Y. A. Tittle, successor to the retired Frankie Albert at quarterback, passed to Hugh McElhenny for a touchdown.

Graham hit on only four of 17 passes in the first half, but he clicked much better in the last half to finish with 12 completions in 30 tries and a gain of 163 yards.

Candidate for German Post Ousted as Nazi

DUESSELDORF, Germany (AP)—Dr. Werner Naumann, controversial candidate of the extreme right-wing German Reich party, was classified by the state interior minister here today as a Nazi offender and ousted from the Sept. 6 parliamentary election campaign.

In campaign speeches, Naumann has compared Hitler with Napoleon and praised Nazism for saving West Europe from Communism.

Coast Guard Dispatches Ship To Aid Freighter

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Coast Guard dispatched the Mackinaw to the St. Mary's River today to help get the grounded freighter William P. Palmer.

Ninth District headquarters said three commercial tugs and two Coast Guard vessels had made an unsuccessful attempt to free the vessel, a 580-foot ore carrier owned by Pittsburgh Steamship Co.

Cabin Cruiser Sinks; All Aboard Are Rescued

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Iowa (AP)—A cabin cruiser, whose eight passengers included Mrs. Curtis LeMay, struck an underwater obstruction and sank in Lake Manawa here last night.

Passengers were rescued by the park water patrol and private boatsmen before the boat settled to the bottom.

The boat owner, Lyle O. Remde, president of a tire sales company in Omaha, said he had been taking Omaha friends for rides. At the time of the accident those aboard included Mrs. LeMay, wife of the commanding general of the Strategic Air Command, Offutt Air Force Base; Mrs. LeMay's daughter, her sister and brother-in-law and their two children.

Ancient Cars at Work

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—The annual trip of the Arizona Horseless Carriage Club from Tucson to the Grand Canyon and return — A round trip of 760 miles—was completed by all but two of the 16 ancient automobiles participating. A Stutz Bearcat broke down in the mountains 200 miles north of here and a Stanley Steamer had to be towed home after one of its two cylinders burned out on the return trip.

Minor Leaguer Breaks Baseball Throw Record

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP)—Don Grate, Chattanooga Lookout centerfielder, threw a baseball 443 feet, 3½ inches here yesterday to better his own world's distance record.

His previous record of 434 feet, 1-inch was officially recognized and the ball is in the Cooperstown, N. Y., Baseball Museum.

Loyal Daughters Class Holds Business Session

Loyal Daughters Class of Emmanuel Baptist Church met Thursday at the home of Mrs. Hickman DePriest on N. Main St. Mrs. Mary Hughes led the group in devotions and prayers. Group singing was accompanied by Miss Dorothy Goyer on the accordion.

Mrs. Eva Condron conducted the business meeting in the absence of the president, Mrs. Ruth Monahan. For the program, Bible questions were answered, and a selection was given by Miss Goyer.

On Sept. 17 the group will meet at the home of Mrs. Imo Scott in Kirkpatrick for a class picnic.

ACROSS THE COUNTER

When a roof fire got out of hand, it burned about a third of Glenn White's home. Glenn had a $10,000 house and $3,500 insurance. Naturally, it appeared his insurance might just "stretch."

Earl J. Andrews

But Glenn learned fast. Like most of us who consider the cost to rebuild, he thought in terms of new construction only.

Actually, though, the contractor first removed the debris. Charred wood, rubble, water-soaked plaster. Then came the task of "remodeling" and "repairing" partly damaged portions. Finally the easy work of building the new wing.

So, while only a third of the house was damaged, the cost of putting it back in first-class shape totaled nearly $5,600.

Glen was able to increase his house mortgage to make up the difference. But he is well aware he is paying back at 6% interest, $2,100 which wouln't have been necessary with more adequate insurance.

Take a tip from his experience. Call us NOW to bring your own life insurance up to safer limits.

Convict Admits Slaying Priest

Confession Signed By Prison Fugitive

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—A fugitive from the Indiana Reformatory admitted late yesterday he shot and killed a Kansas City Catholic priest in a river-bottom field near Kansas City last July 16.

Detective Sgt. Frank Bennett of Kansas City said William Jackson Townsend, 23, signed a statement admitting he shot the Rev. Robert A. Hodges.

Bennett quoted Townsend's statement as saying he shot the priest, who was dressed in nonclerical clothes when the priest made advances to him. The statement said Father Hodges picked up Townsend as he was hitchhiking through Kansas City, made advances to him as they drove, and later stopped the car in a secluded area.

Townsend told Bennett he shot the priest with a .38-caliber revolver he had borrowed after his escape June 5 from the Indiana Reformatory.

Townsend was arrested Saturday in Logansport, Ind., by FBI agents who said a woman acquaintance of Townsend's had told of seeing Father Hodges' identification papers in Townsend's possession.

Federal charges against him include two counts of unlawful flight to escape prosecution, one of them in the Hodges slaying, and an auto theft charge at Louisville, Ky.

He was also questioned about the recent fatal shootings of two truck drivers on the Pennsylvania Turnpike, but denied these and said he never had been in Pennsylvania.

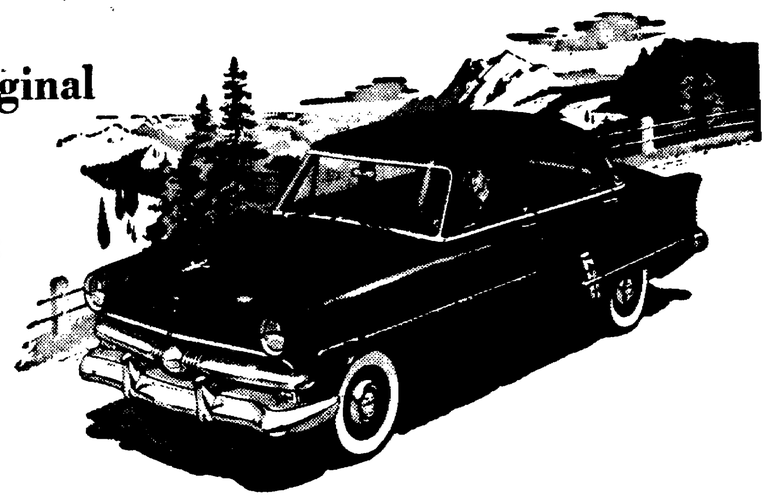
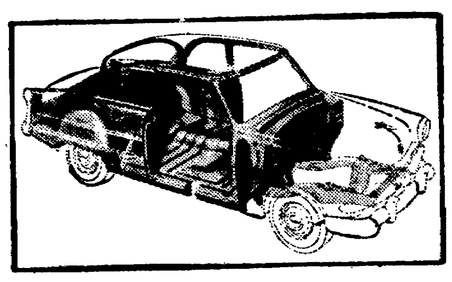
Keeps its value better than any other car!

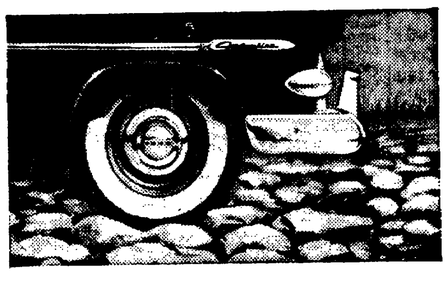
Used car dealers report that Fords return more of their original cost than any other car—and there are 41 reasons why:



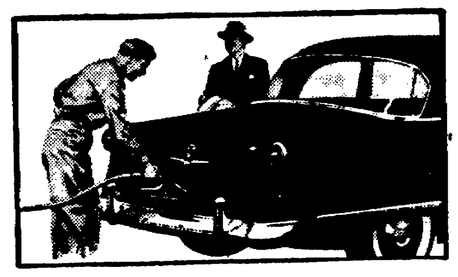
Take power. Ford's two high-compression engines are real leaders in their class. Ford's the only car in the low-price field to offer you the smooth power of a V-8 engine. And no other car in any field has so modern a Six.



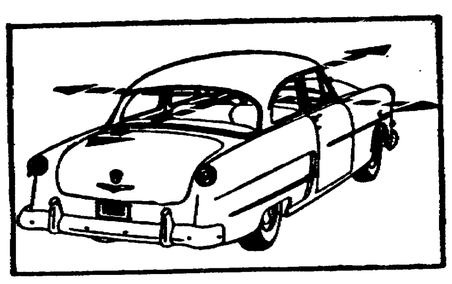
Take build. Ford's Crestmark body gives you style-setting beauty with rugged "build" underneath. Where many cars are bolted Fords are welded hull-tight to keep out rust-causing weather and dirt.



Take ride. Ford's wonderful, new ride reduces front end road shock up to 80%. New spring and shock absorber action gives you the easy ride you want without gas-eating extra weight.



Take savings. Ford's Automatic Power Pilot saves on every gallon of gas. It automatically adjusts carburetion, ignition and combustion to make every drop of gas work its heart out.



Take visibility. Ford gives you the "all-around" view you need in today's fast-moving traffic. A curved one-piece windshield, ear-wide rear window and large "picture windows" all around make sure you have Full-Circle visibility.

Take drives. Only Ford in its field gives you a choice of a completely automatic drive, Fordomatic, the finest, most versatile automatic you can buy . . . fuel-saving Overdrive . . . or easy-shifting Conventional Drive.

Radio and Television

By JOHN CROSBY

Eight Years of TV News

Eight years ago this month, NBC-TV hired Sy Aonet, just out of the Army Signal Corps, to cover news in New York with a newsreel camera. Today the network has 188 full and part-time cameramen covering 104 cities in the U.S. and 50 foreign countries. Until recently, NBC was the only network not dependent on outside sources for its news film. This year CBS dropped its contract with Telenews and entered the competition with its own fast-growing TV news organization.

J. CROSBY

Covering the news of the world for television is a pretty frustrating business. Unlike the newsreel cameraman, the TV reporter has daily deadlines to meet. Unlike the newspaper and wire service boys, who also have daily deadlines, he can't send his story by wire. He must get bulky cans of film across great distances, through customs, on planes and back to the States for editing while the story is still alive.

NEARLY EVERY MEANS of transportation there is — native runner, camel, horse, helicopter, motorcycle, and jet plane — has been hired, cajoled or commandeered by the TV news boys to send film on its way. Transporting film is a terribly expensive operation. NBC pays $3,500 a month just to get it through customs. There's a customs man on call in New York 24 hours a day to go to the NBC labs and clear film that has just arrived. The network pays for his time.

Some countries—notably Egypt, Brazil, Turkey and Argentina — add to the cameraman's headaches by insisting that the film be developed and censored before it leaves the country. This rule has killed many a good story for TV.

Rarely does any newsman get the kind of cooperation on a story that NBC's Joe Oexle ran into in Switzerland. He wanted to take pictures of a Swiss tunnel through the Alps which would be blown up in the event of enemy invasion from that direction.

THE SWISS NATIONAL Railroad backed up trains for miles and even set up lights in the tunnel. Then they had Oexle lie down on the track and film oncoming trains which were shuttled off just before they reached him.

Most TV news cameramen, whose ages range from 33 to 55, formerly worked for theater newsreel companies. Some were trained by the Army Signal Corps. A few were still photographers. One man, Harry Ellis, the Christian Science Monitor correspondent in Bayreuth, became a TV cameraman overnight. He was working for NBC radio as well as the Monitor when the French passenger ship Champolion broke in two and sank off Lebanon.

Ellis borrowed a camera and some film from a shop in Bayreuth and filmed the story. His pictures were so good that NBC made him their TV correspondnet on the spot.

IN EIGHT YEARS NBC has built up a vast film library which grows at the rate of 240,000 feet of film a month. Unhappily, though, only a fraction of the two to three million feet of news film shot each year at tremendous expense is ever seen by the network audience.

"The Camel News Caravan" and "Today" both have daily deadlines which the cameramen break their backs to meet. But rarely does either show use more than a few minutes of film on any one story.

A man may have put in many gruelling hours shooting a story and getting it off to New York, only to have it turn up on Camel cut down to, say, one minute. If the viewer, for whose edification all this time and money has been spent, leans over to tie his shoe he may miss the entire story.

Of course the film is not entirely wasted. It may be used on other shows, or sent to local stations serviced by NBC news, or stored in the film library.

Driver, Two Others Hurt at Speedway

Two spectators and a driver were taken to City Hospital Sunday afternoon for treatment of injuries received in two separate mishaps at the Marion Speedway. They were released shortly after.

Norma Williams, 20, of near Tiffin and Mrs. Isabell Odell, 35, of 835½ Silver St. were struck by a tire from a race car. Evidently the tire flew up in the crowd and hit the two spectators. Norma Williams showed no signs of injuries while Mrs. Odell suffered abrasions of her arm.

Harry G. Horne of Lima, a driver at the Speedway Sunday, was treated for abrasions.

Bucyrus Lists Second Polio Case for Year

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS — Bucyrus' second case of polio was reported here today with the illness of Sharon Pettit, 11, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cannes H. Pettit.

The child became ill Thursday morning and an examining physician said she was in the early stages of a mild case of polio. She has been removed to Children's Hospital, Columbus.

Larry Heid, 11, son of Mrs. Walter Heid, has been in the Columbus hospital since Aug. 12. His condition is fair.

PETROL TRAFFIC

More than two-thirds of the 150,000 tank cars used by American railroads are employed in transporting petroleum products, and one-fifth are used by the chemical industry.

$145 LESSON

ST. LOUIS, Mo.—Alfred Knoblelock swore he would give up driving after he was fined $145 for leaving the scene of an accident, speeding and failing to stop at two intersections. He said he was nervous, overworked and "too scared to drive."

Five Arrests Reported In Week-End Traffic

Five week-end traffic arrests were reported today by Marion police.

Thomas E. Martin, 26, of Cleveland was charged with driving left of center, Jacob Belt, 18, of Mt. Gilead with having an open muffler on his car, Connie Mae Cole of 797 Waples St. with driving without a driver's license, and John Marlow Endicott, 23, of 458 Bellefontaine Ave. with permitting an unlicensed driver to operate a motor vehicle. Miss Cole and Endicott were arrested together

Belt, Endicott and Miss Cole were to appear in Municipal Court for hearings today and Martin was released to appear in court on Aug. 29.

Willis M. Weatherhead of 1203 Bryant St. was charged with having insufficient brakes on his car.

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market slipped lower today in a quiet manner.

The decline went to between 1 and 2 points at the most with the majority of issues posting small fractional losses. Gains were small and scattered.

Railroads, whose performance is under close scrutiny by technicians, were lower after starting mostly unchanged to higher.

Other major divisons leaning lower included air lines, coppers, chemicals, distillers, and motors. Mixed divisions included steels and aircrafts. The oils, utilities, and radio-televisons held steady.

Chicago Grain Market

CHICAGO (AP) — Grains had a steady tone in fairly active dealings at the opening on the Board of Trade today.

Wheat started to a cent higher, September $1.84-1.84¼; corn was unchanged to ¼ higher, September $1.48⅞-1.49, and oats were unchanged to ⅝ higher, September 73⅞. Soybeans were ¼-1½ cents higher, September $2.47½-2.48.

FLEXIBLE QUARTERS

Trailers which expand, from the eight-foot width of a freight carrier on the highway, to a 14-foot width while parked, emphasize the flexibility of the modern vehicle. The expansible side walls permit their use as a 14-by-20-foot room, for displays, classrooms, or photo laboratory.

Steve Canyon — By Milton Caniff

MASTER EASTER, DID YOU NOT SEE THE WARNING ROCKET FROM THE MOUNTAIN? THE PRINCESS IS UNDER ATTACK!
GENTLE DOWN THEM JITTERY HUMP JOCKEYS IN THET SUPPLY TRAIN! HAPPY'S HOOLIGANS IS HERE T' RIDE SHOTGUN ON YE! WE'LL GIT YE HOME—ALL HUNKY-DAISY!
THE PATROL YOU SENT OUT, MASTER!
O HEAD HOOLIGAN, THE REDS ATTACK THE MOUNTAIN IN STRENGTH! THEIR FLANKS AND REAR ARE WELL COVERED! —THEY DO NOT SEEM TO KNOW WE ARE HERE!
THEN WE'LL SET A SPELL —T'LL WE GIT OUR ORDERS!
MEANWHILE — ON THE MOUNTAIN THE CHINESE REDS STEP UP THE INTENSITY OF THEIR ATTACK...

Chicago Drivers Raise Lamp Post Score

CHICAGO (UP)—The Park District reported that Chicago motorists are taking better aim.

The district said that during 1952, motorists collided with 661 lamp posts on Park District boulevards, an increase of 48 over the previous year.

Francis D. Wyatt, Park District electrical engineer, said the average replacement cost was $375 when the pole was completely demolished. That happened 365 times, he said.

All told, the errant autoists bumped 827 fixed units of electrical equipment, including lamp posts, at a total repair cost of $100,867.89.

Entire Class Shows Up 50 Years Later

ST. MARYS, Kan. (UP)—A local high school graduating class claimed a longevity record at its reunion this commencement season.

The class had eight members when it was graduated in 1903. On its 50th anniversary all eight members, still vigorous, attended the reunion. And their teacher of half a century ago presented the anniversary certificates.

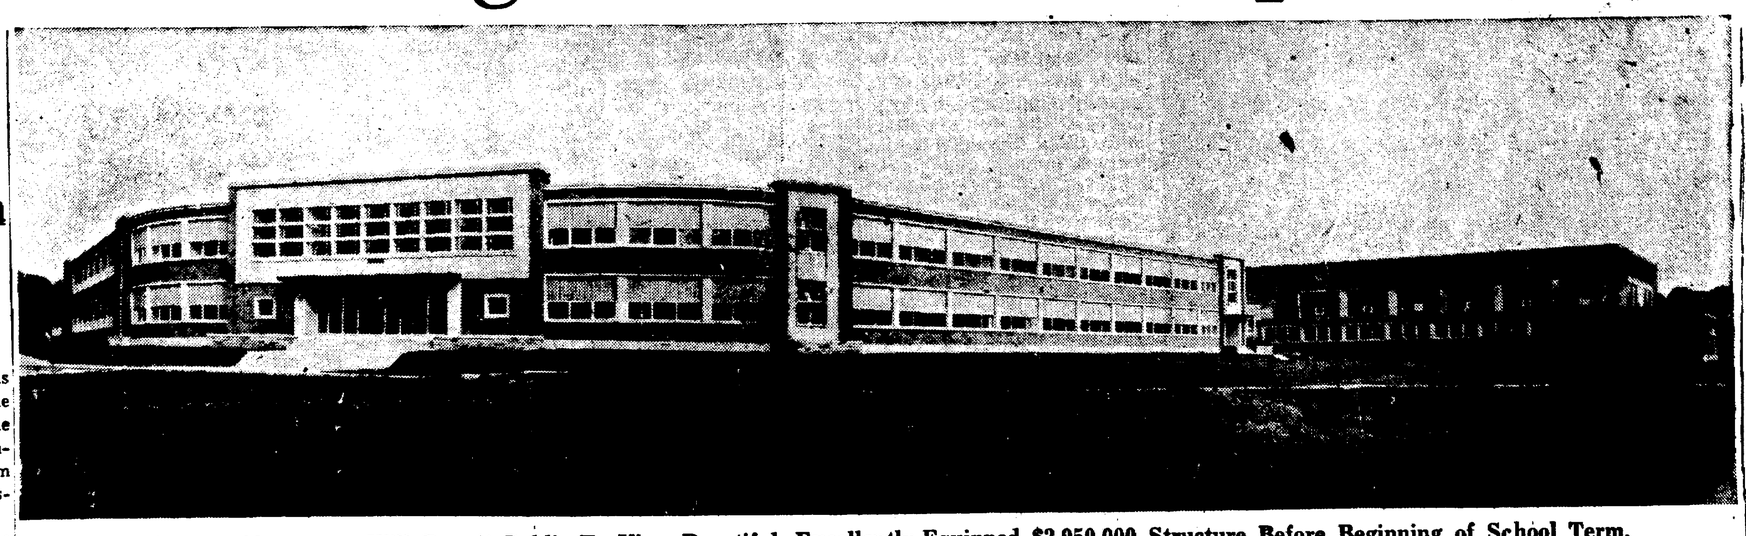
Open House Program Marks Completion of School



Week-Long Observance Will Permit Public To View Beautiful, Excellently-Equipped $2,950,000 Structure Before Beginning of School Term.

Public May Inspect New Harding High

Formal Dedication Friday Will Climax Activities of Week

Five days of open house this week will mark completion of the new Harding High School. The school will be open for public inspection from 2 to 4 p.m. and from 7 to 9 p.m. Monday through Thursday.

A special open house will be held on Wednesday morning from 8:30 to 10:30. Lester L. Dickey, superintendent of the Marion City Schools, said the special time was arranged at the request of night-shift workers who would otherwise be unable to make the tour of the new building.

Friday night will climax the ceremonies. At 8 p.m. the school will be officially dedicated and turned over to Rodney Cox, president of the board of education by J. T. McLaughlin, an architect with the firm of McLaughlin and Reid.

Making the dedication speech will be the president of the University of Minnesota, Dr. James Lewis Morrill. Dr. Morrill is a native of Marion. He will be present with his wife, also a former resident here.

The program will last only one hour, from 8 to 9 p.m. Besides the main speech, representatives of several organizations in Marion will make short speeches as they present gifts for the school to Cecil Gabler, principal.

The architects who designed the new school will be represented by McLaughlin. C. E. Knowlton, whose company was the general contractor for the structure, will also be present at the dedication.

During this week, several civic groups in the city will lunch and

Another Step Forward

Director of Instruction Named in City Schools

Marion's school system took another forward step this week when Lester L. Dickey, superintendent of schools, announced the appointment of Harold Edwards to fill the post of director of instructions.

In making the announcement, Dickey said the position is common in most of the school systems in the state. Marion's board of education authorized the position three years ago, but was unable to find a man of the capabilities of Edwards to fill the vacancy.

Edwards will begin his job in the 1953-54 school year. His duties consist of studying the present curriculum in cooperation with parents, teachers and principals to try to find any means of improving it. He will also be in charge of the education program, which will entail indoctrinating new teachers in the methods used in Marion schools.

HAROLD EDWARDS

Edwards was born in Puryear, Tenn. He was graduated from Murray State Teachers College in Murray, Ky., and received his masters degree from Teachers College at Columbia University. At present, he is a candidate for a doctors degree from the same school.

Edwards has had an active interest in sports. He has been a basketball official since 1930 and is a member of the National Association of Basketball Officials. He served in the Army for seven years, from 1939 to 1946, where he was a military instructor, and coach in baseball, track, and swimming. He also coached and participated in athletics in high school and college.

Orangeburg, N. Y. is Edwards' present home, but he will move to Marion as soon as he is able to find a suitable home for his family.

Edwards, who is 39-years-old, has two children, aged nine and seven. He has had teaching experience in Tennessee, Arkansas, and Florida. While in Florida, he did curriculum revision work while serving as an instructor at Edison High School in Miami.

Also in Miami, he organized an "Effective Living Club" which had 200 members from the student body. He was also director of religious education at the First Christian Church in Miami.

Facilities Expanded

Five New Courses Slated For Coming School Year

Students at the new Harding High School will be offered five new courses of study this fall.

They are an industrial arts course, a completely new art course, an office practice course, physical education course for sophomores, and a science survey course. They were made possible by expanded facilities at the new high school.

According to Cecil Gabler, principal, one reason for the additions is to make the curriculum more interesting and thus encourage more students to complete their high school education. Another is that the additional training offered by the new courses will help the school to better serve the needs of the entire community.

The industrial arts course, a three-year program providing three full credits toward graduation, is designed for boys not going into the specific trades. Units of the course will include foundry work, machine metal work, woodworking, mechanical drawing, graphic arts, sheet metal work, electrical work and some ceramics. The integrated program will provide experience in all the areas of study with some degree of specialization possible in the last year. Printing, mechanical drawing and shop teachers will be instructors for the course.

A completely new art course is the second addition. Included in the course will be subjects such as sketching, design drawing, and work in the various crafts. The art room, fully equipped for study of almost all forms of art, will include a ceramics kilm, a loom and other like equipment. This course will be a one-period or two-period basis so that it may be taken for either a full credit or half-credit.

The office practice course will be for any commercial major and instruction will be given in the use of duplicating machines, filing cabinets, adding machines and dictating machines and correct telephone procedure. It will be a full credit course.

Physical education for sophomores is made possible by the large gym facilities at the new building. Previously, the sophomores had received only a half-year of health instruction because of limited facilities in the old building. But beginning next fall, all sophomores will receive one semester of physical education and one semester of health instruction.

The science survey course is a substitution for a course called radio and electricity at the old Harding High School. It will involve the practical applications of the various physical sciences without becoming highly technical. The old radio and electricity course was begun as a preparatory pre-induction subject and was somewhat more of a technical nature that is needed for normal high school instruction. It was eliminated from the curriculum following the close of last school year.

New Building Offers Latest In Equipment

Modern Facilities Make Harding One of Best Schools in State

The new Harding High School building, completed in a year and a half, will offer Marion high school students the most modern facilities and accommodations for almost any phase of high school instruction.

Built at a cost of $2,950,000, contracts for the new structure were let Nov. 7, 1951, and construction got under way Dec. 3.

Ground was broken Nov. 16 with J. D. Torrance, then president of the Marion Board of Education, lifting the first shovel of dirt. On June 30 of this year, the general contractor, Knowton Construction Co., had completed his work at the new school. Landscaping men continued work on the grounds throughout the summer.

Complete in nearly every detail, the school by all comparison should be one of the best in the state for its size.

Its outer walls are constructed of a "pink" brick, similar to the State Street Junior High School building in color.

The floor plan of the building resembling a hollow square, the north and west sides of the square will comprise the two-story academic or classroom wings. The main entrance faces the northwest.

The building is located on a section of a 40-acre school lot in southeast Marion, bounded by Mandana Ave. on the north and Seminole Ave. on the west. The football stadium is located on the southern end of the property, approximately 200 feet from the auditorium-gymnasium wing.

U. of Minnesota President Once Was Newspaperman

Dr. Morrill, Dedication Speaker, Born in Marion

Dr. James Lewis Morrill, president of the University of Minnesota and a native of Marion, will deliver the main speech at the dedication of the new Harding High School August 28.

Accompanying Dr. Morrill to Marion for the ceremony will be his wife, the former Freda Rhodes of Marion. They were married on June 22, 1915 and have three children, Sylvia Morrill Todd, Mary Louise Morrill Lichtenberg, and John Rhodes Morrill.

Dr. Morrill has been president of the University of Minnesota since July 1, 1945 when he succeeded Dr. Walter C. Coffey who retired. He was elected to the post in 1944 and was formally inaugurated on April 25, 1946.

The son of Harrison Delmont and Mary Lewis Morrill, he was born in Marion on Sept. 24, 1891. He received his bachelor's degree from Ohio State University in 1913. He then went to work for the Cleveland Press as a reporter. Later, he was promoted to acting managing editor of the paper.

HE LEFT the Cleveland Press to serve with the Food Administration for two years. He returned to the Press for a short time in 1919 and then accepted the position of alumni secretary and editor at Ohio State. Since that time he has been engaged in educational work.

Dr. Morrill holds the LL.D degree from Miami University, Oxford, O., (1936), Ohio State (1945), University of Wyoming (1946), University of Cincinnati (1948), Carleton College (1950), Macalester College (1951), and Northwestern University (1952). In addition he received the L.H.D. (Doctor of Humanities) from Muhlenberg College in 1949.

While at Ohio State, following his job as alumni secretary, he served as instructor in journalism and education, junior dean of the College of Education, and in 1932, he became vice president of the university. In 1941, he was chosen for the position of president of the University of Wyoming.

ONE OF DR. MORRILL'S chief enthusiasms as university administrator is the encouragement of research. He also believes the relationship between university research projects and the industry and agriculture of the state or region supporting the institution should be close and constructive.

DR. JAMES LEWIS MORRILL

Dr. Morrill is a member of many different organizations. He was president of the Association of Land-Grant Colleges and Universities in 1947-48; chairman of the executive committee, 1948-49; and is now a member of the special committee on federal legislation.

He served as chairman of the American Council on Education in 1950-51; and holds important committee posts in the National Association of State Universities. He is a member of the National Commission on Accrediting; is chairman of the United States Advisory Commission on Educational Exchange of the Department of State, and was vice president of the Association of American Universities in 1952-53.

In addition, Dr. Morrill serves on the board of Curators of Stephens College, Columbia, Missouri; and is a member of the American Library Association, The Navy League of the United States, the Army Ordnance Association, the College of Electors of the Hall of Fame, New York University, The Ford Scholarship Board, the grants advisory committee of the National Fund for Medical Education, and the board of directors of the United Community Defense Services, Inc.

He also holds many Minnesota positions. Included in these are membership in the Minnesota Historical Society Executive Council, the Minnesota Public Health Association, the Minneapolis Public Library Board, and the Minnesota Poll Advisory Committee.

He is a member of the Minnesota chapter of the American-Scandinavian Foundation, the Minnesota United Nations Association, the State Commission on Vocational and Higher Education, the Minnesota Community Research Council, the Minneapolis Society of Fine Arts, the Minneapolis Foundation and the Minnesota State Art Society.

HIS SOCIETIES and fraternities include Phi Beta Kappa, Phi Kappa Phi, Phi Delta Kappa, Alpha Psi Delta, Sigma Delta Chi, Alpha Sigma Phi, Phi Eta Sigma, Pi Delta Epsilon. Alpha Phi Omega, and the American branch of the Newcomen Society of England for which he is Minnesota vice chairman.

His home in Minneapolis is at 1005 Fifth St., S. E., which has been used as a residence for University of Minnesota presidents since 1911. This property was deeded to the University by heirs of the late Gov. John S. Pillsbury who is often referred to as the "father of the University of Minnesota."

Dr. Morrill makes his summer home at Otsego Lake, Mich. He will appear in Marion after completing a European tour which he took this summer.

Honor Society Part of School Life Since '25

Organization Gives Recognition to Top Senior Grade Students

The National Honor Society at Harding High School was founded in 1925, four years after the national organization was formed.

Students must be seniors and in the upper fourth of their class to be considered for the society at Harding. Some schools take juniors into the group.

The seniors at Harding are voted on for leadership, character and service by members of the school faculty and members of the senior class who are eligible for the society. Not more than 15 percent of any senior class is taken into the society.

Approximately 30 or 40 students are initiated into the society each year. Miss Isabel Freer is sponsor of the group. She is French and Latin instructor at Harding.

This year 42 seniors were initiated into the society. It was probably the largest number ever admitted into the organization at Harding.

ERRED IN 64TH GAME

PHILADELPHIA (UP)—Del Rice, catcher for the St. Louis Cardinals, will remember his 64th game this year. After playing 63 games without an error he failed to hold a third strike pitch to Willie Jones, enabling the Phillies' third sacker to reach base safely. The pitcher for the Redbirds was Harvey Haddix. Rice was happy, however, at the final results. The Cards won, 4-3.

Open House

tour the school as their regular meeting program. Those who have been invited include the Lions Club, Kiwanis, Rotary, Junior Chamber of Commerce, Exchange, the 20 and 30, the Altrusa Club, and other professional men's and women's clubs in the city.

Students Will Be Guides

During the open house program some 125 students will be stationed in various locations throughout the building to answer questions of visitors and explain the uses of the rooms.

Faculty members will also be stationed in some places in the building and will serve as receptionists at the doors. As each visitor enters the school, he will be given a diagram of the building and will be able to proceed at his own speed.

This is a change from the original plan which was to have guided tours through the building. School officials have been forced to abandon that plan because of the large number of visitors expected. They estimate that from 12,000 to 20,000 persons will go through the new school.

Final Open House

There will be another open house session following the dedication program. This will last from 9 to 10 p.m. The school will not be open to the public during the day on Friday because of the work involved in preparing it for the ceremonies that night, Dickey said.

The ceremonies this week mark the final phase of the construction of the new school. The structure cost nearly $2,950,000 and took one and one-half years to build. The building was started in November, 1951, and was just completed this summer.

Harding High is one of the most modern schools in the country. It has a capacity for handling 1,500 students and is equipped with the most modern devices obtainable for school use.

The 1,078 students who will make up the first classes in the new school will enter the building on Sept. 8. Included in this number are pupils in the tenth, eleventh, and twelfth grades.

About 300 of these will be in their senior year and will be the first class to graduate in the new building.

The building of the school was right on schedule according to officials. The building was originally planned to open this fall and everything went according to plans. Landscaping work was begun in June and is now virtually completed.

After the building was completed, the workers at the school had the job of moving all the equipment into place in the various rooms. This was a task which took the better part of a month. Desks had to be installed and any movable matter had to be taken out of storage and put into its proper location.

Zoning Ordinances Give Hospitals Aid

CHICAGO (UP)—Zoning ordinances in the nation's largest cities recognize the trend toward letting general hospitals provide for patients with communicable and mental diseases.

The American Society of Planning officials reports that New York, Boston, Detroit, Philadelphia, Washington and Baltimore permit hospitals to care for such patients in any zone where general hospitals may be located.

Most up-to-date zoning ordinances govern hospital location on the basis of size and function, rather than the type of patient, the society said.

It said the exclusion of specialized hospitals for many particular location in an urban area solely on the basis of danger to public health cannot be justified in the light of medical findings.

LONG PLAYING TROMBONIST

BOSTON (UP)—Henry Woebler has been playing the trombone for more than 65 years—Now 80, he recalls having played in theater orchestras for such stage stars as Joseph Jefferson, Richard Mansfield, Harry Lauder, Maude Adams and Mrs. Leslie Carter.

Building

tends westward from one corner. Inside the square is a 215 feet by 133 feet open courtyard, offering light and air in abundance.

The new structure contains 2,300,000 cubic feet of space. Used in the building were 4,800 cubic yards of concrete, 100 tons of reenforcing steel, 560 tons of structural steel, 24,000 square yards of plaster, and 2,060,000 brick units. The brick units included 80,000 pieces of glazed tile. A total of 30,000 board feet of lumber was used and the roof area of the building amounted to 2.45 acres.

Built To Take Two Floors

Unlike the classroom wings, the rest of the structure is only one story high, although the foundations are prepared to support a second story should it be necessary to enlarge in the future.

The auditorium-gymnasium extending westward from the southern side of the square has "only one-floor facilities but the auditorium height nearly equals that of the classroom wings.

Providing excellent physical education and storage facilities, this section of the building measures an overall 170 feet by 168 feet. The auditorium floor is 106 feet by 99 feet and will comfortably seat 1,500 persons. The basketball court measures 84 feet by 50 feet and is expansive enough to accommodate two cross courts of the same size. Folding bleachers to seat 1,200 spectators are along the north and south sides of the floor.

A stage built on the east end provides an acting stage of 47 feet by 18 feet with a backstage area seven feet in depth.

Gym Facilities

Other gymnasaum facilities are located along the north, south and west side of the floor space itself. These include stage property and work rooms; understage and regular storage rooms; large locker, shower and dressing rooms, on the north side for the girls and on the south for the boys; apparatus rooms; visiting and home team basketball dressing rooms; athletic supply and rubbing rooms; an athletic office for both boys and girls; and janitor's rooms. Rest rooms with outside entrances are located in a rear corner of the building and a special concession room is located off a rear hallway.

In the lobby inside the entrance which fronts Seminole Ave. on the west is a large trophy cabinet.

A one-story wing on the east side is divided into three sections, each leading eastward off a main hallway. They house an art and music section, a dining hall and kitchen, and the industrial arts department.

The art and music wing was planned for ample music practice accomodations and includes a large art room and a special band and vocal room which will hold 125 students. There are also five small individual practice rooms for instrumental students along with a music library and uniform and robe storage rooms. An art craft shop and supply room complete the art facilities.

Kitchen Included

A large kitchen adjoins the dining room, which contains a platform for use as a meeting place for organizations. A separate dining room is provided for the faculty.

Included in the industrial arts wing are mechanical drawing and graphic arts rooms, a photography darkroom and a woodworking and metal shop.

On the inside of the east wing, facing into the courtyard, is the homemaking department, with clothing and food laboratories and a homemaking and family relations classroom. A special automobile driver's education room is included in this wing.

Extending southward off the east wing through a tunnel is the heating and storage plant, which will provide the latest controlled gas heating facilities. Each room of the entire school building will have individual air heating condition system.

Labs In South Wing

All of the laboratory and vocational departments, including science and auto and shop mechanics, will be in the south wing of the structure.

Separate rooms will be available for the physics, chemistry and biology departments on the inside of the south wing. In the other half of the wing will be housed the machine and auto mechanics shop, with considerable storage space, two classrooms and a locker room.

No open passageways into the middle courtyard from the outside are provided but the court will be accessible from three inside entrances from various wings.

Two large study halls on the second floor of the classroom wings will seat at least 80 students each. A large library will provide 132 seats, the dining hall will seat 400 and a specially designed speech room will have a capacity of 143 seats.

Approximately 20 recitation rooms are on the two floors of the main wings, and they also contain several academic departments. Four rooms along one upstairs hall will house bookkeeping, office practice, shorthand and typing classes. Small conference rooms are provided, along with a nurse's office, complete with waiting, dressing and examination rooms.

Available throughout the departments is ample room for office facilities. There is a small greenhouse extending into the middle courtyard from the biology classrooms in the science department.

and especially we are proud of the NEW HARDING HIGH SCHOOL

Marion has made tremendous strides in the past few years in its educational system and the new Harding High is one of the finest in the nation. This coupled with the recently completed State Street Junior High, the new addition at Silver St., Edison Jr. High and Vernon and the addition now under way at Geo. Washington, Pearl, Mark and State Street School will give Marion a school system that will be adequate for many years to come. Incidentally the old Harding High is being remodeled, too, and will be known as Eber Baker Jr. High.

These new buildings, additions and remodeling have filled a definite need and will afford our children a really complete education.

Deans of Boys, Girls Assist Principal

Harding Will Have Deans of Boys and Girls

Darl Gatchell and Miss Isabel Freer Named to New Posts

Darl Gatchell and Miss Isabel Freer will assume new roles this year at the new Harding High School. They will be dean of boys and dean of girls respectively.

The post of dean is a new addition to the high school. The two persons will keep attendance records and offer guidance as well as handle disciplinary problems.

Gatchell is also assistant principal while Miss Freer is a teacher of Latin and French. Both will perform their regular duties in addition to the work required as deans.

Some of the advice which will be given will deal with college selection by graduating students, the best subjects for a pupil to take, and any class changes which a student may wish to make in the course of the year.

The dean system is expected to be improved as time passes. Cecil Gabler, principal of the school, hopes to expand the office to a full-time job in the future.

Both deans will have private offices in which to do their work and meet the students who may wish consultation. These offices are located on the main floor near the principal's office.

Gatchell has been assistant principal at Harding for two years. Miss Freer has been a teacher in the school since the old Harding High was opened in 1915.

HOW ABOUT HORSES?

FOXBORO, Mass. (UP) — The combined ages of four harness horse racing drivers at Bay State Raceway total 270 years. The drivers are James Sullivan and Dan Steele, both of Boston, Eddie Rowe, Providence, R. I., and Joe Bolduc of New Bedford.

NEW BRUSH-KILLER

GENEVA, N. Y. (UP) — A new hormone brush-killer for destruction of small trees or brush has been developed, Dr. Otis F. Curtiss of the New York State Agricultural Experiment Station, reported. It can be sprayed on the foliage or mixed with kerosene or fuel oil and painted on the lower part of the tree to be destroyed.

Speeches Said Drought Cause

HONGKONG (UP) — There's a bad drought in four provinces of Southwest China. The Peiping Peoples Daily says so.

It looks as though local Communist cadres were too busy leading "the struggle against bureaucratism, commandism and breaching of law and discipline," and slowed down anti-drought steps.

The Peoples Daily accuses them of failing to concretely lead the work except uttering empty speeches and issuing directives."

But is is hard to tell just what is happening, at least from reading the Peoples Daily. Here is a sample of the account.

"The drought this year has seriously affected the yield of autumn crops.

"Upon occurrence of the drought, party and administrative leadership organs at the various places have adopted emergency measures and have energetically led the masses in fighting against drought.

"Following the issuance of the 'urgent directive concerning anti-drought and sprout-preserving' to various party committees by the southwest bureau of the Central Committee of the CCP, leadership organs in various places have definitely prescribed that the 'anti-drought and sprout preserving work' should now be taken as the pivotal task overriding all other work.

" 'Anti-drought and sprout preserving' headquarters have been set up in many hsien (counties) under the leadership of secretaries of the hsien committees and magistrates to strengthen the leadership work in the fight against drought.

"During the process of the anti-drought and sprout-preserving work carried out in various places, the erroneous mentality on the part of cadres and the masses were firstly subjected to criticism, patriotic education was linked up, the masses were mobilized for active action, the measure of on-the-spot looking for water sources was adopted, the problems in assessing and grading anti-drought work and in the rational utilization of water were tackled and the anti-drought campaign was unfolded."

SUN SLOT

HARTFORD, Conn. (UP) — Slot machines that dispense three hours worth of "sunshine" in five minutes are giving Old Sol some competition. Operators say that three or four treatments from the ultra-violet light tubes, at a quarter a throw, are the equivalent of a week in Florida.

Public School Music Program Directed by Huffman and Jones

The music program in the city schools is headed by Homer Huffman and L. G. Jones. Huffman has charge of the instrumental division and Jones, the voice division.

Beginning in the fourth, fifth and sixth grades lessons are offered on all standard instruments and from these courses are developed bands and orchestras in each of the 11 grade schools.

Mrs. John Salisbury teaches the instrumental work at Mark and Vernon elementary schools, George Lane, assistant to Huffman, teaches at Oakland, Pearl and Olney elementary schools, and Rudolph Von Unruh teaches at North Main, Oak, Silver, Glenwood and George Washington elementary schools.

The three junior high schools, Eber Baker, Edison, and State Street, each has a band, orchestra and various ensembles. Huffman teaches the instrumental music at Eber Baker, Lane atEdison and Von Unruh at State Street. It will be necessary to have two bands at Eber Baker this fall due to the size of enrollment.

There were approximately 600 students taking instrumental music in the city schools last year.

Huffman and Lane are the instrumental instructors at Harding High School, alternating with the band, and Huffman instructing the orchestra. Instrumental ensembles and class instruction are also taught at the high school. The Harding orchestra will rehearse at 8 a.m. this winter experimenting with this new type schedule. Under the present enrollment Harding will have a 60-piece orchestra and 100-piece band.

In the voice division headed by L. G. Jones, Mrs. Hazel Hinamon is the elementary school supervisor visiting each grade once every two weeks. Mrs. Waldbar and Mrs. Evelyn Redman, assisted by Mrs. George Lane, are the junior high instructors. The junior high choirs can really be called 9th grade choirs since the seventh and eighth grades do not take part. Jones is the instructor at Harding High directing a junior choir, consisting mostly of sophomores, and the Harding High School Choir. Voice ensembles are also directed by Jones.

TAXI WEDDING

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (UP)—A taxicab served as a chapel for the marriage of William Hill and Vera Lett. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Lawrence Gibson in the back seat of David Larck's cab after they were unable to find a justice of the peace. The minister came out from behind the counter of his grocery in nearby Bancroft to officiate.

Even the Tin Can Bows to Progress

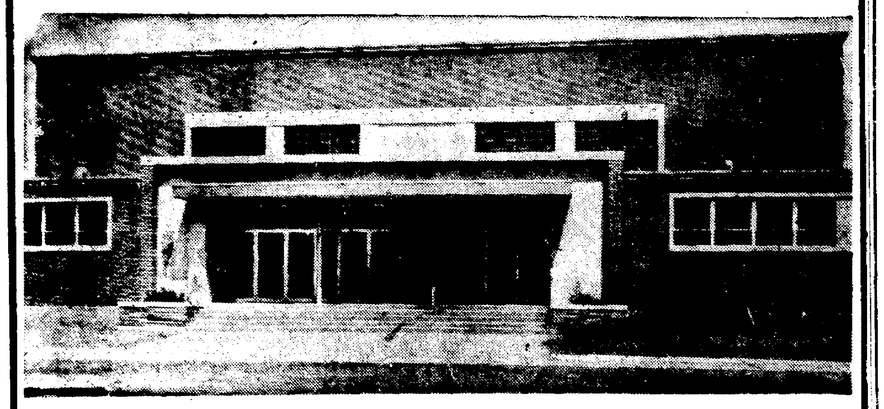
JERSEY CITY, N. J. (UP)—The next time you buy a can of sardines, a can of paint, a can of motor oil, or a can of anything save the container. You may want it as a souvenir some day because eventually enamel will replace the tin in those 32,000,000,000 cans you buy every year.

H. J. Wynn, manager of the American Can Co. plant here, says a tin-free, all-steel motor oil can is being manufactured now as the forerunner of tinless containers for food packaging and other industries.

Two developments make this possible, says Wynn. The first is a recently perfected enamel coating replacing tin plating on the steel sheets from which cans are made. The second is a thermoplastic cement, replacing the tin-lead solder used to seal the side seams.

Wynn explained that current production of a tinless motor oil can represents a major step toward freeing American can-making and can-using industries from dependence on foreign sources of supply, especially during a world crisis.

Old Coast Guard records from Cape Cod tell of great resistance to the building of Nauset Lighthouse in 1838 because of the threat to the wrecking and salvage business.



We Americans Give Credit Where Credit Is Due . . .

We give credit to the people of Marion for building the beautiful Harding High School. This wonderful structure turns a brighter page in the educational history of Marion. It is a big step in the upward trend of the future of our ever advancing city.

Progress Is the Law of Life and Progress Depends On Education

We consider this amazing development in the education of our children an achievement in progress. This achievement is well demonstrated in the erection of the new Harding High School. We, the folks at Scherff's Wayside Furniture, rededicate ourselves to a continued high standard of service to the community, as time and progress march on together.

Education Molds Our Future

American Education should be as modern a business as any you can name—Here in our Marion schools children are educated and trained to become straight-thinking, fair-minded adults—adults who will have the responsibility of running our city and our country. When schools are inefficient and outmoded, our children and our future suffer. The completion of our new school is without a doubt a major advancement towards the educational facilities for our children.

Like other American business firms, we believe that business has a responsibility to contribute to the public welfare.

Marion Harding High School

Cities never stand still. They go forward or they falter and decay. Here in Marion we see signs of steady growth all about us. This progressive seat of Marion County is expanding and all signs point to continuing development.

One of the most important of current improvements is the New Marion Harding High School. This new school represents the very latest in design and equipment.

We here at Sears are proud of the city in which we live, and we extend our sincerest congratulations on the completion of this wonderful new school. In this modern school our boys and girls who will form our government and defend our country tomorrow, will get their education.

Lester Dickey One of Busiest Men in Marion

School Superintendent Participates in Many Civic, Club Activities

One of the busiest men in the Marion area is Lester L. Dickey, superintendent of Marion City schools.

Besides his regular duties as head of all schools in the city, Dickey is also president of the Kiwanis Club, and a board member of the Chamber of Commerce, the Marion chapter of the Red Cross, the Harding Area Boy Scout Council, the Community Concert Society, the Marion chapter of the Cancer Society, the State Parent-Teachers' Association, the Ohio Association for the Supervision and Curriculum Direction, and the Epworth Methodist Church.

In addition, he is the regional director for the Association of Public School Systems. Dickey is director of the midwest region of this national association which has 200 school boards in its membership.

He is also vice president of the Central Ohio Teachers Association, and a member of the Marion County Library Board.

Dickey was born in Dresden. After completing high school at Dresden High, he went to Ohio Wesleyan University where he received his bachelor's degree. From there, he went to Ohio State University for a master's degree. He is now a candidate for a doctor's degree at Teachers College of Columbia University.

The superintendent came to Marion from Painesville where he was superintendent until he made the switch to Marion in 1948.

Before his promotion to head of the Painesville schools, he served as coach, dean of boys, and principal of the high school.

Dickey, who is 50 years old, is married and has three children, David Alan, 7, Anne, 5, and Marflyn, 1½. He and his family live at 631 Windsor St.

Soothe Employees With Eye Appeal

MORRISTOWN, N. J. (UP) — Modern industry has come up with a new employment-recruiting technique—eye appeal.

Gay, light colors in offices, corridors, workng areas, restrooms and cafeteria are supposed to suggest a "come hither" look to employees of a new plant of the Mennen company.

The idea was to achive a pleasing, quieting atmosphere, with the multi-colored rooms and corridors designed to prevent a feeling of confinement.

"Directional coloring" was used in corridors. Thus, a receptionist could say to a visitor, "Take the green corridor until you reach the yellow corridor. Turn there, and it's the first door on your right."

To provide variety and contrast, color schemes in the dining and rest areas are different from those in work areas.

DOG TRAINING

PASSAU (INS)—The chances are that in case of an armed showdown between East and West, the first West Germans to come into physical contact with the enemy will be—dogs. Currently undergoing training as rigorous as any FBI course (for dogs), some 25 selected Alsatians, Dobermans, Boxers and other large-size canine breeds bite and neutralize specially clad "agents" of the type that may typify Soviet inspired tactics on the eve of the September West German elections.

1880 Dance Hall Now Thrives as Showplace of 1953

NEWPORT, R. I. (UP)—One of the brightest oases amid the straw on the summer theater circuit is the Newport Casino Theater.

Compared with most hot-weather homes of the drama it's plush. Like most summer theaters, the Casino once was something else. But instead of being a place where cows were milked or carriages were sheltered, it was a ballroom where the great and rich of the world once waltzed.

The ballroom complete with stage was designed during the 1880's by Stanford White, the famous American architect. Although a separate building, it was built as part of the swank Newport Casino.

White, who designed some of the most fabulous homes in America, personally helped direct construction of the little ballroom. And as workmen gilded the walls, White climbed the scaffolding and painted the center of the proscenium arch.

The dancers have long since gone, but the golden walls remain.

In 1927—years after the ballroom was closed—the Newport Casino converted the building into a theater. A wing was added at the rear and the floor was rebuilt, but the ballroom was left as White designed it.

For nearly 20 years the Casino rented the theater, then sold it to its present owner-manager, Sara Stamm.

On the theater's weekly opening nights members of the Newport summer colony attend in evening dress. Some of America's leading social figures can be found in the quaint boxes and the front rows of the 600-seat orchestra.

As one dowager put it:

TV Stars Spur Rise in Pianos

Tuners Declare Media Caused Hike in Sales

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UP)—The piano is returning to the American home today because of television, members of the National Association of Piano Tuners agreed here recently.

"Radio played havoc with us at first—back in the '20's—but eventually it was helpful, and now that people can actually see the great artists at the keyboard they want even more to try it for themselves," John W. Travis of Hyattsville, Md., an association director, said.

Another veteran piano tuner, R. F. Boelter, of Saginaw, Mich., said more persons are taking piano lessons than ever before in the nation's history. Boelter credited television with an assist.

However, the business of tuning a piano is an odd one indeed, members conceded.

"No person living has perfect pitch," Boelter said. "It's all relative." A tuner doesn't need to know how to read musical notes and less than half of the tuners in America are piano-players themselves.

Joseph Providenti, a tuner from Charleston, W. Va., explained.

"I used to play, but when you tune four or five, or even eight pianos a day, the bong-bong-bong gets on your nerves."

IT'S IN TEXAS

School Board-Bought First Land in 1928

On December 15, 1928 the Marion Board of Education purchased land owned by the Landscape Architect Co. on Seminole Ave. for the site of the Harding Football Stadium. Since that time 41 additional adjacent acres have been purchased for school purposes. The school land now includes the area bordered by Seminole and Mandana Ave. on the west and north and by Indian Mounds and the Marion Cemetery on the east and south. This acreage was purchased from George Probst in 1951 and 1953 and now is the site of the complete Marion Harding High School educational, vocational and athletic plants.

Indian Mounds are so named because of the belief that they could possibly be some of the many crude mounds built by the prehistoric Moundbuilders of this section of the country for their burial grounds. Parts of these mounds are now being leveled off for the construction of athletic fields for the new high school.

On the 30 acres purchased from Probst in 1951 stands the new multi-million dollar school. A landscaping program is now being carried out on this acreage and is right on schedule. Plans call for baseball and softball diamonds, an outdoor gym with tennis and shuffleboard courts, a practice football field, two recreation fields for boys and girls, two all-weather volleyball courts, an outdoor social area, a parking lot and other parking spaces with a total capacity of more than 400 automobiles. To set off the entire project will be some 260 trees, some shrubbery and large expanses of grass.

The School Board is yet undecided upon a use for the remaining 11 acres. It will probably fall into the regular landscape plan.

Congratulations

on the completion of the new

MARION Harding High School

Students Take Part in Many Sports, Drama, Club Activities

Extracurricular activities play a large part in the education of students at Harding High School. Besides the varsity and intramural sports, there are a total of 12 other activities which occupy the spare time of the youths.

Boys and girls have Hi-Y and Tri-Hi-Y clubs which are branches of the YMCA organized within the school.

The Props and Q's give extra training to those students interested in the field of the theater. Members of the club are given special practice in the production and presentation of stage plays. Two or three times each year they present a show to the entire student body.

In addition to the Props and Q's, both the junior and senior classes present their annual class plays.

Library, Office Work

For the student interested in library and office work, there is a special group which is given extra training in these fields.

French and Spanish devotees spend some of their extra time in the "El Club De Espanol" or the "Le Petit Salon." Here they learn more details of the material which had been given them in classwork.

A group of students interested in the art of printing have formed the Printing Club. They get first hand information on the methods and techniques required in that particular field.

Prospective atom busters meet regularly in the Science Club. They have the opportunity for special research. This is the newest of the activities of the school, having been formed only last year.

For the girls in the vocational commercial course at Harding, the Shoshonian Club gives them an opportunity to get together and compare notes on the experiences they have in their fields.

Student Publications

In addition to these clubs, there are also the two student publications, the Harding Herald and the Quiver. The Herald is the weekly newspaper published by the students, and the Quiver is the year book of the school.

Music is not forgotten in the organization of the school. There are the band, orchestra, and glee club for the musically inclined. These groups have the greatest membership of all the organizations of the school, about 150. The other clubs have a membership of from 20 to 30 in each.

Each of the clubs in the school is guided in its activities by a member of the faculty. These advisors are chosen to guide the organizations on the basis of the subjects they teach in class. A chemistry or physic teacher will lead the Science Club; while one of the speech instructors will direct the Props and Q's and two class plays.

Girl Saves Money, Fixes Her Own Car

DALLAS, Tex. (UP)—What may be a thing of the future was recently demonstrated by a young woman in Dallas.

It's women fixing their own cars.

Husky, six-foot Tiny Drews wheeled her car into a "fix-it-ur-self" garage recently. The advising mechanic told her the 1941 model auto needed a new front end.

Undaunted, after six hours of work, Miss Drews emerged from under the renovated car with a few words of advice about women mechanics.

The ex-WAC said "anyone with the slightest idea of mechanics should be able to fix her own car, particularly if there's someone around to give advice when you run into trouble."

The 190-pound girl was determined that she'd fix her own car, which she had bought for 35 dollars. She felt that when a person gets "something for practically nothing" she "ought to try and get something out of it. "That is exactly what Miss Drews did.

Enlisting the aid of a friend, petite Mary Taylor, blonde Miss Drews went to work on her vehicle. The garage furnished the necessary items such as hand tools, hydraulic jack, creepers (to swing under the car with ease), and spring pullers. Miss Drews had already purchased the parts to replace those which were worn out.

A regular garage had informed Miss Drews that the work on her auto would probably cost more than $50. However, by buying her own parts, renting a stall and equipment at the garage and furnishing her own labor, the thrifty ex-WAC did the job for $20.

The job consisted in part of pulling the front wheels off and putting in new spindlepins and bushings.

After six hours beneath the auto, Miss Drews was still smiling, although she admitted she was glad the job was done. She told the garageman that she had better hurry home to change her grease-smeared clothes, as her boy friend was coming over.

Historical Record Is Presented Library

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (UP) — A yellowed 40-page manuscript, containing a record of activities during 1783 of an infantry company in the Revolution, has been presented to the library here.

The book contains the activities of Capt. Nathan Goodale's unit, 5th Massachusetts Regiment, stationed at West Point, N. Y. while the treaty to end the war was drawn. The book was given to the library by Edward B. Prior of Rochester.

Largely a listing of names, the book records furloughs, civilian occupations, clothing and arms issued to the 68 men in the group. Furloughs "from whence to what place" were signed by Gen. George Washington. In December, Pvt. Nathan Walker received a new shirt and pair of shoes. A month later a musket, three flints and 29 cartridges were issued.

Biy Cox of the Dodgers hit .363 for the Harrisbrg Cb in 1941. It was the ony tie in his areer he batted above .300.

Hospital's Bone Bank Gives Aid to Children

Buffalo, N. Y. (UP) — Children's Hospital here has made it possible for children with curvature of the spine, polio, and other orthopedic diseases, to undergo surgery with far less risk and discomfort than ever before, thanks to its bone bank.

The bank, only one of its kind in Western New York, is like an oversized home freezer containing jars and packages of sterilized bones, which can be kept indefinitely.

The bones are from amputated legs and arms, free from disease. They are put through a process which includes washing, cutting into small pieces, and sterilizing before being put into the deep freeze. The bank is made available to other institutions free of charge.

Before its inception, the orthopedist usually obtained bone for graft from a healthy part of the patient, which resulted in much discomfort and a slower recovery.

Shetland Ponies Bred At Ranch in Colorado

COLORADO SPRINGS (INS) — The Haldon Howses have hit on a very satisfying hobby that's almost unique—despite it sounding rather obvious.

They breed Shtland ponies — flesh-and-blood hoby horses — on their 440-acre Hereford ranch in the Black Forest near Colorado Springs. They got heir start last winter buying 25 head of the miniature horses first bred as Welsh pit ponies from Kansas ranches.

Mr. and Mrs. Howes find the Shetlands are extremely gentle, light eaters and generally fun to have around the place where they mingle with the 75 head of registered white-face cattle.

Even smaller than the original ponies in the crop of Shetlands is a spring harvest of tiny colts. The latest, a spotted male, was named Calico for his brown and white coat. Howse notes:

"I found that names of Shetlands are picked mainly as a novelty. Another pony, a female, has been named Pepper — largely because her mother is called Salt."

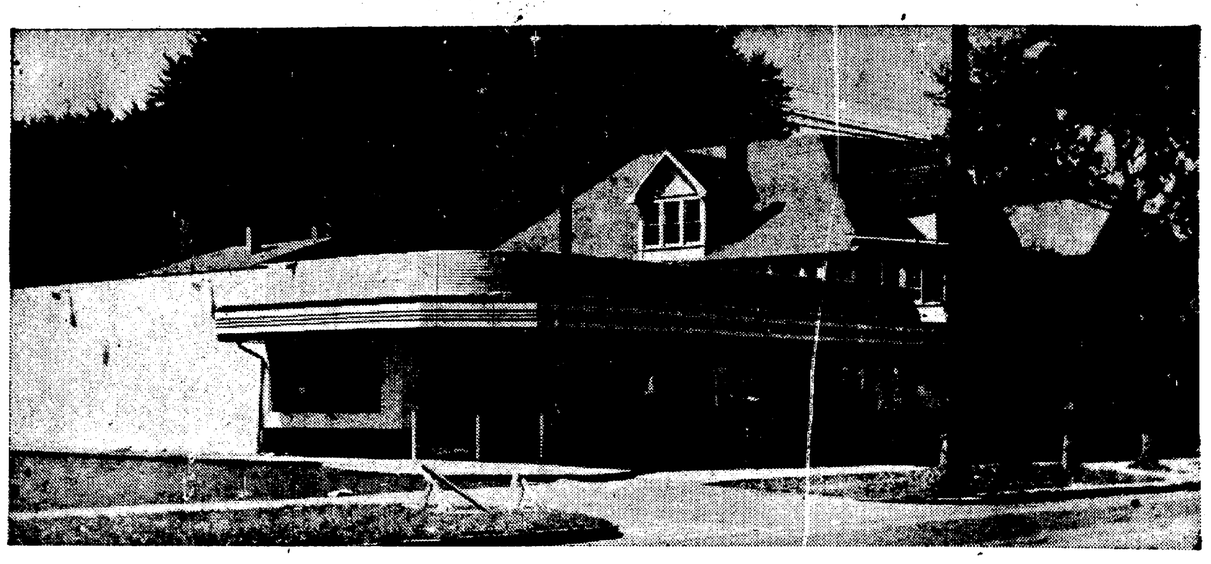
Our Educational System has made tremendous progress since the founding of Wise's and we take pride in the fact that our market has kept pace with it as well as the growth of Marion



Yes, it doesn't seem as long as 44 years, since the foundation of Wise Super Market was established. As Marion has grown, so has the entire Wise family striven to keep pace with this growth. We offer our sincere congratulations to the citizens of this community for their part in making possible a grand, new Harding High School. Our future, in a large part, depends upon an intelligent educated citizenry . . . depends upon individuals who know what this great country stands for . . . who care enough and are intelligently prepared to work for the perpetuation of our ideals of freedom, equality and opportunity.

There are many reasons which account for our growth in this community. In our efforts to progress with the times, we have for many years purchased food stuffs in car-load quantities in order that we are constantly able to offer the citizens of Marion food at very reasonable prices. Even though our prices are low, we have never sacrificed our policy of maintaining the highest standards of quality. Many new innovations have been set up in our Super Market to make shopping here a pleasure, economically and physically. For instance, specialized departments are scattered throughout our store including frozen foods section, candy department, drug department, dairy and milk bar, fresh meat department, and literally thousands of grocery items ranging from fresh, hot roasted coffee to such delicacies as imported Crepe Suzettes. Another example, too, of our keeping pace with the growth of our city is the recent installation of our air-conditioning system — for your comfort and convenience. "It is the wise buyer who buys at Wise — because your satisfaction is absolutely guaranteed, or your money will be cheerfully refunded, on any purchase in our store."

Group Has 5 Main Objectives

PTA's Aid in Children's Development

The Parent-Teacher Association has grown to local prominence and has become an important function in our school system.

The PTA is built around five objectives:

1. To promote welfare of children and youth in the home, school, church and community.
2. To raise the standards of home life.
3. To secure adequate laws for the care and protection of our children and youth.
4. To bring into closer relationship the home and the school so that parents and teachers may cooperate intelligently in the training of the child.
5. To develop between the educators and the public such united efforts as will secure for every child the highest advantages in physical, mental, social and spiritual education.

4 Other Policies

Four other policies govern the PTA.:

1. The purpose of the association shall be educational and shall be developed through conferences, committees and projects.
2. The association shall be non-commercial, non - sectarian and non-partisan.
3. The association shall not seek to direct the administrative activities of the school or to control its policies.
4. The association may cooperate with other organizations and agencies active in child welfare.

Each Marion school, with the exception of Harding High and Vernon Elementary, has a PTA unit. So that these units may work together there is a City PTA Council which functions to provide information and instruction to the local units. Mrs. Robert McCombs of 128 N. Seffner Ave. is president of the Council.

The executive board of the Marion Parent Teachers Association consists of Superintendent of Schools Lester L. Dickey; School Principals James Hill and Miss Philomen Gregg, and the officers and committee chairmen of the Council. Officers of the Council for the year 1953-1954 are: president, Mrs. Robert McCombs; first vice president, Mrs. Howard Weber; second vice president, Mrs. James Crabtree; recording secretary, Mrs. Clifford Irey; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Walter Wolbert; and treasurer, Hugh Smith.

Committee Chairmen

Committee chairmen for the following year are: program, Mrs. William Schott; yearbook, Mrs. Howard Weber; program planning, Mrs. James Dickson; program sources, Mrs. Delmon Gorenflo and Mrs. Roger Alexander; music, Miss Ann Ferguson; finance, Mrs. Floyd Hofacker; scholarship, Mrs. John Rinnert; visual education, Miss Clara Alice Wilson; health, Mrs. Merle Wise; shoe fund, Joseph Whisler. The welfare chairman will be Wilson Dallas; leadership, Mrs. James E. Frew; publications, Mrs. Garland Winters; publicity, Mrs. Charles Kinney; safety and recreation, Mr. and Mrs. John Guthrie; legislation, Mrs. Donald Strickland and Mrs. Clarence Pryor; membership, Mrs. Carl Campbell; education, Mrs. James Crabtree; and social, Mrs. Robert Romoser and Mrs. Donald Chapman.

Unit presidents from the 12 Marion schools are: Mark St., Mrs. Robert Blankenship; Pearl St., Mrs. Woodrow Frost; Oak St., Mrs. James Gast; Oakland, Herman Rinehart; George Washington, Harold Fralich; Silver St., Mrs. Clarence Pryor; Glenwood, Mrs. Gerald Persinger; North Main, Mrs. Walter Wolbert; Olney Ave., Mrs. Floyd Arthur; Edison Junior High, Hugh Smith; State Street Junior High, Melvin Rankin; and Eber Baker Junior High, Harold Carroll.

Theme for New Year

The PTA Council has worked so hard for many years for the welfare and modernization of the city school system that with the completion of the new high school the theme for the 1953-54 year will be, "Yesterday's Dream, Tomorrow's Realization."

Past presidents of the Marion Council and their terms follow: Mrs. John Oborn, 1919-21; Mrs. Cora McKeever, 1921-23; Mrs. E. H. Morgan, 1923-25; Mrs. Guy Hultz, 1925-27; Mrs. Earl Houser, 1927-29; Mrs. Katherine Dennis Smith, 1929-31; Mrs. Frank Knapp, 1931-33; Mrs. John Quigley, 1933-35; Mrs. Walter Shealey, 1935-37; Mrs. David Peterson, 1937-39; Mrs. W. E. Orcutt, 1939-41; Mrs. H. Bracy, 1941-42; Mrs. T. D. Bain, 1942-43; Mrs. C. R. Penniston, 1943-45; Mrs. Robert Craven, 1945-46; Mrs. Richard Plantz, 1946-47; Mrs. Arthur Noble, 1947-48; Mrs. Ralph Carhart, 1948-49; Mrs. Glen Penry, 1949-50; Mrs. Thomas Reed Jr., 1950-51; Mrs. John Rinnert, 1951-53.

The Ohio branch of the PTA was the first to receive a state charter from the National Congress of Parents and Teachers. At first the Marion City Council functioned only as an information bureau. Following the first coordination of efforts, many accomplishments have contributed to the success of the PTA movement.

Physicians Contribute To Medical Schools

CHICAGO (UP) — Doctors are contributing millions of dollars to help keep the nation's medical schools going, the American Medical Association says.

An AMA Journal editorial reported that their contributions have passed $3,000,000.

Sixteen per cent of the nation's medical profession gave voluntarily to make up that amount. The money goes to 79 approved medical schools to use as they see fit.

The American Medical Education Foundation, which helps collect the money, sent a check in July for $1,044,602.47 to the National Fund for Medical Education, which disburses aid to the schools.

Hiram W. Jones, Chicago, executive secretary of the foundation, said a check for $640,682.90 was sent in 1951 and another for $777,019.41 was sent in 1952.

CHEMICAL BUYS

NEW YORK (INS)—Government statistics show that the American housewife is increasing her purchases of meat, milk and other household goods but her buying of other commodities. You won't find a sack of caustic soda or ammonia in her weekly shopper's basket, but figures compiled by the Manufacturing Chemists' Association show that the average person last year purchased 177 pounds of sulfuric acid, 41 pouds of causlic soda, 33 pounds o chlorine and 24 pounds of ammda.

Sesqui Display Scheduled at New Building

Features Contributions Made to Education By Marion Countians

Marion County's contribution to education will be emphasized in a display sponsored by the Marion County Sesquicentennial Committee throughout the week at the new Harding High School.

Books by Ohio authors of yesteryear and those of today will be in the display in the large case in front of the office of the school principal.

McGuffey's Readers, Ray's Arithmetics and Spencerian writing books, authored by three Ohio born educators, will recall the Three R's taught in early days of the county, and Marion County's contribution to education will be found in books by Drs. Benjamin and Emerson Fite, Dr. Edwin Grant Conklin, Dr. Clyde Keeler's primmer written for the Cuni-Caribe Indians, T. D. Bain's biology textbook, "Living Things," an English textbook by Dr. Harry Orians and Keith Henney's books on radio and engineering.

A picture of Ohio's first schoolhouse at Schoenbrunn will share interest with one of the state's newest and most modern schools, Harding High and today's school supplies will be in contrast to slates and other school articles of earlier years.

The exhibit also will include the state seal, state flower and state bird.

Mrs. Everett Grigsby is chairman of the Sesquicentennial Committee in charge of the display and assisting are Mrs. D. N. Bohyer, Mrs. Merle Hamilton, Miss Pansy Rauhauser, Miss. Margaret Topliff, E. J. Kinter, Robert Sullivan, L. H. Larson and Edgar Barnhart.

HIDDEN MURALS

FITCHBURG, Mass. (UP)—Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Howard decided to repaper the two front rooms of their old homestead. After removing various layers of old wallpaper, they uncovered murals dated 1840, depicting scenes of history and nature.

TOO MANY KIDS

KENE, N. H. (UP) — The annual Elliot Community Hospital Baby Day was cancelled this year because of the rise in the number of babies. In previous years, all babies born at the hospital in the preceding 12 months were invited back for a reunion. But more than 600 are born each year now, and the hospital can't cope with such a reunion.

Record Enrollment Expected at School

The new Harding High School will have the largest student-body of any previous Marion high school, reports Cecil Gabler, principal.

Anticipated enrollment is 1,076 students in the three grades. Breakdown includes 426 sophomores, 355 juniors and 295 seniors.

Last year enrollment was 1,023 at the beginning of the year but was only 975 at the end of the year. There were 27 fire9 sensn8 year. There were 278 seniors in the graduating class last year.

The new building is planned to accomodate as many as 1,250 students but could take care of more than that.

Get Down Your Bet, Payoff Is in Stamps

SYDNEY, Australia (UP)—Molly Keily, who sells stamps at Sydney's main post office, found herself a novel gadget to retrieve the coins placed on her counter.

She uses a small croupier's rake which carries the inscription "faites vos jeux" (make your plays.)

PERSEVERANCE PAYS

PONTOTOC, Miss. (UP) — Forty years ago Locust Hill Baptist Church almost had to close its doors when all but 10 of its members took their membership elsewhere. But the 10 decided to stick it out and recently they dedicated a new $20,000 building.

New Playing Fields Will Boost Harding's Intramural Program

Students at Harding High School will receive the benefit of a full-scale intramural sports program at the new building beginning this school term.

Harding students before had only a very limited program, but now plans call for basketball, ping pong, volleyball and possibly touch football, tennis, golf and other sports to be included in the program.

There will be an outdoor area for girls' athletics and another for boys'. In the new gym, there are facilities for shuffleboard and badminton in addition to basketball and volleyball.

The activities will be on a short term basis, probably in the form of tournaments. Teams will be formed from classes and clubs in the school.

The intramurals period is set from 3:20 to 4:30 in the afternoon. The boys and girls each will have two nights a week for intramurals.

John Luginbuhl will supervise and direct the program. High school athletes will officiate the various contests.

Purpose of intramural program is to afford those who do not make teams at the high school the chance to participate in athletics.

The section to the east and south of the new school, where most of the games will be played, includes an outdoor gym with tennis courts and basketball goals around the edge; the girls' sports area where any of the outdoor games can be played; the boys' sports area where a softball and hardball field will be laid out; a full football practice field; and combination basketball and volleyball courts.

Boot Hill Cemetery May Be Big Attraction

ABILENE, Kan. (UP) — The Eisenhower Museum may eventually be Abilene's biggest attraction for the tourist trade. But it has competition from Boot Hill.

A committee has gone to work to restore Boot Hill, famed in history and fiction as the burial ground of gunmen who fell in outlaw battles when Abilene was the northern terminal for Texas cattle trails.

A monument is planned to the memory of Wild Bill Hickok, the early marshal of Abilene who was credited with having restored order to the Kansas community.

A LA CARTE

HARRISBURG, Ark. (UP) — Leonard Cox observed the height of something or other here. He said two boys came into a cafe and asked for two glasses of hot water and two spoons. They took a jar of instant coffee from their pockets, made some coffee, drank it and left. They did thank the waitress for use of the glasses.

Nurses Shortage Remains Critical

CHICAGO (UP) — There still is a shortage of well-trained nursing and technical personnel, according to the American Medical Association's Council on Medical Education and Hospitals.

The number of nurses and technicians is increasing, the council said, but an "acute" shortage still exists.

Additional facilities, training programs and personnel will be required to meet the existing shortages as well as the anticipated demands of the future, the council said.

Although there were 225,613 graduate nurses employed in 1952 in hospitals registered by the AMA, compared to 216,047 in 1951 there were only 100,595 student nurses, compared to 103,527 in 1951.

HARDING HIGH SCHOOL

It is a pleasure to be a part of a community that has realized the need of a better school system and that has taken such comprehensive steps to remedy that situation.

It isn't too difficult when we recall our own school days and remember the individual attention we received and then compare it with the crowded classrooms of today, to realize that our children must have more adequate educational facilities to prepare them for the future.

Many Changes Made in School Subject Matter

Vocational Courses Begun in Early 20's; Latin, Debate Dropped

Many changes have been made in courses of study and curriculum in high schools the past generation. Harding High is no exception and has made many minor and some radical changes since early in the 20th century.

Vocational courses, for boys planning to work in shops and industry upon graduation, were begun in the early 1920's. Manual training, drafting and shop math were all new then.

Such courses as law, debate, penmanship, Virgil and Caesar and stenography have long been dropped as such from the curriculum.

About 1931 business English was a special course, since dropped, and home economics was getting more popular. In 1939 a new course, office practice, came into being but was dropped not too long afterward. This course is to be resumed in the new high school this coming school year.

The 1940's saw many new changes, the first major one coming in 1942 when a course in welding was given. In 1944 one of the biggest new courses was inaugurated into the Harding course of study, distributive education. That same year an electricity course and pre-flight aeronautics were introduced.

In 1946 senior refresher math was started at Harding High as a brush up on all math courses. Trade information was started in 1947 with a course in automobile shop, service, science and essentials.

In the 40's art and health courses were expanded. Sophomores, unable to take gym because of crowded facilities, took a half year of health. In 1948 blueprint reading was added to the many trades and industries course.

Major additions since then include driver's education, dramatics, citizenship and the five new courses for the new building, industrial arts, complete art course, office practice, physical education for sophomores and a science survey course.

INSIDE JOB

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UP) — E. P. Dickerson neatly solved the problem of how to keep his materials dry while he built himself a new garage. He kept the materials in his old garage and built the new one over the old one, a garage within a garage. He finally tore the old one down when the new one was ready.

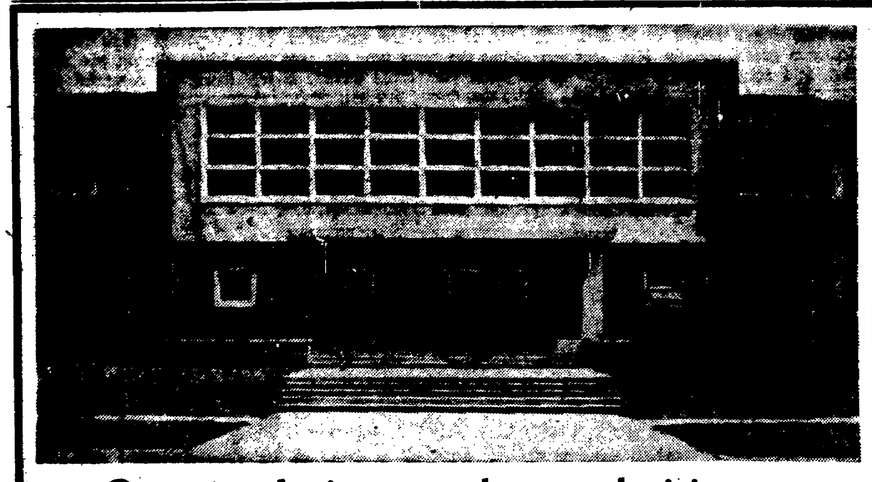
Relic of Explorer Days Is Unearthed

MARYSVILLE, Kan. (UP)—Coronado, Spanish explorer, may have gone as far north as Nebraska.

Homer Reynolds, farmer living near the Kansas-Nebraska border, has unearthed a halberd, a spear-like weapon which might be a Coronado relic.

The University of Kansas museum, where the weapon was sent for identification, reported it evidently was a Spanish weapon. Found five feet beneath the surface, the halberd's long point had rusted away and a portion of a hooked point also was gone.

Otto Wullschleger, historian and farmer, believes the recent find, coupled with the old Spanish sword discovered in Marysville city limits in 1908, proves Coronado's wanderings in 1540 and 1541 carried him this far north in his search for the Seven Cities of Cibola.



Congratulations to the good citizens of Marion on the erection of the New

Harding High School

We are now more proud of Marion than ever before, if that is possible. This improvement in our school facilities makes Marion an even better city in which to live, learn, work and buy!

Pupils Serve as Guides For Open House Week

Harding High School students will serve as guides during Open House week for the new school Aug. 24 to 28. The students, 125 of them will meet Monday at the new school to receive instructions and information.

They will be briefed on questions which might arise during the tour of the new building. The students will be stationed at various spots throughout the school to answer questions concerning that particular area.

As visitors enter the new building, they will be given a diagram of the structure and will be permitted to roam through the school at their own speed. Originally, school officals had planned to have guided tours during the week, but had to change these plans because of the large number of persons expected to visit the building.

All the students serving as guides will be equipped with large tags to enable visitors to spot them with ease. Faculty members will be in some of the areas and will serve as receptionists at the door. Cecil Gabler, principal of Harding, expects from 12,000 to 20,000 persons to visit the new building during the week.

Hours of the open house are from 2 to 4 p.m. and from 7 to 9 p.m. Monday through Thursday. A special open house will be held Wednesday morning from 8:30 to 10:30 for the benefit of late shift workers who wish to see the building.

Another session will be held after the dedication ceremonies Friday night. This one will last from 9 to 10 p.m. The dedication is scheduled to begin at 8 p.m. and end at 9 p.m.

The following are the students who will serve as guides:

Ernie Adams, Ann Arthur, Ruth Augenstein, Carol Bachman, Richard Balls, John Barnhart, Martha Barber, Sally Barton, Shirley Barton, Connie Bartram, Phyllis Bailey, Ralph Beckel, Busty Bender, Suzanne Blessing.

Old Indian Towns Are Covered by White Man

KENT, O. (UP) — Librarian John B. Nicholson Jr. of Kent State University here is a spare-time Indiam Mound explorer.

This area is not as rich in Indian lore as some others, but Nicholson finds much to fill all the hours he can devote to his avocation.

Although he can tick off dozens of worthwhile sites for exploration, Nicholson complains, "It's very frustrating at times. Homes have been built on some. Many are plowed in farm fields and roads have been cut through others."

In Nicholson's opinion the Mound Builders "apparently were the only Indians who made a serious attempt to live in this area."

Now, the white man is so industrious in his living and building habits that it's difficult to locate good specimens of this ancient life, he said.

The National Geographic Society says nearly 20,000 Englishmen settled in and around Massachusetts Bay Colony from 1630 to 1642.

New Building Includes Cafeteria

Inexpensive Lunches Offered Students

Students and teachers at Harding High School this year will no longer go home for lunch. The new lunch room will serve complete meals at a low cost to both the teachers and the students. The old Harding did not have a cafeteria.

Because of a program of government subsidation, complete lunches will be offered this year at a cost of only 30 cents. These lunches are designed to provide one-third to one-half of the minimum daily nutritional requirements of the pupils.

Cecil Gabler, principal of the school, said a typical lunch would consist of one-half pint of milk, two ounces of meat, fish, cheese, or eggs, six ounces of fruit or vegetables, two teaspoonful of butter or margarine, bread, and dessert, which is optional.

MUCH OF THE FOOD is supplied from government surpluses free of charge to the schools. Whatever is not received from the government is bought from local distributors. The school lunch program is checked periodically by regular government inspectors to see that it is being carried out in accordance with the federal regulations.

Large storerooms have been built near the lunch room. These are capable of keeping meats, fruit, vegetables, dairy products and any other food products which may be used in the operation of the lunch room.

The students will take their lunch in three one-half hour periods. Approximately 420 students can be fed in one period. The lunch room is equipped with folding tables which will be removed to allow the room to be used for social affairs as well as an auxiliary study hall. Officials expect to use the room as a study hall for six of the eight periods each day.

JAMES LAWLER, basketball coach at the school, will be in charge of keeping order during the lunch periods. He will be assisted by two different teachers each period.

Pupils will enter the lunch room from the center door and form two lines leading to the food bar. These lines will move from either end of the room to the center where they will pay for their meals and move to tables to eat.

The students will have their choice of three ways to take their lunches. They may buy the complete meal; they may bring their complete lunches; or they may bring part of their meals and buy dairy products to supplement what they bring.

TO ONE SIDE of the students' lunch room will be the faculty dining room. Here the teachers may purchase their lunches, the same type as will be served to the pupils, for a cost of 35 cents.

At one end of the cafeteria is a stage. This will be used for the band whenever dances are held at the school. Gabler points out that the gym will not be used for dancing and that only rubber-soled shoes will be allowed on the gymnasium floor except when school assemblies are held.

Terrazzo, the same material which is used in the hallway floors, is being used on the lunch room floor. This material, which is made of chipped marble mixed with other ingredients, forms a smooth, hard surface. For that reason, it was chosen to be used for the room which will be used, not only for eating and studying, but also for the dances which are held throughout the school year.

Harding High School is not the only Marion school participating in the government program. The entire Marion city school system has been included in the arrangement for several years. County and parochial schools also are included in the plan.

Officials Keep Watch On New Hybrid Grass

STARKVILLE, Miss. (UP)—Officials are keeping their fingers crossed on a new cattle food — a hybrid of Johnson grass and sorghum.

"It looks so good we're afraid to make any promises," says Dr. H. W. Bennett, agronomist heading the experiments at Mississippi State College here.

It will be at least 18 months before the seed can go on sale. Bennett says extensive tests must still be made to find shortcomings.

The hybrid, like Johnson grass, comes up year after year with one planting and is rich in carbohydrates. Like sorghum, the stalks are sweet, and cattle love it.

It outgrows both its parents, often reaching a height of 14 feet. Johnson grass usually hits four feet, and sorghum eight feet.

The hybrid does best when planted in clay type, fairly fertile soils the same type in which Johnson grass grows.

Bennett says several "bugs" still to be studied may cause the commercial yield to fall below expectations.

"The stalks grow so thick that it may be difficult to harvest them with present machinery," he said.

The hybrid has other drawbacks, too. It has the same type diseases as sorghum plus some others. If it is grown in Johnson grass areas the seed may start "swinging back" toward Johnson grass. Molasses from the hybrid tastes "like cough medicine."

Program Includes New Buildings, Additions

More Than $5,260,000 Spent on Marion Schools

Marion has come a long way since the end of World War II in the modernization of its school system. Since that time more than $5,260,000 has been spent for the building of new structures and for modernizing other buildings.

In this time additions have been built to Silver Street School, Edison Junior High and the Vernon building and at the present time additions are being built to Mark Street, Pearl Street, George Washington and the new State Street School buildings. The old Harding High, now Eber Baker Junior High, is being remodeled.

Also in this time three complete new buildings have been erected and facilities changed in others.

New buildings are Harding High, State Street Junior High and a service building near Harding Stadium.

A total of $5,000,000 was provided in bond issues for the school building program. An additional $86,000 in interest and $261,000 from the sale of the old Central Junior High School lot went into the construction fund.

The total cost of the new Harding High School will run about $2,950,000, with landscaping, architects' fees and equipment considered.

Cost of relighting, reheating and refurnishing old buildings was $95,000.

New Junior High

The new State Street Junior High School will cost a total of about $1,002,000 when the gymnasium wing is completed. The Silver Street addition and Edison cafeteria cost about $167,000 and $108,000 respectively.

The new service building built at the south end of the football stadium cost $19,838, and additions to Pearl, Mark and George Washington Schools used up a total of $637,000. Improvements on the Eber Baker will cost $175,000 and miscellaneous improvements, $1,119.

Sixteen architects and contractors have worked on the building program.

The Knowlton Construction Co. of Bellefontaine leads the list with several school construction jobs including the new multi-million dollar high school. Knowlton is also building the new Marion YMCA and Marion General Hospital and building additions to the Marion Training School here.

The new Harding High was designed by architects McLaughlin and Kile of Lima. Robert Reese of Marion is the firm's local representative.

Electrical work on the new high school was done by the Wente Construction Co. of Hamilton, Ohio. H. R. Garey of 139 Franconia Ave. was the foreman of the electrical work.

The plumbing and heating was done by Wisser and Gabler of Chillicothe. Lewis "Bud" Hollenbach of 395 E. Farming St. was the foreman of this work.

The Edison Junior High School cafeteria was completed by the Knowlton Construction Co. with Strasser and Son of Upper Sandusky doing the electrical work. Marion Contracting Co. was general contractor on the Mark and George Washington additions with Terry Smith of Lima doing the plumbing and Pershay Electrical of Columbus doing the electrical work.

Architect Charles Oborn designed the Silver Street addition with Steward Construction doing the building and Triple Service of Marion and Grif Lewis of Columbus the electrical and plumbing work.

The new Eber Baker Junior High School is having its home, the old Harding High Building, remodeled. Doing the work on it is the Baldauf Construction Co., Carl's Plumbing and Heating and Carter Electrical Service of Galion.

Knowlton is the general contractor and Triple Service the electrical contractor on the Pearl and State Street additions.

Steward Construction Co. was the general contractor for the State Street Junior High building.

Americans Expected To Eat More Meat

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (UP)—Americans ate an average of 138 pounds of meat apiece in 1952, according to the University of Illinois college of agriculture.

Supplies of meat this year are expected to be about 73 pounds of beef and veal for each person, 67 pounds of pork and four pounds of lamb.

When electric power is made available, engineers say the African Gold Coast can produce 210,000 tons of aluminum a year.

Army Receives Ideas for New Gun Inventions

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (UP) — The American knack for inventing can be vouched for by the Army's Small Arms Center at Springfield Armory which yearly receives many ideas for improving rifles, carbines and machineguns.

No matter how bizarre, the idea is considered and the invention gets a test run at the arsenal's indoor firing range.

Ordnance technicians feel that the time and trouble involved in testing these devices is well worth the effort. One good idea pays off for 99 bad ones.

Gun "levelizers" — anti-climb devices designed to keep the muzzles of fast-firing guns from riding off their targets—seem to hit the top of the inventors' popularity poll. The armiry gets a new gun levelizer about every six weeks.

Other popular devices submitted by the inventors include twilight and night sights for the Garand rifle. These, too, are considered for merit along with silencers, muzzle caps, gun racks, jet-propelled grenades, and scores of other miscellaneous items.

When an invention is rejected, a letter listing the reasons for rejection and suggestions for improvements is sent the contributor.

Elevator Helps Crippled Woman

BUFFALO, N. Y. (UP)—A small elevator at the front of her home has provided "freedom" for Miss Mary Devine, confined for seven years to a wheelchair because of complete paralysis from the waist down.

Miss Devine, who performs all the household chores and holds a full-time job, said the one barrier to her mobility was the steps at the front of her home. She paid $500 for the elevator.

"I'm practically on my own," she said. "I can fold up my wheelchair and put it in the car. I go to club meetings, parties and shopping. Getting up curbs is still a bit of a problem."

Building Constructed To Fit Land's Contour

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UP) — A multi-million-dollar, eight - story Kansas City building not only will have its largest floor on top and street-level entrances for each floor, but it also will house a functional zoo and a greenhouse.

The structure to be built for Hallmark, greeting cards manufacturers, promises to be one of the leading architectural sights in the Midwest. Among its attractions will be a gallery for original paintings.

The $6,000,000 building will follow the contour of a rocky plateau near the downtown area. The site had been ignored by builders in spite of its excellent location until Joyce C. Hall incorporated the rugged terrain into his plans.

The top floor will overlay the entire mound, making it the largest in the building with 200,000 square feet of floor space. Lower floors decrease in floor space down to the ground floor which will have but 10,000 square feet.

The zoo will be located on the eighth floor. It will house ducks, chickens, rabbits, puppies, kittens, and numerous other small animals and birds that frequently appear on greeting cards.

Builders hope to complete the structure by Jan. 1, 1955.

Man Begins Working When Machines Fail

CLEVELAND, O. (UP) — Conveyor belts haul coal a total of 1,300 miles in the mines of the United States alone, according to mining engineers.

Once in a while the belts break, and that's where John Palusek shines. He's the U. S. Rubber Company's expert at conveyor belt splicing. He does repair work when it's necessary and he also helps install the big loops.

Paluszek has some good stories about his belt-splicing jobs. For instance there was the time he had to go to a northern Canada mine out beyond what is considered civilization. The temperature was 27 below zero, the job had to be done right away, and he developed a toothache.

No dentists around, of course. He took a pair of pliers ordinarily used in his splicing job and jerked out the offending molar, then finished the splice.

Expert Gives Warnings For Safe Sun Bathing

BUFFALO, N. Y. (UP) — Erie County health commissioner Berwyn F. Mattison warned "sun squinters" to wear sun glasses during bright days. However, he offered the following warnings to sun bathers.

1. Never look directly into the sun, even though you are wearing sunglasses.

3. Never wear sunglasses when driving at night or in early twilight.

SPECIAL GUARD NEEDED

CHICAGO (UP)—A recent survey by the Civil Service Assembly shows that at least 122 cities with more than 50,000 population have school crossing guard programs.

The study shows that as a result of this system, larger cities are able to get children across streets safely at school crossings four times a day without using police.

Eighty-eight departments have had no traffic injuries or deaths among school children since the program was adopted. Other departments report minor injuries. A few serious injuries to guards only were due to circumstances which could not be prevented, such as a runaway truck.

Guards are carefully selected on the basis of physical and mental character, and in some cities are fingerprinted.

The postwar trend has favored the employment of women-guards, particularly young mothers of school children. Older men from the ranks of retired policemen, firemen, school janitors and handicapped veterans also serve to good advantage.

Investors View Future Brightly In Hongkong; Building Booms

HONGKONG (UP) — Whatever the rest of the world may think about the future, Hongkong appears to be proceeding on the assumption that it will bring peace and plenty.

Hongkong's confidence is best illustrated by the vast sums private investors and the government are spending to make this British Crown colony a better place. An accurate estimate is impossible, but many millions of Hongkong dollars are involved.

Private enterprise has been spending considerable sums to open up outlying areas and to provide new houses to accommodate a population swollen by refugees from Red China—2,250,000 persons crowded into a total area of about 391 square miles.

Government Building

The govenment itself is undertaking vast expansion schemes. The April-June report of the director of public works listed a total of 55 new projects either just completed, in the course of construction or at the drawing board stage.

Government work already completed includes two new markets, a police station, and major alterations to law courts and education offices.

The heavy program of works in hand includes new government offices, a tuberculosis clinic, a police headquarters, a primary school, headquarters for the Hongkong Royal Naval Volunteer Reserve, alterations to the Technical Training College, a number of new roads on both sides of the harbour and two big reclamation projects, one of them along the seafront close to the heart of the city.

During the same quarter, 485 plans covering 889 buildings were received and 953 plans covering 1,641 buildings were approved by the Buildings Ordinance Office. Some 92 domestic permits were issued for 99 European-type houses, 65 Chinese-style houses, six staff quarters, one bathing pavilion.

Squatters Resettled

In additon, 57 non - domestic permits were issued, including those forthree churches, a school, seven workshops and factories, a theater, five stores and warehouses and one filling station.

Of major importance are plans for the improvement and extension of Kai Tak airport. Preliminary designs have been prepared for expansion of air facilities and a detailed survey has been started of the area.

The government also is paying much attention to providing healthy accommodation for the hundreds of thousands of refugees whose daily income is a pittance and many of whom have been living in small, dirty huts built on government land without authorization. The task of resettling these squatters is a tremendous and difficult one, but much already has been accomplished.

In all, 37,140 persons had been re-settled by the end of June. Of these 12,698 were children and 11,790 women.

CO-OPERATIVE POOCH

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UP) — Mrs. Clarence Shelton's dog stuck his head in his doghouse one day and saw a hen, laying an egg. Now when he sees the hen heading for his home he walks out side and waits until she's laid her egg.

Any Future Expansions Depend on Arrangement

CHICAGO (UP)—An expert on city development says the future of central business districts in many cities may depend largely on the orderly rearrangement of the downtown area.

J. D. Carroll Jr., discussed the problem in Public Management, monthly journal of the International City Managers' Association.

Carroll, director of the Detroit Metropolitan Area Study, said city officials must encourage the intensive use of existing commercial sites, and must make it easier for traffic and people to move within the downtown business districts.

Two major trends, increased automobile registrations and the postwar boom in suburban development, have magnified the problems, of the central business district, Carroll said.

He said a study at Flint, Mich., showed that travel by automobile diminishes as cities increase in size, due to traffic congestion and travel distances.

But he said despite these factors, "the larger the city the greater the parking problem."

Peanuts Spark $35,000 Fund Drive for Church

BUFFALO, N. Y. (UP) — Peanuts will help build a new $35,000 building for the Mormon Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints here.

Members frown on all forms of lotteries and raffles; so when they faced the problem of raising funds, they purchased peanuts in bulk lots, blanched and roasted them, and packaged them for sale.

The blanching was done in the home of Elder Otto J. Lendt, and the roasting and packaging was done by volunteers in members' homes.

Over a two-year period the church has accumulated about $1,500 selling the peanuts. Members have raised more money by sponsoring dinners and selling handmade flowers.

The money will be added to the 65 per cent of the cost which the church headquarters at Salt Lake City has agreed to pay.

Starting Symphony Orchestra Early

SENATOBIA, Miss. (UP)—Robert A. Gipe, 29-year-old public school music director here, expects to grow himself a full-fledged symphony orchestra within the next decade.

Using pint - sized instruments, Gipe began giving symphonic instructions this year to a group of third-graders. He plans to repeat the performance each year until, by the time the first group becomes high school seniors, this city of 2,108 will have its own symphony orchestra.

Principal Has Long Career in Marion Schools

Cecil W. Gabler Began As Coach in Central Junior High School

A man whose vocation has always been teaching in Marion City schools will be in charge of the new Harding High School. He is Cecil W. Gabler, 50, who has been principal of the old Harding High since 1950 and now moves to his new quarters in the modern building just recently completed.

Gabler was born on Dec. 30, 1902, in Waldo. He attended Waldo High School and then received his bachelor's degree from Ohio Wesleyan University in 1924. In 1936 he received his master's degree from Ohio State University. Since that time he has done more work at Ohio State and hopes to obtain his doctorate in the future.

He started in the Marion school system as athletic coach and instructor at Central Junior High School. He taught there for 13 years, the last three of which he gave up his duties as coach. From Central, he was promoted to the post of director of pupil personnel. After two years in this capacity, he was named principal of Vernon Heights Junior High School where he remained until being appointed principal of Harding High in 1950.

Gabler is a member of the Marion Education Association, the Ohio Educational Association, the National Educational Association, the National Association of Secondary School Principals, the Ohio Association of Secondary School Principals, Phi Delta Kappa, national honorary educational group, and the Marion Masonic Lodge.

He is also a member of the Lions Club of Marion and is past president and past deputy district governor of that group. Gabler has been a member of the YMCA board of directors for the past six years and is a member of the Boy Scout Council and the Salvation Army Board. In the latter post, he is Youth Chairman in charge of playground recreation.

The principal is also chairman of the City Superintendents and Principals Division of the Central Ohio Teachers Association and a member of the state advisory council of the North Central Teachers Association.

Gabler is married and has one daughter, Mrs. Fred Kline who lives in Ashtabula Harbor where her husband is an art instructor in one of the schools in that area. He also has two grandchildren, Joe Dan, 1½, and Judy Kay, 5.

He and his wife live at 296 Clover Ave.

Success of Toll Roads in Doubt, Planners Warn

CHICAGO (UP)—The American Society of Planning officials warns there are drawbacksk in setting up express toll roads.

The toll roads, which will soon total 2,000 miles throughout the country, have made more money and carried more traffic than originally estimated, the society said.

However, none of the turnpikes has been in operation during a depression, the group warned.

The Society made its report on the basis of a study by the Institute of Transportation and Traffic Engineering at the University of California.

The report said that many parts of the country do not have enough traffic to make a toll road pay. In other sections, good free roads offer serious competition to toll highways.

It was found that toll roads, on which federal funds cannot be used, have usually been financed by revenue bonds at a cost twice as great as financing by general obligations bonds of the state.

Fees for using toll roads are about equal to a 20-cent-per-gallon tax on gasoline, the survey said, but drivers get better road and driving conditions, the report said.

The Society said all the turnpikes are making enough money to meet their bond obligations and actual net receipts are generally well ahead of estimates.

In 1952, the average daily traffic on the major turnpikes went far beyond what had been expected. The Colorado Turnpike carried 4,600 vehicles compared with an estimate of 3,300; the Pennsylvania Turnpike 11,000 compared with 6,000; and the New Jersey Turnpike 20,000 compared with 8,300.

Property Owner Finds City Was Trespassing

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UP) — Vincenzo Butta felt for a long time that part of the city street running along a vacant lot he owned was his.

So he hired a surveyor to go over his property. When he got the report, Butta fenced off a 90-foot section of the unpaved street.

Old Greenwood Building To Be Used for Storage

Grounds on which the abandoned elementary school buildings of Forest Lawn and Greenwood now stand will be retained by the Marion board of education.

The Forest Lawn building will be torn down but the Greenwood building will remain standing. It probably will be used for storage space until some more-needed use is found.

Abandonment of the two elementary schools was made possible by completion of the new high school building. Vernon Junior High School was changed to an elementary school and will absorb the Forest Lawn and Greenwood pupils along with the George Washington elementary school. Some of the pupils at the abandoned schools will go to Mark St. School.

The old Harding High School will be a center for junior high youngsters this year, and will be called Eber Baker Junior High School.

Idaho Seeks Method To Stop Water Loss

MOSCOW, Idaho (UP) — The answer to the serious irrigation problem of water loss through seepage is being sought by engineers of the University of Idaho and the U. S. Bureau of Reclamation in experiments on canals in southwestern Idaho.

The gravity of the situation is noted by Calvin C. Warnick, research assistant professor of civil engineering. He reports that as much as 10 per cent of the canal water is lost through seepage in sandy soils before reaching the field.

Study on the so-called Black Canyon project is being conducted in two sets of experiments. The first step is to check seepage losses with and without natural silt in the canals. The second is to test the effectiveness of the various canal linings.

The first problem the researchers solved was the finding of an accurate means to measure canal losses.

The purpoes of the study is to aid the irrigation farmer in determining which lining is most economical and most enduring.

225 Teachers Are Members Of City Education Association

Playing a large part in Marion schooling is the Marion Education Association.

Main purpose of the organization, made up of teachers and administrafors in the Marion school system, is to promote better educational opportunities for boys and girls.

The local organization is affiliated with the Central Ohio Teachers Association, the Ohio Education Association and the National Education Association. It has been associated with the national group since 1921.

Members of the local organization attend the district meeting and delegates are sent to the Ohio association meeting and national convention each year. At the convention, officers are elected and educational problems on state and national levels are discussed.

A voluntary professional organization, the local group has 225 members. The group meets regularly throughout the school year, holding four business meetings, two social meetings and called meetings when necessary.

Norman Fogt, principal of State Street Junior High School, is president of the group. James Hill, principal of Silver Street School, is vice president and treasurer is Miss Dorothy Caldwell. She is social studies instructor at Edison. Miss Janet Geddis, elementary teacher, at Oakland, is secretary.

Other members are appointed to serve on various committees, which help to work on the association's program. The local group is working on a public relations program for the schools during American Education Week this school year and already is planning another teachers workshop.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (UP) — Police Chief Joe Kimsey had to jail a man who spent all his money for whiskey and a box of cigars. Later, the man's wife visited the chief and asked if her husband had any money left when he was booked.

She was broke, she said. The family had to have money. Kimsey checked the man's possessions. No money, but there were the cigars.

"Those cigars look pretty good," Kimsey said. "I'll buy them from you." He did.

Kimsey doesn't smoke.

WINS TOP AWARD. Sgt. Hiroshi (Mike) Miyamuna, 28, of Gallup, N. M., has won America's highest award for heroism, the Congressional Medal of Honor. He got the news when he and 59 other GIs were repatriated in exchange at Panmunjom in Korea. News of the award had been kept secret because of possible Communist retaliation against him. He is credited with killing 40 to 50 Chinese Reds while covering a squad retreat before his capture.

HONESTY TROUBLE

HARTFORD, Conn. (UP)—Norman Quellette found a savings bank, a fountain pen and a pair of women's gloves in the back seat of his car. Being honest, he turned them over to police, only to have to ride back to the station house a short time later to recover them. His wife had put them there to be returned to a relative to whom they belonged.

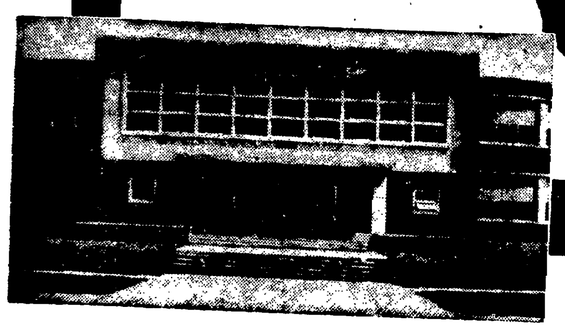
TO YOUR CHILDREN !

And she's glad to do it — because she believes there's no more satisfying work in the world than teaching. There are many men who agree — in fact in some communities, more men have gone into teaching in recent years than ever before.

If you're a young man or woman about to decide on a career — why not give serious thought to teaching? Would you take pride in bringing out the best in a child's personality . . . in helping a bright youngster make full use of his mind? Would you feel a real sense of accomplishment in starting a child on a useful, productive life? If you can answer yes to these questions . . . you may be a "born teacher." For you, no other profession could begin to match the rewards of teaching!

If you're a parent — consider now whether you're doing all you can to improve teaching conditions and school conditions in this community. Get to know the teachers better — invite them to your home. Find out what improvements our schools need to attract and hold the best teachers.



We congratulate the citizens of Marion on the New

All-Important Scrap Heap Gets Longer-Life Cars Now

The smiling salesman hands you the key. You slide behind the wheel, inhale that heady new-car aroma and glide out into the street, proudly aware that your "dreamboat" is making heads turn.

You're not thinking of it now, of course, but the new-car feeling is going to last a lot longer than it did a few years ago.

In 1925 for instance, the average scrap car was only 6.5 years old, with 25,750 miles on its speedometer. Just 25 years later, the average scrap age was 13.5 years—more than twice as much. Average mileage had soared to more than 116,000—well over four times as much.

How old is a car these days before it's really old? Actually, no one can say. Cars, like people, may be just as old as they "feel." A lot of them seem to run on and on, finally becoming the "classics" that collectors prize.

But with a succession of owners and tens of thousands of miles behind it, the average can finally ends its days on a scrap pile. Yet, even in this humiliating position, it is serving a vital purpose; For scrapped automobiles are an important source of the steel from which new cars are made.

If an old car lands in a modern, well-equipped scrap yard, it will undergo a startling transformation before making that last journey to a steel mill. Stripped of tires, wheels, engine and a few other parts, it is dropped into the pit of a huge baling machine. Within seconds powerful hydraulic jaws close, reducing the old jalopy to a neat block of compressed steel—convenient and economical to ship.

Who can say that, after melting in a mighty furnace and taking new form in the rolling mill, it might not come back to the auto plant for rebirth, Phoenix-like, as a new model?

TRUCK CRASH KILLS ONE, DESTROYS BRIDGE. Flames rise from a burning butane transport truck after it and another truck sideswiped on a bridge made of wood 16 miles north of Liberal, Kan. The bridge became ignited and was destroyed. The driver of the transport was rushed to a hospital where he died of burns.

How To Get Wed And Not Know It

EDINBURG,Tex. (UP) — Judge S. N. McWhorter granted an annulment when an attractive 18-year-old girl explained that last year she thought she wanted to get married, changed her mind and then found out she had been married without knowing it.

Juanita Cantu de Leon said that on Sept. 21, 1951, she and Victor de Leon secured a marriage license. Her grandmother took the couple to visit an Hidalgo County judge, Milton D. Richardson, an old friend.

The couple planned to be married two days later, Juanita testified, but Richardson got the impression they wanted to be married right away. He performed the ceremony at no charge and wished them luck.

The next day Juanita and Victor had an argument and decided they didn't want to get married after all. It was then that they discovered Richardson really had married them.

"We thought what the judge did was part of what we had to go through to get a license," Juanita said.

As president of Marion Chamber of Commerce, among the functions of which is that of furthering the expansion of facilities of all kinds that will make Marion a better city in which to live, I am vitally interested in modern schools.

I believe the new Marion Harding High School is one of the best examples of the progress that can be made by an alert citizenry and wish to extend my personal congratulations to every one.

M. Paul Hunt

As a parent of high school pupils, I am delighted that they will have the advantages of attending such a completely new and attractive high school, so well fitted to present day educational needs.

As a supplier of building materials I can attest that the new high school is very well built and will serve thousands of present and future students adequately for many years. My congratulations to everyone concerned in its creation.

New High School Places Marion Among Leaders

"The new Harding High School will place Marion among the best school districts in the country," says Lester L. Dickey, superintendent of the Marion School District.

While other school boards are wrestling with the problem of finding enough room to house all the pupils which they are called upon to do, Marion has the distinct advantage of being able to meet any demand placed upon it for several years to come.

The new high school has almost as much roof area as all the other schools in the city combined. This roof covers almost three acres of building.

Dickey said that the new school will enable Marion to offer one of the most complete curricula in the nation. The addition of a music room, complete machine shop, and speech center will allow the school to meet the demands of those students who formerly were unable to obtain the type of education they desired.

The music room will allow students to play and practice without fear of bothering other students in surrounding rooms. The room is equipped with elevated seats arranged in a circular form which can accomodate a band or orchestra of more than 100 members.

In addition, the room has a new type accoustical ceiling which makes it almost completely soundproof. There are also special practice rooms where the individual players may practice without being disturbed.

The room will be used by the school band, the orchestra, and choral groups.

Another feature which pleases officials of the school system is the addition of automotive and general machine shops. These rooms are connected to classrooms making it possible to give instructions immediately followed by practical demonstrations.

This year will mark the first time complete and comprehensive instructions in machine shop work can be given in the high school. Previously, courses were confined largely to junior high classes.

Lacks Auditorium

Three complete stages have been built in the new structure. These are located in the cafeteria, the gymnasium, and the speech room. All three are equipped with the latest stage materials.

The only thing which officials say is lacking in the new building is a separate auditorium. This will make it necessary to hold school meetings in the gymnasium. Folding chairs will be used for this purpose and no shortage of space is expected by authorities.

The three stages in the building will be used to fill various needs. Speech classes will use the one in the speech room to gain practice of speaking from a stage. The one in the gymnasium will be used for activities in which the entire school is present; and the one in the cafeteria will be used when a smaller number of students will attend.

The cafeteria is equipped with the most modern facilities available. Approximately 400 students will be able to eat at one lunch period. Two lines will be formed, starting from either end of the room and working toward the center to obtain food.

Officials point out that all rooms in the new high school have been designed and built to fill specific needs. The science rooms are equipped with the latest scientific apparatus and will be used only for science classes.

Home economics students will work with modern and safe equipment, and, according to the school board officials, should get much more from their courses than in the past.

Besides the classrooms, several offices have been built in the new building. These include the offices for the principal, assistant principal, the deans, and other administrative personnel. A special first aid room has been constructed.

The old Harding High School building will be converted into a junior high school this fall.

Longer Life May Hinge on Attitude

CARBONDALE, Ill. (INS) — A university professor is bringing new hope to the aged with his theory that "life can begin at 65."

Dr. William C. Westberg, psychologist at Southern Illinois University, Carbondale, asserts that people can live longer and be happier once they learn how to grow old gracefully.

He explains:

"Making the proper emotional adjustments as old age approaches is more important than worrying about lack of income or failing health. Old people, even those blessed with energy and financial security, tend to be stubborn, selfish and unhappy if they have failed to prepare sufficiently for their declining years."

Westberg names two important criteria for a happy, carefree retirement: "careful planning and accepting old age when it creeps up on us."

"Women adjust to old age much better than men," the professor says, "because they have a wider range of interests, and can go on with their household duties, in a limited way, even in advanced years. When a man gives up a career to which he has devoted the best years of his life, he needs something else to sustain him, or deterioration comes quickly."

Library Is One of School Building's Prize Features

Reading Area Seats 132 Students; Includes Record Rooms

The library in the new Harding High School contains more than 5,000 books, reports Miss Kathryn Moore, school librarian. She said that for the size of the student body, it is one of the best-filled libraries in the state.

Located on the second floor, the library has an excellent view of the Indian Mounds to the rear of the building. Miss Moore is especially fond of the coloring and furniture in the room. The furniture is made of blonde wood covered with hard plastic. The upper walls and ceiling are painted turquoise.

There are two listening rooms located off the library. In one of these is a record player donated by the graduates of 1953. Miss Moore expects to build a collection of records over the years to make that department as modern as the rest of the library.

There is also a special conference room. In this are the collections of history books. It is the place where students and faculty will meet to plan special programs and exhibitions.

A BUSY PLACE IS THE LIBRARY of the new Harding High School. Shown here are some of the students as they get a preview of the offerings of this room. Seating capacity of the library is 132. There are also two rooms at one end of it where pupils may listen to records.

A special teachers' reading room is located at one end of the library. Here a teacher may come during his free periods and either do some reading or any other work.

Miss Moore said that the budget of the school is set up to provide for purchase of new books each year. While no extraordinary increase in the number of books has been made with the opening of the new school, more and more books are added each year.

She added that she will have to increase the size of the staff of students who work in the library this year. Previously, she has had the help of about 18 students, but now will need about 25 to meet the additional demands placed upon the staff by the increased size of the library.

Upstairs Laundry Saves Many Steps

EGGERTSVILLE, N. Y. (UP) — Stair-weary housewives in this Buffalo suburb envy a young mother who has convenience built in—a complete home laundry on the second floor within a few feet of bedrooms and bath, where most of the family's washing originates.

In a cheerful room off the second-floor hall, Mrs. George D. Enos, Jr., has an automatic washer and drier, with a large wash basin for woolens. Within easy reach are two kitchen-type cupboards for detergents, soaps, bluing and brushes.

There are two working surfaces —a cupboard shelf and a table hinged to the wall. The table will support an automatic ironer.

A galvanized pipe from the drier carries off dampness and fuzz. A wall-type exhaust fan rids the room of heat. On the wall is a tiny fire extinguisher.

Two large windows admit air and light to the laundry. A step from the laundry door is the linen closet.

So streamlined is the process that Mrs. Enos is in actual contact with the body was only about eight minutes.

Putting the laundry where the wash originates was the architect's idea. He incorporated it into the house plans reinforcing the laundry's flooring to support the appliances.

Although the Enos house has many other attractive feautres, most visitors remember it as "the house with the laundry upstairs."

Among Arabian gifts to European medieval society were the art of fortification, knightly tournaments, the troubadour, and chivalry itself.

Indians Didn't Play According to Hoyle

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (UP)—The Indians that once inhabited Padre Island, off the South Texas Gulf Coast, had a system of hunting deer, according to 19th Century Spanish records.

One group of Indians would chase the animals into the water around the island. Another group waited in canoes to spear the deer as they swam.

Gold Guardian Is a Magician In Off Hours

ROCHESTER, N. Y., (INS) — Peddling phony gold bricks is a popular confidence game, but no astute crook will sell real gold ones, much less steal them.

So says Paul Estee, a man who makes money and other valuables disappear at night, but who is charged with the security of about $500,000 worth of gold in process every day.

Lest you get the wrong idea about Estee's honesty, please be advised he is a professional magician after regular working hours. His specialty is sleight-of-hand with coins and stage money. During the day he is supervisor of the precious metals department of the Shuron Optical Co., where fine gold in 16-pound bricks is processed into 12-karat alloy gold strips for eyewear manufacture.

Estee estimates that a half million dollars worth of gold is being handled in his department at any one time.

His company safeguards its fine gold in vault strongholds and makes constant weight checks before and after each processing step in the plant. But even then if these precautions were not quite so rigid, the expert isn't concerned about the possibility of bandits making off with the treasure.

"A crook won't bother stealing fine gold or industrially-worked gold alloys," he maintains. "That's because the 'fence,' the receiver of stolen goods from the underworld, will have no part of easily identifiable gold of any kind. Matter of fact, I don't know of a single case in which a gold bar was ever stolen from the industry."

First of all, a Government license is needed for possession of any form of fine gold, and "passing" a stolen gold brick is virtually impossible. Gold processed industrially has its own "fingerprints." These are tool or cutter or other processing marks that clearly identify the gold item as produced in a certain plant.

To the "gold detective," this is a positive means of identification. Taking industrial gold items to plants that manufacture them soon tells police where a hot item originated. Invariably, the finger of guilt points to some person or small group of persons probably responsible for the theft inside or outside the plant. Routine questioning unmasks the culprit.

The difficulty in passing such gold items makes thefts of the kind a rarity. The thief who manages to snare gold loot other than jewelry probably will find he can't unload it. He simply can't attest to its purity.

London's Tailors Eye New Fashions for Men

LONDON (INS) — If London tailors have their way, well-dressed men may soon be wearing suits with skin-tight trousers and sleeves gripping the wrists.

A male fashion show, intended by its sponsors "to emphasize Britain's position as leader in men's clothing" in Coronation year, forecast what looked like a major revolution in the cut and tailoring of men's clothing.

The trend towards narrower trousers is not new in London, but a number of tailoring innovations that were put on display made eyes pop wide open.

The show, staged by Britain's Men's Fashion Council, drew admiring sighs from some men present, but the comment of women was more succinct. One explained bluntly:

"Hideous, my dear!"

Student Combines Music and Science

WACO, Tex. (UP)—Baylor University reports it will grant two masters' degrees to a Waco man next month who coundl't make up his mind whether he was more interested in music or physics.

Merle Alexander earned a bachelor of music degree at Baylor in 1947, and began work on his master's degree in that field. He became interested in a theory advanced by Paul Hindemith that all music could be stated by a single formula.

Alexander's interest in Hindesmith's theory led him to enroll in a physics course, so he could understand it. He won a bachelor of science degree in that field last year.

His twin fields of interest have led to a job in which he will get a chance to combine them. He will work as a research engineer for the Conn Band Instrument Co. of Elkhardt, Ind., in acoustics and electronics.

YOUTH WINS SCHOLARSHIP

BAKER, Ore. (UP)—Jeroid S. Jordan, 15, who completed his second year in high school this year, has been awarded a $1,200 entrance scholarship to the University of Chicago after breezing through his entrance examinations.

Movie Attendance Lag Reported in England

LONDON (INS)—Fewer people are going to the movies in Britain each week and the country's film industry leaders are looking for a quick and effective remedy.

British motion pictures attendance has decreased 20 percent in the last five years and the trend is continuing.

Chancellor of the Exchequer Richard Butler admitted in the House of Commons the situation was causing some anxiety and promised to consider the industry's claims for taxation relief unless there is an improvement.

1. The growing influence of television:

2. The increased choosiness of motion picture theatre patrons and

3. Comparatively heavy taxes on movie seats.

"The habit of going to the pictures twice a week, irrespective of what is on, is dead. In that mood people just now switch on their television sets."

More than 7,000 ships transporting troops and supplies to the Far East were loaded and unloaded at Army-operated ports in Japan during the past two years.

NEWSPAPER TIP

MERCEDES, Tex. (UP) — An unsolved burglary was cleared up quickly when Alfredo Moran of Mercedes happened to look at a newspaper from Torreon, Mexico. He saw a picture of a man holding two radios and recognized the radios as those stolen from his home. Police followed up on the case, the burglar confessed and Moran got his radios back.

Cleaning Lady Barred In Dusty Laboratory

The dust is an inch thick on TV receivers in continuous operation and the cleaning women aren't allowed to come near the place. But this seemingly slovenly condition actually is in the interest of science.

According to Keith Peter, quality research engineer for Admiral Corporation, one of the many unique things about highly complicated electronic equipment is that it's possible for a layer of dust settling on high voltage television circuits to build up an electronic charge and cause "flashover." To laymen, flashover comes out as spots in the picture and crackling noises in the audio circuit.

So it's the job of engineers like Peter to make sure sets are built so that dust won't affect them. As one of its many "life" tests, Admiral operates all new model receivers in a busy, drafty location. As dust accumulates on the sets for weeks on end, the quality of the picture is watched closely.

After new receivers pass the "dust test", along with hundreds of other checks on quality, they are approved for production.

For homemade mustard, mix two tablespoons of powered mustard with two teaspoons sugar, add one tablespoon vinegar and two teaspoons boiling water. Mix well.

New Gym Will Aid Purpose

Building Fit Bodies Aim Of Athletic Department

"For the fitness of mind and body of all our youth." These words are inscribed over the entrance to the gymnasium of the new Harding High School.

They express the hopes and plans of the entire school system. The rest of the school will care for the fitness of the minds of the pupils through the regular classroom studies. It is the job of the physical education department to see that the bodies of the students are properly developed.

The new gym has a curtain which can be lowered to divide the floor into two sections. This will allow both boys and girls to take physical education at the same time.

The students will take two gym periods a week, except during one-half of their sophomore year when they will take a course in health instruction.

Conditioning Course

Athletes in the school will take a special conditioning course during the times when they are not participating in athletics. This course will be given four days a week and is designed to keep them in good condition for the coming season.

The physical education program stresses cooperative games. Also included in the program are rhythmic and conditioning exercises.

Kenneth Somerlot is in charge of the physical education program for the boys. Mrs. Elizabeth Topliff is in charge of the girls. The athletic coaches are in charge of the program for the athletes.

The new gymnasium is capable of seating 1,200 for a basketball game in seats which fold into the wall. When used as an assembly hall, folding chairs will be placed on the floor raising the capacity to 1,500.

Locker Rooms

Locker rooms for girls and boys are located on either side of the gym. In addition there are separate shower and locker rooms for visiting and home teams.

A fully equipped large sized stage is located at one end of the gym. This stage is fully equipped with the latest and most modern stage equipment.

The gym will be used not only for physical education and basketball games but also will serve as an auditorium where all assemblies of the school will take place. Plans have been made for the addition of a separate auditorium, but this will not be built for several years. The estimated cost of such a room is $300,000.

The new gym is equipped with six basketball hoops which can be raised to the ceiling when not in use. The seats when folded up allow for extra room in which shuffleboard and other games may be played.

Lighting Panel

A large modern lighting panel has been built next to the stage. This panel allows control of all lights either collectively or singly. The lights on the stage are both overhead and footlight types. The lights can be turned on or off simultaneously or, in the case of theatrical productions, can be dimmed and brightened singly.

The floor is covered with eight coats of varnish. Officials of the school think that walking and placing of chairs on it will not mar the finish or cause it to sag. It has been built on a foundation of heavy beams filled in with tar to prevent any sagging or drooping.

The floor is regulation basketball size plus about six additional feet on all four sides. This additional area is increased on two sides when the seats are folded back.

The ceiling lights in the gym itself are recessed into the ceiling, eliminating the usual hanging lights that are found in most gyms.

PRISONERS WOUNDED IN RIOT. Two prisoners wounded in riot at Washington State Reformatory in Monroe, Wash., are guarded by state patrolmen and deputy sheriffs after they were brought out of the prison yard. Nearly 300 prisoners started rioting during the recreation period and set fire to five buildings. Some of the rebellious prisoners returned to the cell block but many remained, milling about the prison yard. One inmate was shot and killed and three others wounded when they rushed the walls of the reformatory.

Citizenship Course Will Be Offered Again at Harding

A citizenship course which has been given for the past three years at Harding High School will be carried on in the new building. The local school is one of three in the state offering this course. The other two are Shaker Heights High near Cleveland and Shadyside High.

Only seventy schools in the nation were invited to try this new University. President Eisenhower, then president of Columbia, inaugurated the program.

Miss Edith Brown, social science teacher at Harding, and Cecil Gabler, principal of Harding, attended Columbia for ten days for the purpose of learning the new course before starting it in Marion.

Citizenship is taught through community projects. Students last year actually practiced disseminating political information, interviewed candidates for public office, held straw votes and public forums. They appeared before various organizations, including the League of Women Voters.

Poor Readers May Encounter Trouble

CHICAGO (UP)—Children who have trouble learning to read can turn into problem children, an educator warned.

Life for the poor reader, Russell G. Stauffer says, can become an experience of "continuous failure."

"Situations may become so critical that the child prefers to withdraw, becoming a physical as well as a mental truant," he says.

Stauffer is a reading expert at the University of Delaware. He spoke recently to 1,300 teachers at a reading conference at the University of Chicago.

"Feelings of inferiority and inadequacy tend to be produced by inability to accomplish and succeed," Stauffer said.

"The poor reader experiences continuous failure, for modern living demands ability to read both in and out of school," he said. "To adjust, the child may resort to rationalization, compensation, projection, sublimation or withdrawal."

The child's emotional difficulties are increased because reading in itself is an important emotional outlet.

"Since he cannot read or dislikes reading," the educator said, "He is denied therapeutic values inherent in reading—identification, relaxation, fun, escape, moral insight, aesthetic appreciation — which the good reader so abundantly enjoys."

In helping the poor reader, Stauffer told the teachers to pay as much attention to the emotional problems as to the special reading instruction given him.

He warned against penalizing the poor reader by making him come early to school or stay late for special lessons.

The poor reader, he said, should spend most of the day in class with children of his own age and interests so he can participate in talking and other normal social activities.

"Lessons should be read to him either at home or in school by some able pupils to avoid making an isolate out of the child," Stauffer said.

Doctors Advise Keep Patients In the Homes

CHICAGO (UP)—Home care is better than hospital confinement in some serious diseases, the Journal of the American Medical Association said.

Two studies in a recent issue of the magazine for doctors outlined the advantages for chronically ill patients and for children with chronic active rheumatic fever.

Drs. Dennison Young, White Plains, N. Y.; and Manuel Rodstein, New York City, studied 45 children with rheumatic fever for 30 months.

They reported:

"When certain initial criteria for home suitablility are met most children with active rheumatic fever and free of congestive heart failure can be cared for as well at home as in the hospital, with an equally good end-result and with greater over-all advantage to the patient and his family."

Dr. Louis Udell, Philadelphia, studied 160 chronically ill persons cared for at home for a 39-month period.

He concluded:

"Those who display readiness to co-operate in intensive care show improvement physically, emotionally and socially in situations formerly believed static or hopeless.

"Many patients who do poorly in the hospital do much better in their home surroundings, eating the food that suits their palate, seeing their friends at anytime and being with their loved ones."

One big advantage of home over hospital care, both studies agreed is that it was cheaper for the patient.

Home care also lightens the burden of hospitals short on beds, they said.

Lighting at New School Helps To Save Eyesight

The lighting is by the most modern fixtures, designed to reduce glare and give daylight vision. Another feature aimed at reducing eye strain is the use of green chalkboards and yellow chalk.

The new light fixtures have removable louvers making them easy to clean. Before, the whole fixture had to be taken down to clean or the cleaning had to be done on a ladder.

NO BUSINESS

PORTLAND, Ind. (UP)—For 47 days the Portland fire department was idle. Then the alarm finally sounded. But when firefighters reached the scene the excitement was over. An overheated kerosene stove had been carried outside before it could cause any damge.

A Book Is Not Good Place for Money

LINCOLN, Neb. (UP)—A "treasure hunt" in the city library ended happily.

Aivars Ginberg, 21, and his 10-year-old sister, Vija, told a librarian the family had left some money by mistake in a gray book in the "doggy section."

Searchers finally opened the right book, "Sir Lancelot and Scamp," and out tumbled 17 $5 bills and a single.

PRESSING MATTER

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UP) — Mrs. Doris Sims got a nickel instead of her evening paper. She saw a woman leaving her porch, found the nickel and this note: "Please accept this nickel for your paper. There wasnt' one in the corner stand and I need one badly."

When to BUILD SCHOOLS

When unusually rapid growth of population is accompanied by an accelerated birthrate, accommodations for these new people must be provided. To help meet this need is the new

Marion Harding High School

It is a welcome addition to Marion's school facilities and we congratulate our citizens upon its completion.

Harding High Pupils Publish Quiver, Herald

Journalistic whims of students at Harding High Schools are taken care of by the school's two publications, the Harding Herald and the Quiver. The Herald is the weekly newspaper published by the students, while the Quiver is the yearbook.

All writing for the Herald is done by students in journalism classes. The written material is edited and prepared for publication by the 10 member staff of the newspaper. Co-editors of the paper this year are Beverly Stine and Sarah Meister.

Offices of the Herald are located on the first floor of the new building. Miss Lucille Foreman is the faculty advisor of the paper.

The Quiver offices are located on the second floor of the school. Some of the writing for the book is done by journalism students, but most is prepared by the staff. Like the Herald, the Quiver also has about a 10-member editorial staff.

OLD AGE CURFEW

HARTFORD, Conn. (UP)—Noting that most of last year's traffic deaths involved elderly persons, the state safety commission director, William M. Greene, said: "Elderly persons ought not venture on the street during the dark hours without an escort. Age affects sight and hearing, and especially agility."

Army Wants Dust Where and When

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Army Engineers have developed a new test gadget called a dust generator.

The engineers say that nature, while producing a lot of dust, is not sufficiently cooperative in producing it when and where needed for experiments.

The army puts such items as tractors, engine generators, and prefabricated buildings, as well as methods of packaging, through rigorous tests for penetration by and deterioration from dust.

The Yuma, Ariz., desert, where the tests are conducted by the Climatic Test Team of the Engineer Corps, is well endowed with dust, but it does not occur when and where desired. It springs up only in response to a wind or sand storm or when agitated by the movement of troops or vehicles.

Consequently the test unit devised a giant blower that will stir up any desired amount of dust needed for an experiment. Test conditions require, that the dust factor be maintained as a constant, something the machine does and nature doesn't.

The dust generator itself is a rather simple machine. Its main working part is a 42-inch axial flow fan which blasts into activity 40,000 cubic feet of air (and dust) a minute. Trailer - mounted, the dust gadget can be towed or operated while stationary, depending upon the speed of dust flow desired.

AUTO IMPORTS

END OF A CATNAP. This mouse, unaware that sleeping cats as well as sleeping dogs should lie, ventured too close to its dozing enemy with the above result. It happened in England.

Painter Finds Acrobatic Ability Comes in Handy

YORK, Neb. (UP)—Painter Bill Groves is one fellow who combines the routine of his job with the thrills of acrobatics.

The acrobatic ability seemed to come naturally to Groves the day he was spray-painting a roof and lost his footing.

Groves slid off the roof, did a couple of turnovers in the air, and crashed onto a pile of lumber 25 feet below.

He got up under his own power with only a few scratches. He talked about going right back on the job but his boss told him to rest and come gack the next day.

About 40 to 60 per cent of the cost of producing milk is expended in feed for the cow.

College Plans New Journalism School

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (UP)— The Syracuse University School of Journalism, being ousted from its present home, eventually will have a new one unlike that of any journalism school in the country, according to Dean Wesley C. Clark.

The school, whose well-known Yates Castle is being taken over by the State University Medical College, will be housed temporarily in an old physical education building. But, by 1959, it should have a new building in which seniors and graduate students will not only study journalism but also "eat and sleep" it.

Most distinctive feature of the proposed $750,000 building will be living and dining quarters for the seniors and graduate students.

"I want them to study journalism, live journalism, eat journalism," Clark says. He explains that journalists must have a liberal education and he would not want them "with us" continually for four years.

"But, I do want them particularly for the last semester when their skills must be honed fine."

The building will have 15 double rooms and two faculty or guest apartments.

It also will contain a journalism museum. "There is now no place where memorabilia of New York journalism are collected, though this state has made newspaper history since the time of John Peter Zenger," Clark said.

Another distinctive feature will be a library, with a main reading room seating 150, a reference room and a newspaper and magazine room.

Buying for University Proves To Be Big Task

ITHACA, N.Y. (UP)—Shopping for 75,000 items with a budget of $4,500,000 is the task of the purchasing agent for Cornell University.

Retirment of George S. Frank brought to light his 32 years of work to centralize the job for the entire university and to perfect what he calls "creative purchasing."

Before Frank established his department, each division at Cornell ordered its own supplies in a hand-to-mouth fashion. Now the department buys everything except food, some books and coal.

Frank explained his "creative purchasing" as covering a great deal more than wholesale buying. The purchasing staff designs new products, equips all of Cornell's new buildings, conducts laboratory tests, and maintains a library for up-to-date information.

Frank helped organize the National Association of Educational Buyers and the Educational and Institutional Cooperative Service, Inc.

New Structure Is Fourth High SchoolBuilding

The old Center School, Marion's only school when erected in 1856, was the first high school. This building located on W. Center St. had three stories with six classrooms and all classes from the first grade through high school were taught there.

In 1893, another building was added in front of the center School. It became the Marion High School, and the old building was used as a grade school. The two buildings were connected by a ramp. They later became Central Junior High School. Both buildings were demolished after the State Street Junior High School was constructed. A $2,650,000 shopping center is now being built on this old school land.

The first Harding High was built in 1923 on W. Church St. and was Marion's third high school. Now that the new Harding is completed, this building will become Eber Baker Junior High School.

Prior to the construction of the old Center School, school was taught in the old Marion Academy building at Mill and Prospect Sts. and for several years in the old stone Methodist Episcopal Church. The Marion Academy was the only education institution in operation in Marion for a number of years and subjects of near high school level were taught.

DEPORTATION

VIENNA (INS)—News from Hungary says the Communist government of that satellite has resumed deportations of members of the former middle classes from the big cities. The reports say that, apparently because of the furor last year's merciless deportations caused, the deportees this time are given ten days to "get ready." They are also allowed to take their furniture but must pay high rates for the hauling. Communist party officials are assigned the billets thus vacated.

Bursting Cabbage Traced to Insects

GENEVA, N. Y. (UP)—Experiments at the state agricultural station here show that insects are responsible for most bursting of cabbage heads.

Where insect pests were kept under control, bursting was reduced by almost 50 per cent. Yields were increased substantially with fertilizers in the experiments, but increasing the amount of fertilizer led to an increasing amount of bursting unless insect injury was held in check at the same time.

The station scientists explained the results as probably due to the fact that uninjured leaf areas are not only stronger and therefore more resistant to stresses which cause bursting, but also supply a larger transpiring surface which keeps internal moisture fluctuations at a minimum.

Control of cabbage worms, aphids and thrips with dust, added almost three tons to the acre to the yield where no fertilizer was used, and 5½ tons where 1,800 pounds of a 5-10-10 fertilizer were applied.

Alcohol Victims Jam Institutions in France

PARIS (UP) — Sixty percent of the inmates of French mental hospitals were confined because of alcohol, France was told in a report attempting to prove that the nation drinks too much.

The report by Dr. Marcel Guislain, Socialist Deputy and psychiatrist, showed that the nation spends twice the amount it gets from alcohol taxes on the upkeep of asylums where monthly entries top 500.

The yearly consumption of alcohol by the average Frenchman is 31 liters (equivalent to 62 of 90 proof whiskey). The Italian average is 14.4 liters. Next comes Switzerland with 12.5 Belgium with nine, Sweden and Denmark each with five, and the U. S. with four liters, the report said.

The report, the result of a long study of the causes and effects of alcoholism, will be submitted to the National Assembly for possible action against the rising rate of alcoholism.

The French spend 565,000,000,000 francs a year on drinks ($1,614,205,000). This does not include the estimated yearly consumption of 40,000,000 liters of alcohol which are produced tax-free by wine growers.

Nothing is cheap that is superfluous, for what one does not need, is dear at a penny.—Plutarch

TRADE SENTENCES

VIENNA (INS)—The Czech Justice Minister, Stefan Rais, disclosed at a recent Communist meeting that 839 persons were sentenced last year for alleged "crimes against social trade." Local East Europe experts said this number, which is probably much too low, comprises the independent owners of small stores or shops which were expropriated under that disguise. Their property was turned over to "nationalized" chains.

Man Escapes From Russian Labor Camp

Radio Free Europe Releases Story Full Of Luck, Tenacity

MUNICH, Germany (UP)—Radio Free Europe has released the story of a man who escaped from a Soviet slave labor camp deep inside Russia.

His arrival here was made possible by a combination of luck, courage and tenacity which enabled him to make his way from his place of detention in central Siberia to the Persian border.

Henryk Zaborski, 26, was caught by Soviet frontier guards in 1948 while he was trying to cross the river Bug, the present Polish-Soviet frontier, to enter Soviet territory. At that time he was a member of an anti-Soviet Polish partisan unit.

That was the beginning of his long travels across Russia, which took him from the European part of the U.S.S.R. to the river Yenissey in Siberia and then, through Soviet central Asia, to Teheran.

After his arrest, Zaborski was kept for several months in a MGB (Ministry of State Security) prison in Bresc (Brest-Litovsk) and was then sentenced to three years penal servitude for "illegal crossing of the frontier."

In Labor Camp First

Together with a large group of political prisoners, he was then deported to a labor camp near Potma, 400 kilometers south-east of Moscow. Here he served his sentence together with 35,000 other political prisoners.

After serving his term, Zaborski was moved to a slave labor camp in central Siberia, Krasnoyarsk district, near the river Tassey, a tributary of the Yenissey. There he lived and worked in the most primitive conditions, felling trees with thousands of his fellow prisoners.

From the first moment, the young Pole started planning his escape. The slave labor camps in central and northern Siberia are, like all Soviet camps, guarded by units of the MVD (the Ministry of the Interior special troops). But the chief obstacle to would-be escapees from the camps is the impenetrable Taiga, the swampy and treacherous Siberian forst extending for thousands of miles.

One day Zaborski escaped from his guards while working in the forest near the camp, plunged into the Taiga and made his way through the wilderness to Krasnoyarsk — 300 kilometers away. That was four months after he arrived at the camp.

Travels By Train

He had about 400 roubles and was able to continue his journey south by train, after having bought a ticket on the black market.

Traveling legally and illegally, he covered a distance of 6,000 kilometers by train before he reached the town of Ashkhabad near the Persian frontier. He went through Novosibirsk, Alma-Ata and Tachkent.

Zaborski's most fantastic adventures began after he reached Shkhabad, situated in the Soviet frontier zone, and subject to stringent control regulations. Dozens of times he had to strain his ingenuity to escape arrest in the endless controls, organized by the Russian secret police in all localities, railway stations and trains of the frontier zone.

Finally, he managed to reach a spot near the Persian border from which he was to make his final bid for freedom.

The frontier at that point consisted of a wide strip of freshly plowed earth enclosed in barbed wire. While he was making his way through this no man's land by night, Zaborski walked backwards, so that his footsteps would point in the direction of Soviet territory, and not away from it.

In spite of this, the Soviet frontier guards spotted him and for three days he had to hide in the mountains which form the border between Persia and the Soviet Union.

Secretaries in Middle Of Business Squabble

CHICAGO (UP) Should a secretary sign her initials only or her full name to her boss' letters?

Norm Levally, vice president of the Walker Sheriff and Co. advertising agency, has started the full name policy.

"It's the polite way of doing business," Levally said. "And the practice is working out very well."

Levally said he believed a good secretary was the prime contact with other executives and they should know her name. His secretary, Margaret Brewster, signs her full name, not just MB, in the lower left hand corner of his letters.

George Roubik, executive secretary of the Office Management Association of Chicago, said that if an executive wants to know the name of so-and-so's secretary all he has to do is call and ask. A spokesman for the Moser School, Inc. agreed with Roubik. He said initials were significant, since they were for office information.

"If this is to glorify the secretary," the Moser spokesman said, "there must be other ways to glorify her in her own office, not in the office of one who gets one of the letters she transcribed."

One of the staunchest of the Levally-plan supporters is Clarence B. Carey, director of the Jones Commercial High School. He said the idea might give secretaries more recognition.

"They do yeomen's work and get lost in annonymity," Carey said.

SAFETY FIRST

FLINT, Mich. (UP)—T. M. Carlton, general secretary of the YMCA in London, came all the way to Flint for a new car—but decided not to drive it until he was back in England. He felt he had driven on the left side of the road too long to change the habit. He had the car shipped home via New York.

PORK PARCEL

BOSTON (UP) — Much of the land that now is Logan Airport was acquired by Samuel Maverick in 1633 in exchange for a fat hog each year. The Court of Assistants granted "Nodles Island" to Maverick for "paying yearly to the General Court either a fat wether, a fat hog or 40 shillings in money."

DANBURY, Conn. (UP)—Seven of 49 calves were killed when a truck that was carrying them crashed into a tree. However their brothers didn't fare any better. They ended up in the Danbury slaughter house where the truck was taking them.

Big Australian Gold Strike Is Boom Fodder

'Ghost Town' Is Revived After New Vein Is Discovered

PERTH, Western Australia (UP) —A spectacular strike at a mine 300 air miles northeast of Perth has West Australians hoping for another gold boom.

The hill 50 mine, the only company operating at the once-thriving town of Mt. Magnet, recently announced that gold up to 16 ounces to the ton had been struck when a drill went through the 1140 ft. level, several hundred feet below the mine's present workings.

The "ghost town" of Mt. Magnet woke up with the good news and a number of companies rushed to stake out claims in areas adjacent to Hill 50. Application notices are crowding the notice board at the Mt. Magnet Mines Department office.

All ground within a half-mile radius of Hill 50 has been pegged and claims unworked for years are up for sale.

No Timbering Needed

Base metal prices have slumped heavily the past year and this, together with a more stable general economic situation, makes it a good time for a gold mining revival.

The mine plans to begin to treat its high-grade ore early next year. The manager estimated that it would take at least three months to sink a shaft down 200 ft. from present workings to where the rich strike was made. Tunnelling to reach the ore would take another three months.

One feaure of the mine which makes for easy workings is that the rock in which the ore is found is so hard that no timbering is needed underground.

Meanwhile, until Hill 50 gets into the big money, it is showing good profits on the ore it is at present working. In a recent four week period it treated 7,233 tons of ore for 3,174 oz. of gold worth nearly 50,000 Australian pounds.

Meat Production Seen Four Per Cent Higher

CHICAGO (UP) — The American Meat Institute predicts meat production will reach 23½ billion pounds this year, four percent over last year and seven percent over 1951.

The increase probably will be concentrated in beef and veal, the AMI said, which will more than offset an expected five percent drop in pork production. The supply of meat per person may reach 145 pounds.

Officers Named By Each Class At New School

One of the jobs students at the new Harding High School will have when they return to classes this fall is that of electing officers. The officers will represent the students in all the activities of the school.

Each of the three classes has four officers: president, vice president, secretary, and treasurer. The same lineup is followed in each home room.

The senior class usually has one or two meetings every six weeks; while the sophmores and juniors generally only have two meetings each school year.

In addition to the class and home room officers, there is a student council consisting of 18 members. Three boys and three girls are elected by each class each year. Their job is to run the school as far as students are concerned.

The council elects its own officers. The president of this organization usually presides at any convocations and assemblies of the entire school during the year.

The council also meets with the principal of the school, Cecil Gabler, and irons out any problems or difficulties which may arise in the course of the year.

In addition, the council's approval is usually sought by school authorities for any special money raising campaigns which may be thought desirable during the course of the year.

There is also a special Red Cross Council which is composed of the vice president of each home room. This committee has charge of conducting the special Red Cross drives which are held each year.

BROWNS' NEMESIS

NEW YORK (AP)—Charley Conerly, quarterback for the New York football Giants, has proved a nemesis to the Cleveland Browns. While he was in the quarterback slot for the Giants he helped defeat the Clevelanders four times. Last Dec. 14 he completed four touchdown passes against the Brown in a 37-34 win.

Jersey Woman Takes Dive on Plunging Horse

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (UP)—An accomplished horsewoman who polished up on her swimming, and a diving expert who learned to ride a horse are giving exciting performances here daily in the famous high diving horse show on the ocean end of Steel Pier.

Miss Olive Belnau, 19, an expert horseback rider since her childhood in Oradell, N. J., and Miss Marion Hackney, 19, swimming and diving star here for the past several years, taught their talents to each other after being selected for the act by Lorena Carver, veteran diving horse trainer.

Twice a day, each girl rides one of three horses bareback while the steed plunges from a tower into a 12-foot deep tank of fresh water. When the horse hits the water, the girl quickly swim away while the horse ambles up a runway out of the pool. There, the steed poses for a rubdown by Miss Carver.

The act was a feature attraction at Steel Pier from 1878 to 1946, when it was retired temporarily. Miss Carver, who discovered only three good performers out of 87 horses trained in Texas, revived the act this summer.

The best performing horse is named Dimah. He makes the 45-foot dive, while the other horses perform from 25 feet. Miss Carver claims it costs $10,000 to train a horse for the 45-foot plunge.

The bathing-suit clad riders were hired for $100 a week after Miss Carver advertised for applicants throughout the East. Miss Gelnau and Miss Hackney learned their work after only two practice dives, according to their boss. Miss Hackney, incidentally, knows all about the work—she suffered 28 fractures during her career as a high-diving jockey.

Singer Wants Special Day To Honor In-Laws

NEW YORK, (INS) Louis Mannard proposes an In-Law Day. Mannard, a young tenor, admits that much of what he hopes to be in the future he owes to his in-laws.

When he was discharged from the Army, he decided to study singing. He got himself a job as an advertising man, for which he had been trained, to finance the lessons. His take-home pay paid for singing and acting lessons, but left little over for such incidentals as supporting a wife.

That's where the in-laws came in. They said if he wanted to study singing he could depend on them to make up the differenc between his salary and the sizable sum he had to pay out for his studies. What's more, there were no strings attached. They made no stipulations as to how the money should be spent.

With such confidence expressed in him, he went to work on his operatic scores and got an offer to do several roles in Italy. He was so successful, he was invited back for next season.

Mannard is back in this country, singing on radio and television, and the summer outdoor opera and operetta season. To anyone who asks, he is the first one to state that all the cartoons depicting the wife's relatives as ogres are all wrong. His, he says, have been "real folks" and that's why he is in favor of In-Law Day.

Marion Board Of Education Headed by Cox

Five Marion business and professional men make up the Marion Board of Education.

Rodney Cox, 406 S. Prospect St., is the president. He has served on the board one term of four years which ends this December. He is the manager of the Marion Manufacturing Co.

Frank Robinson, 538 S. Prospect St., has served on the board longer than any other present member. Robinson has served 16 years with his present term expiring this December. He is freight agent for the New York Central Railroad.

Dr. D. W. Brickley Jr., 377 Mt. Vernon Ave, a past president of the board, is a member of 10 years' service. Dr. Brickley, a Marion physician, has served two years of his present term.

E. Paul Bachman, 607 King Ave., has served two years of his present term. Mr. Bachman, vice president of the National City Bank, is a six-year member of the board.

Charles Harmon, 450 Elmwood Drive, has served two years of his first term as a member of the board. He is a Marion attorney.

Headlights of Autos Aid Plane in Landing

SALIDA, Colo. (INS)—Volunteer motorists harked back to the early days of aviation recently at Salida, Colo., when [illegible]ed a light plane pilot to a safe landing.

Warren Spann of Gunnison ran into a storm while flying his two sons in a four-place Ryan Navion near Salida. Mrs. Virnon James, the wife of a Civil Air Patrol pilot, heard the low-flying plane over Salida and awakened her husband to call authorities.

Birthmarks Fade Away Under Tatooing Needle

CHICAGO (UP) — Tatooing has been used effectively to camouflage ugly dark purple birthmarks, says a New York plastic surgeon.

Dr. Herbert Conway of the New York Hospital-Cornell Medical Center described the technique in the Journal of the American Medical Association.

A thick solution of natural skin color pigment is injected into the stained skin with an oscillating needle. Conway said an area of from four to five square inches may be treated in one hour by a skilled technician.

He said he achieved an 83 per cent rate of satisfactory results in cases where dilated blood vessels which caused the birthmarks were beneath the inner skin or in the deeper part of the inner skin itself.

He said the technique does not work if the abnormal blood vessels are immediately beneath the outer layer of skin.

Cows Furnish Heating For Home of Farmer

MINNEAPOLIS (INS)—A Swedish farmer has come up with a new, if not practical, way to beat the high cost of home heating. He uses cows!

The Stockholm office of the Minneapolis-Honeywel. Regulator Co. said the farmer used air from his barn that is warmed by body heat from cows and other animals, to heat his house.

The warm air is pumped from the barn into heating coils inside the house, then outside again. The heating coil warms the house, and the barn air does not mix with the residence air.

Engineers admit the system is workable, but they don't recommend it. It would take 23 cows to heat the average house.

OUR CONGRATULATIONS!

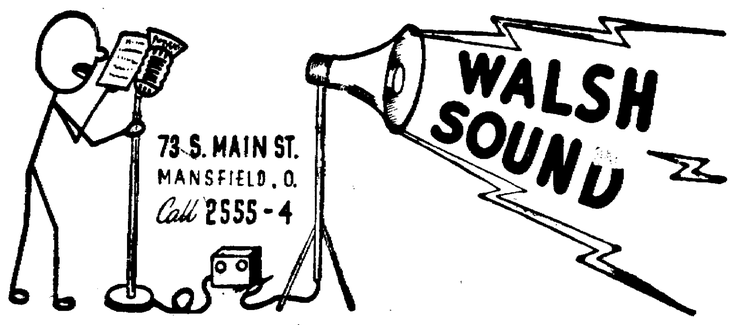
To the citizens of Marion — and to the faculty and students of Marion Harding High School . . . You can well be proud of your fine new building. In our experience, there are none finer.

We are privileged to have installed the DuKane central sound and intercommunicating equipment in the Marion Harding building.

We invite you, when you visit the new school, to inspect this latest and most efficient sound system. Its smooth clarity of tone and abundance of power mark it as the best available, yet its modest price enabled us to offer the lowest bid.

An efficient "Nerve System" of electronic communication can perform as great a service for your own school, factory or business as this installation will for Marion Harding High.

Please let us serve you, too, soon.



COMMUNICATIONS IS THE YARDSTICK OF PROGRESS

Bonn Government Successful

German Assembly Leads In Battle for Democracy

By WELLINGTON LONG
United Press Staff Correspondent

BONN, Germany (UP) — The West German parliament, first freely-elected federal legislative body in this country since 1932, has just completed its first four-year session, offering a good point at which to discuss whether Germany has found democracy.

The answer, most experts, both foreign and German, agree, is a resounding yes.

The machinery of a democracy has been established, with all its checks and balances, and it works without too much squeaking.

Since the first West German parliament was seated in September, 1949, the lower house (Bundestag) and upper house (Bundesrat) have approved almost 450 laws. Compared to the number of laws adopted by other national parliaments in a similar period, this may not appear to have involved a great amount of work.

But in West Germany, almost all laws which regulate public life had to be rewritten, because those of the Weimar Republic and of the Kaiserreich before that had been badly distorted by the Nazi regime. Even the criminal code had to be revised.

Bundestag and Dundesrat meetings have been almost completely free from the scuffling and fighting that characterizes, for instance, the Italian parliament, although a group of Socialist deputies did two years ago badly maul a neo-Nazi anti-Semite just outside the parliamentary chamber.

Can't Throw Inkwells

Angry deputies do occasionally rap the tops of their desks to drown out an opposition speaker, but when the chamber was built, someone wisely bolted all desks and chairs to the floor and imbedded the inkwells deep in the desk tops so that deputies couldn't throw them.

The court system has been reestablished, and seems to work pretty well, although the Constitutional Court in Karlsruhe is alleged to be not entirely free of political pressure. That court, for instance, has refused to decide whether rearmament is constitutional, pending the outcome of the Sept. 6 federal parliament elections, when rearmament will be one of the chief issues.

Despite rumors to the contrary, no official discovery of vast corruption or graft has yet been made, although a half dozen deputies have been caught padding expense accounts.

The most noted case developed right after this parliament was seated in 1949, when a weekly news magazine alleged that a group of Bavarian deputies had taken money in return for voting to place the capital in Bonn. The investigation of the charges dragged on for months, but no one was ever tried or expelled from parliament, for evidence was lacking.

Liaison Lacking

The press and radio are free, although the government has twice ordered the confiscation of newsstand copies of publications carrying what were officially considered to be libelous articles about Chancellor Konrad Adenauer. Copies sent through the post office, however, were not disturbed.

The most serious failure of the new West German democracy would appear to be that there are almost no links between the parliament and the people.

It is difficult to determine where the fault lies. Forty percent of the 401 deputies of the first parliament were elected under the proportional representation system, so have no constituencies to report to.

Many Socialist opposition deputies' sole income comes from parliament and the party; so it becomes a bread-and-butter matter for them to vote as the party chieftains tell them, not as they believe their constituents would wish them to.

To oppose the party line would mean these deputies would not receive official party support in the coming election, and independent candidates in Germany are notoriously unsuccessful—the present parliament had but one.

Interest Flags

The same goes for the 40 per cent elected under the proportional representation system, because seats in the new parliament depend entirely on the whims of the party leaders.

On the other hand, the West German people are extremely apathetic to politics. Deputies representing rural constituencies say their voters are interested only in the price of their produce. Even German re-unification doesn't interest these farmers, unless they happen to own some land in Soviet-occupied East Germany.

For two years, the government and the opposition have fought bitterly about whether to rearm within the European Defense Community. Yet a recent survey by a public opinion group showed that 75 per cent of the West Germans did not know the meaning of the initials "EVG" which stand for the German equivalent of "European Defense Community."

Fifty seven per cent did not know the meaning of the initials "UN."

Aussie Flora in Poor Shape, Botanist Finds

MELBORNE, Australia (UP)—A British botanist, giving Australia's native flora the once-over, found enough in nine months to produce a few shocks.

Dr. Ronald Melville, in charge of the Australian section at Kew Gardens, London, will spend 12 months in all on the project. Here is what he claims to have found already:

1. Many native plants are entirely extinct and little is left of the rest.

2. The big timber has disappeared for good.

3. In 100 years Australians have destroyed the natural appearance of the country.

4. Fire, rabbits and humans beings are the worst enemies of Australia's native plants.

Melville criticized government inaction over soil erosion. He pointed out that erosion noted in an official survey in 1946 had proceeded unchecked since then. This makes water flow down the mounntainsides in small rivers instead of leaking through gradually, the botanist added.

Dr. Melville "roughed it" in the outback regions of Western Australia, South Australia, Queensland, Tasmania and Victoria. He travelled mostly in a truck and carried a tent, two cameras (one for color), record notebooks and collecting presses.

Harding Only New High School in State

Marion's new Harding High School is the only completely new school building to be completed in Ohio in recent years. Another city, Lima, now has one under construction but not yet completed.

Most of the school districts in the state have either remodeled older buildings or have built additions to already existing schools in an effort to modernize and improve their systems.

CONCORD, N. H. (UP) — The sun's first rays for the Americas in the morning hit Mt. Washington's 6,288-foot crest, state officials maintain. Neighboring Maine believes the sun first strikes Mt. Katahdin but Mt. Washington is taller by several hundred feet.

Executives Spurn Raise In Favor of Pensions

CHICAGO (UP) — A smart executive will turn down a raise if he can get a pension instead, according to the Commerce Clearing House.

For a man in the upper tax bracket, a plan to provide income after retirement provides much more take-home pay because of the low tax rate on pension money, the CCH said.

The Clearing House, national reporting authority on tax and business law, gave this example:

If a $50,000 executive gets a $10,000 raise, assuming he files a joint tax return, two-thirds of the increase will be paid out in income taxes. If the $10,000 could be deferred and paid to him in a year in which he has no other income, the tax would be only $1,822 at present rates.

Kin of Composer Wants Office Job

CANBERRA, Australia (UP) — Operating a 4,248-character Chinese typewriter is just part of the day's work for Svetlana Rimsky-Korsakoff.

The bulky machine was specially imported from Hongkong. The typefaces are all upside down on a flat surface and the carriage is moved around to the required character each time.

Svetlana, 21, is a research assistant at the Australian National University, which is growing up in the national capital. The composer of "Scheherazade" was the brother of her father's father. Which makes Svetlana a great - niece.

Miss Rimsky-Korsakoff—"spelt with a 'v' or "ff' makes no difference," she said—came to Australia from Peking in 1952. She was born in Peking, where her father was a professor of ancient history at Tsinghwa University.

Instead of going to foreign schools like other European children, Svetlana got her education in Chinese. She went through primary school, college and then graduated from Peking University, where she majored in languages and literature. All in Chinese.

A quiet, soft-spoken girl, Svetlana has adopted many Chinese mannerisms. She speaks English with a faint Chinese accent, and loves to break into Chinese idiom —if she knows you understand Mandarin.

Miss Rimsky-Korsakoff came to Australia at the invitation of C. P. Fitzgerald, one of the world's leading experts on Chinese history and politics. Fitzgerald first heard of her during his 1946-50 stay in Peking. Much of his recently published "Revolution in China" is based on what he saw during that time. Fitzgerald now heads the department of Eastern history at the National University.

Miss Rimsky-Korsakoff's main job is copying and translating articles from current Chinese magazines and other publications. She also finds time to give private Chinese lessons.

She likes to play mahjongg, cook Chinese food, or read Chinese poetry. What about music —"I used to play the piano, but everybody expected me to be brilliant, because of my great-uncle, so I dropped it," she said.

GET YOUR COAL EARLY

LEXINGTON, Ky. (UP)—A thief evidently used a truck but was awfully quiet when he visited the home of Mrs. Anna Offield. Four tons of coal, valued at $50; 100 cans of food, valued at $35 and two pillow cases, valued at $2, were taken.

HE CERTAINLY SHOULD

DETROIT, Mich. (UP) — Earl Moore, 46, was fined $75 by Traffic Judge John D. Watts recently for ignoring four arrest warrants and 15 unpaid parking tickets. "You should know better," Judge Watts admonished. Moore has been a policeman for 25 years.

HONEY IF AN EXCUSE

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (UP)—Baseball games have been called on account of darkness or because of inclement weather, but the umpire at a recent game at St Davids public school here came up with "games called on account of bees." When the school's second baseman raced to scoop up a ball, he gathered up a partlly constructed beehive instead.

Better Training Asked On Local Police Level

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (UP)—Better police training is urged as the most effective method of curbing an upward trend in juvenile crime.

Hugh C. Clegg, assistant director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, told the New York State Association of Police Chiefs that police department standards should be raised, particularly on the local level.

"We do not believe in a national police force," he said. "What is needed is higher standards on the local and state level so the public will have confidence in their ability to handle the situation."

Law enforcement should be "more than 95 per cent" a local job, he added.

Clegg said the FBI doesn't "claim to know it all" and has no intention of "high pressuring" police chiefs to use its training facilities. However, he pointed out, the facilities "are available."

STILL WANTED

BOSTON (UP) — Only two men out of the 34 who escaped from Massachusetts State Prison during the past 35 years are still free. Those listed as still at large are Arthur S. Mosher, who escaped in 1924, and Elzear T. Dugas, who escaped in 1928.

STRAY DOG HAVEN

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UP)—Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Hannah operate their private "mercy home" on Double Oak Mountain near here for stray dogs. They have in a fenced area 15 dogs they found running loose and faced by starvation.

GOING TOO FAR

NEW BRITAIN, Conn. (UP)—John Snyder had some unexpected guests for dinner and was cooking a steak in the back of his grocery. Someone saw smoke pouring out of the place and turned in an alarm. Three fire companies arrived only to find that Snyder likes his steaks well done.

Shop Students Work on Auto Engine

IT'S HARD TO TELL WHETHER too many mechanics will spoil the motor, but Russell Beachum, Jack Kellogg, George Kidd, Edward Beers, Loren Cunningham and Mike Geer seem to be enjoying the job of pulling apart an engine in the automotive shop. This is one of three shops in the new Harding High School designed to train boys in mechanical trades.

U.S. Opened Up World Trade To Japanese

Commodore Perry 100 Years Ago Made Historic Pacific Call

WASHINGTON (UP) — Just 100 years ago this summer Commodore Matthew C. Perry led four United States Navy ships into a Japanese harbor. Centuries of Nipponese isolation were ended.

Perry's expedition started a period of dazzling progress in the island kingdom.

Bands played, thousands cheered that day—July 14, 1853. Perry went ashore at Kurihama, 30 miles south of Tokyo. According to the National Geographic Magazine, the commodore was sweating under the weight of a full-dress uniform on a blistering day.

Perry met a representative of the Emperor and handed him a rosewood and gold box. The box held a letter from President Millard Fillmore. The letter asked "friendship, commerce, a supply of coal and provisions, and protection for our shipwrecked people."

The simple Japanese folk were frightened by the black smoke from the paddle-wheelers. Suddenly a whistle blew and the entire crew of one Japanese guard boat jumped over the side.

All in all, the operation was considered a success. Nobody got hurt much and the wet crew dried off.

In February, 1854, Perry returned with a larger fleet and more gifts for the Emperor. One of the presents was a telegraph instrument. Another was a miniature railroad, some firearms, and books.

A treaty was signed at Yokohama on March 31. This called for Japan to open the ports of Shimoda, 80 miles southwest of Tokyo, and Hakodate, on the northern island of Hokkaido, to U. S. ships.

An American consul was allowed, and limited trade was permitted. Within 50 years Japan amazed the rest of the world by becoming a modern state. A railway network was developed, banks were started and industries boomed.

Japan has not forgotten Commodore Perry. In 1953-54 at Kurihama, Hakodate, Tokyo, and Yokohama ceremonies of remembrance and gratitude will be held.

Women Have Edge In Banking Field

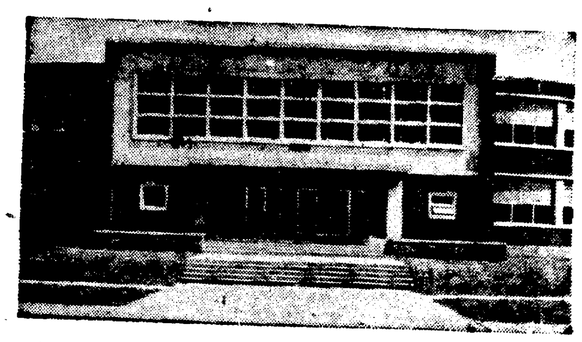
CLEVELAND, O. (UP) — Male domination of banking seems to be a thing of the past.

When the American Institute of Banking held its 51st annual convention here, it was revealed that about 60 per cent of the nation's 400,000 bank employees are of the fair sex. They occupy every job from messengers to vice presidents.

AIB officials reported that the women do well. In fact, they are often accused of over-cautiousness in money matters, which shouldn't surprise husbands.

Our Congratulations

to all who had a part in the inception and completion of the new



HARDING HIGH SCHOOL

It's a brilliant New Chapter in "Marion's Book of Time"

Ex-Athlete Wrestles Figures As School Business Manager

A former high school and college athlete is in charge of the business affairs of the city school system. E. Paul Huffman, 50, played football and basketball, and was a dash man on the track teams at Bradner High School and Heidelberg College.

Huffman was born in Bradner, O., After high school, he went to Heidelberg where he received the degree of bachelor of science. Since then, he has done graduate work at the University of Wisconsin and Ohio State University.

He joined the city schools in 1926. Before that, he was football coach at Carey High School and principal at Pleasant School. Until his appointment as business manager of the Marion School Board, he was active as a referee in athletic contests played in the area.

Huffman is married and lives at 637 Girard Ave.

His duties have increased since he first took over the position of business manager in 1950. At that time, he was responsible for $1,000,000 worth of business activities a year.

With the rise in prices and new building programs, he now estimates he handles $1,350,000 each year. Last year, though, with the building of the new Harding High School, he was the man in charge of handing out over $4,500,000.

Speaking of his athletic days, Huffman said he was an end on the high school football team, then switched to quarterback in college. That was in the days of the single wing when the quarterback was more commonly known as the blocking back.

On the basketball teams, he was a guard, called a running guard in those days.

In 1926, he joined the faculty at Harding High School. While there, he taught mathematics and was faculty manager of athletics. He also gave advice to those students who were planning college careers.

Huffman's organizational activities include membership in the Kiwanis Club and in the School Business Officials Association of the United States and Canada and the Ohio branch of that organization.

THE INNOCENT BYSTANDER

BLOOMINGTON, Ill. (UP)—Jimmy Lohnes, 4, was just standing there watching and wasn't even mad at the raccoon, but the raccoon got mad at Jimmy. It slipped away from older boys, who were chasing it with a bushel basket, and bit a chunk out of Jimmy's ankle. The animal was beaten off with a baseball bat. Jimmy needed four stitches.

Progress Is "Contagious"

Each forward movement inspires others

Standing still is equal to a backward step as others around us do not wait. Building creates investments and jobs not only directly, but, indirectly among material suppliers who can in turn make more by employing more people, who, in turn, require greater living facilities.

This year registers the "high-water mark"

Completed—New Marion Harding High School almost completed—New YMCA under construction— New City-County Hospital — New industry, Eaton Manufacturing Co. started —$3,000,000 Shopping Center built and building—Innumerable new homes.

Our Sincere Congratulations to:

Marion students, teachers, board of education and citizens upon the completion of this magnificent new Marion Harding High School. May we urge everyone to visit it during the Open House.

We believe it will not be amiss again to invite everyone to visit our new home. Like in the old Harding High School, we had outgrown the building used so long, and to meet our present pressing and future growing needs for space and facilities for better serving our members—these new quarters were provided.

Everyone is invited to join this association as a place for profitable, insured savings and home financing.

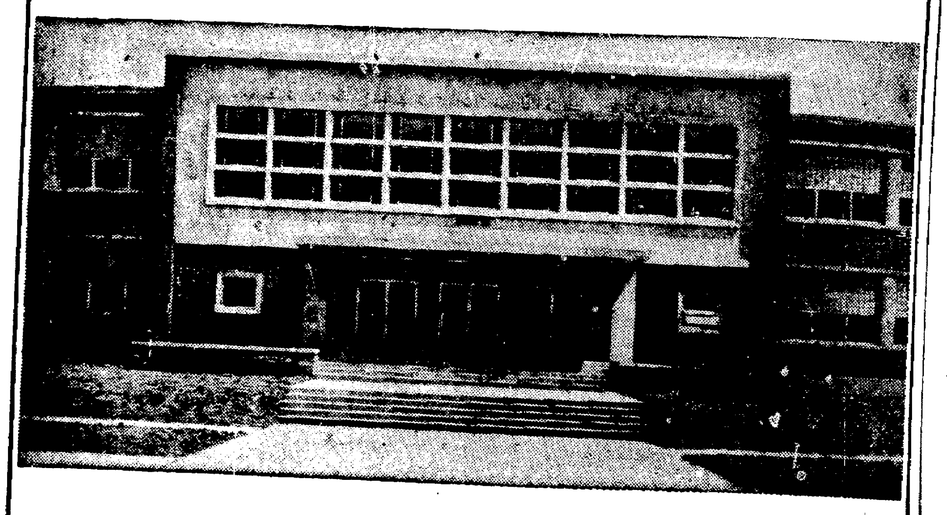
is happy to add their congratulations to the citizenry of Marion on the completion of the New



HARDING HIGH SCHOOL

The future of America depends upon an intelligent educated citizenry, trained to leadership . . . upon individuals who know what their country stands for . . . who care enough to work for our ideals of freedom, equality and opportunity. That citizenry gets its start early—right in America's schools.
